CLUBS AND SOCIETY

The Club voted to send $10 to the Scholarship Loan Fund. Mrs. K. C. Eldridge was appointed chairman of the local loan fund committee. The Club now has over 50 paid up members, which is the largest membership since its organization. $5 was also allowed for Federation dues. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the committee for the pleasant afternoon.

The next business meeting will be held Wednesday, April 23. The next social meeting will be the second Wednesday in May, the 14th. The committee in charge of the next social meeting includes Mrs. H. Mattison, Mrs. G. G. Walker, Mrs. C. W. Irvine, Mrs. Huckenstein and Mrs. B. F. Swope.

Easter Music at Methodist Church

The Methodist choir is working diligently on a program of Easter music which will be rendered Easter Eve. The very best voices in town will aid in the meritorious program and a soloist from Monmouth will join the local musicians. Stringed instruments, too, will add interest to the occasion.

The Methodist Silver Tea

When one goes to a silver tea and cooked food sale at the Methodist church they are always sure of something good to eat while there and something good to eat to take home. Last Thursday afternoon the entertainment committee which numbered Mrs. A. D. Davidson, Mrs. E. E. Roberts, Mrs. Addison, Mrs. Heffley, Mrs. Peter Kurre and Mrs. Grant with "Auntie Ingram" as general spokesman outdid themselves in every way. The chicken sandwiches they served were so full of chicken they most made a meal, the cakes had honest-to-goodness frosting on them and those pies, well, they were the real deep crisp-crust kind with the tastable meringue of old to make you wish you had bought two instead of one. O, Fudge! I nearly forgot that and walnut taffy, too, just like they make at the Spa and all the governors' and senators' wives eat. The decorations were of wild smilax, daffodils, cherry blossoms and were used in every available place.

The Kill Kare's Final Session

The final session of the Kill Kares for the season was a merry one and was enjoyed at the home of its president, Mrs. Sherman Hays, last Friday night. Mr. Hays was home from Hoskins to extend hospitality to the guests. A note of cheerfulness was added to the rooms with flowers and potted plants. Twenty four hands of whist were played and the hostess served one of her excellent luncheons. The secretary, Mrs. Carbray, read the minutes and disclosed the secret of who's who in furnishing a picnic this summer. To the victor belongs the spoils and it is the custom of the club for the defeated to provide a picnic for the winners. We have been asked not to mention names at this time.

Burtons Entertain the Needlecraft

The Needlecraft met with Mrs. J. H. Burton and Miss Florence Burton Thursday afternoon. The last stitches are being placed in the wares they will offer at their Easter bazaar April 19. A cooked food sale will also be held.

In last week's Post thru a mistake of the compositor's, Mrs. W. H. Walker's name was used instead of Mrs. Claude Skippers as being hostess to the Needlecraft.

Eastern Star Has Pleasure Period

Following the regular Star meeting Tuesday evening, Five Hundred furnished amusement. Mrs. A. L. Thomas won the ladies prize, a useful mixing bowl. M. H. Pengra was given gentleman's favor, a hammer Mrs. J. W. Richardson and Mr. Pengra furnished vocal music. A luncheon also added to the pleasure.

CITY AND COUNTRY

You can get it at Craven & Huff's.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Loyd V. Bell in Salem on April 10.

Miss Vale Hiltibrand was here from Corvallis for the week end.

Independence may be left off the highway but Tripp sells real estate.

Jack Frost in several recent nights has come dangerously near nipping the fruit.

The Boswich family has moved to Mrs. Martha Richardson's house on Monmouth street.

Oregon's quota for the Victory Loan is $26, 747,550 and Polk county's share is $194,850.

Miss Helen Butler returned to Hillsboro where she is employed in the telephone exchange.

Buy your stationery once or twice at the Williams Drug Co. and you will always buy it there.

You'll not be forgetting to complete your Easter costume with one of Bascue's becoming bonnets will you?

The transport Virginia with Walter and Glen Smith on board as nurses, is expected to arrive in New York City April 20.

Ray Russell, a former Independence boy who went to France in the fighting ranks about a year ago, is visiting at the McKinney home.

Helen Kreidler, who has made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Kirkland, for two years, has gone to her parents in Chicago.

Gid Newton and family wish to extend their thanks to the friends and neighbors for their kindness and the beautiful flowers at the funeral of their little daughter.

The Odd Fellows will celebrate their 100th anniversary on Thursday night, April 24. Thru a typographical error, the date is given as Saturday April 26 elsewhere in this Post.

Miss Ora Fenton, who enlisted as a student nurse and was assigned for training at a Medford hospital, is home on a vacation. She is delighted with her work and will return in about four weeks to complete her prescribed work.

"Your welcome sound, sweet bells, I hear; the ringing of the Easter bells upon the air your music swells in happy tones resounding clear. Awake, awake, dear early flowers, burst forth in fragrance and in bloom, fled is the winter and the gloom, distil your fragrance in the bowers."

"Shoulder Arms" the second Charlie Chaplin million-dollar picture, to be shown at the Isis on Thursday and Friday nights, April 17 and 18, picturizes his experiences and difficulties as an average American doughboy, from the time he enters the "rookie" squad until, as a finished product of military training, he invades Humland and captures the Imperial German Staff with a method typically Yankee for novelty and surprise. His feet get him into countless troubles under the unsympathetic eye of his drill sergeant, and even after his advent into the front line trenches he finds new complexities in the management of a rifle and bayonet. Following numerous experiences in his dugout he volunteers for a special spying mission. Camouflaged as a tree, he invades enemy territory. A Hun wood-chopping party attempts to add him, disguised as a tree stump, to its collection, with disastrous results. Charlie is finally captured in a shell-torn French house. He makes his escape by turning the tables on the Germans, and, accompanied by the French girl who befriends him, he seeks refuge in what proves to be the headquarters of the General Staff. The Kaiser, Crown Prince and von Hindenburg surprise him in an attack on a German officer, but Charlie saves the day for himself and the girl by wearing the uniform of his unconscious victim. He rescues his drill sergeant, also captured by the Huns, and together they conspire to escape. Their plan brings complete confusion to headquarters, and shakes the German army to its foundation. The irritation of cooties is guarded against by the addition of a big nutmeg grater. This creates all manner of havoc when he hangs it on a convenient post in his dugout. Stories of the rat pest suggest a mouse trap as a protective measure, but serves only to get his fingers into endless difficulties when he attempts to salute while it is fastened to his kit. A bath tub and soap tray are included in his toilet accessories, but the use to which they are put, once Charlie is blown into the front line trench, is entirely different than the purpose for which they were manufactured. A phonograph invites relief from possible monotony. But Charlie learns that there is only one monotony in war, and that is the constant din of bursting shells. And his phonograph is not constituted to compete in volume of tone with the thunder of gunfire. A terrific rain floods the dugout, and he discovers a practical use for the phonograph horn in saving him from drowning when he is obliged to sleep with his head below water. An egg beater, coffee pot, jug and a multitude of special pieces of equipment for his gun, bayonet and tent roll all find a place in his efforts to make trench life comfortable for himself to the misery of his bunkies.
