Calvary Presbyterian Church

At a congregational meeting held in the church on Tuesday evening, the members of Calvary Presbyterian decided to hold services only on Sunday evenings, for a time at least. Next Sunday the Sunday school will be held at 10 o'clock and at 8 p. m. Dr. Dunsmore will preach.

It is hoped that every member will make an effort to be present at this evening service, and a general invitation is extended to the general public.

Milk As An Energy Maker

Because Portland and Seattle shipbuilders make a scramble for the milk bottles when the noon whistle blows they are becoming famous and to the fact that they drink milk is attributed their ability to do better work than any other shipbuilders.

Now comes San Francisco showing she, too, has taken up the habit. The Pacific Dairy Review says "one distributer alone supplies 1,500 quarts daily to men in the Union Iron Works," although, the review adds, "in San Francisco, the milk-drinking habit is still in its infancy." Here's another argument for keeping up the dairy herds. The milk bottle is backing the beer can off the map. Time was when the men of the iron works would have "rushed the can" as they termed getting their beer.

New Bridge For the Luckiamute

(Polk County Observer.)

The county court has received plans and specifications from the State Highway Commission for a suspension bridge across the Luckiamute at the Montgomery school house and it is probable that the structure will be erected in the very near future. Under present conditions a goodly number of children residing across the river from the school house are obliged to go fully a half mile up the stream to get over it, and then practically retrace their steps, making the distance to school one mile farther than it should be. The erection of the bridge in question would eliminate this additional walk, and would, therefore, be a great convenience.

HISTORY OF THE WAR TOLD IN GREAT MOVING PICTURE

offering, which will be shown at the Isis theater on Thursday night, Oct. 24 is the first authentic history in pictures of the struggle which began in Europe in 1914, when a mad monarch gave expression to his lust for world domination by declaring war virtually against all of the universe outside of Germany and Austria.

Mr. Cohn has arranged a feature which has been heralded as an educational vehicle of inestimable value to school teachers and others upon whom devolves the responsibility of instructing the youth of America as to the extent and scope of the undertaking with which the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and their allies are confronted.

The interesting sequence of the hundreds of scenes have made "Crashing Through to Berlin" a desired aid to text-books and newspaper reports of the struggle. The picture starts with the funeral of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, who was slain in 1914, and over whom Austria, at the instigation of Germany, raised an issue which involved all of Europe.

Then follows the Russian mobilization, the resistance of the Belgians when the Germans tried to violate their territorial integrity, then the springing of France to arms. The action continues as England, Italy and other Allies enter the conflict down to theentry of the United States and actual participation of American troops.

Views of the German army, the Kaiser himself, the great Krupp gun works at Essen, the battles of the Marne and Verdun, the sinking of the Lusitania and of hundreds of other thrilling events and incidents are shown.

The review has been called the most comprehensive and interesting history of the war yet compiled.
