Mrs. Richardson Moves To Portland: Independence lost a landmark when Mrs. Myrtle Richardson and her son, Gerald, departed for Portland where she will reside in the future. A resident of Independence nearly all her life, she was very loath to leave, but is very much reconciled to moving as she is going but a short distance and can return and visit as often as she pleases. A faithful worker in musical and lodge circles, her absence will be continually regretted. Independence friends wish her much good luck in the city and are pleased that she will come back to Independence very frequently and see them. Her Portland address is 713 Sandy Boulevard.

Odd Fellows To Celebrate One Hundredth Birthday: The committees from the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs who have charge of the I. O. O. F. centennial celebration which will take place Saturday evening, April 26, are working diligently for the success of the event. The I. O. O. F. was started a century ago in Baltimore by fire men, who were members of the Manchester Unity Odd Fellows of England, and has grown to a membership of 2,230,000 members in the United States and other sections of the world, with 35,000 local lodges. The local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are proud of their Order and auxiliary and will give unstinted support to the committees to crown this great celebration with success.

Lieutenant Campbell Makes Address at Salem: The Salem Capital Journal has the following to say about Mrs. Campbell's talk at the public library last Friday evening: "Although the work of the Red Cross nurse is familiar to everybody, the audience who listened to the personal experiences of Mrs. Mildred Campbell at the public library last night received a closer impression of its place in winning the world war. Lieut. Campbell, as she is known, is the wife of Major T. C. Campbell of the medical service of the British army, and spent two years in hospital work in England, where she had opportunity to witness the entire operation of receiving wounded and maimed soldiers and restoring them not only to health but to usefulness. She gave a most interesting account of the methods by which the seemingly impossible is accomplished in the line of surgery. Her talk also revealed the heroic element in the work of stretcher bearers, attendants and nurses, as well as surgeons, who were frequently called upon to risk life and to drive themselves to the point of physical collapse. She also explained something of the marvelous system whereby the injured were hurried from the field to the hospital, given treatment and sent back to the fight almost in the space of a single day."

Odd Fellows Hold Big Meet at Monmouth: Monmouth Odd Fellows exemplified the first link in their celebrated chain of virtues Monday night by inviting in Valley Lodge of Independence to spend the evening with them. The third degree was put on with E. M. Ebbert, J. C. Andrus and Myrie Mulkey as the recipients of the honors. The Monmouth team has been practicing up a bit and had extemporized an orchestra with J. S. Prime at the piano, Wm. Bressler handling the fiddle bow and E. L. Kilen the drums. Under this stimulating impulse the work progressed with the precision of a well oiled machine. During the inevitable oratory hour, H. Hirschberg, one of the visitors, called attention to the fact that Orville Butler, a member of Normal Lodge who was present and himself, were the only two surviving charter members of Valley Lodge which was organized in 1873. Mr. Hirschberg had joined the fraternity in New York the same year that he came West and took up his trade as a tinner in Independence in time to help organize the Independence lodge. B. F. Swope, another visitor, orated along patriotic lines and Ira Powell recalled incidents in the history of Odd Fellowship in Monmouth where their Independence brethren had served them with the fraternal spirit. H. K. Sickafoose, dispenser of refreshments, outdid himself in that regard and at the close of lodge, those in attendance were regaled with ham sandwiches, cake, cookies, ice cream, cheese and pickles, washed down with ample draughts of H. K.'s celebrated coffee. There were about sixty five present at the meeting, twenty five of them from Independence.—Herald.

Something We Haven't Got

Sometimes you call for something we haven't got or something we don't happen to have in stock at that time. This causes you some inconvenience and because it does, we phone and telegraph to hurry the order in so you will get it with as little delay as possible. In most cases, we wipe out our profit in toll bills but just the same we are always much pleased to take the order and be of service to you. Just as soon as a special order leaves our store, we begin to worry the wholesale house until its gets here. We leave nothing undone to hurry it along.

WE BELIEVE IN ACCOMODATION AND SERVICE AND IT IS OUR PURPOSE TO GIVE THE HIGHEST CLASS OF BOTH AT EVERY OPPORTUNITY.
