The German spy menace in this country is ably exposed in "The Hun Within" the attraction for Sunday night. It is in no sense inferior to the other attractions of the week.

Hard and graduated at the head of her class. Her "Daddy Long Legs" benefactor had to be repaid. So the story deals with the war between the Atlantic seaboard, and the part of a patriotic American girl whose love affair is interrupted by Hun spies who seek to destroy American transports bound for France with troops. She follows this plot in an ingenious way, but not until after she has had grueling experiences, all of which are calculated to keep the attention of the audience at high tension. The actress of the U. S. Secret Service, "Daddy Long Legs" is a little worth it. The following is a little story of "Daddy Long Legs": "Judy Abbott was an orphan. She was found by a kind hearted policeman who took her to the John Grier Orphanage. There the nameless baby was christened by a telephone directory. Then when she got bigger they made her wear plain gingham dresses just like all the other little girls with their hair in a bun. Judy had a kind heart for a soul mate without just why. There was a little red headed freckled man who looked like a kind hearted orphan boy who was her friend. Together they decided when Judy was about twelve years old to declare a prize fight. The man's name was about twelve years old and thereby shatters her husband's romance and, incidentally, sends the man to the hospital. A social event of more than usual interest at the Oregon Normal school was the luncheon given by the faculty in Normal hall, at which Miss Rosa B. Parrott was the honor guest. The spacious living rooms and the charmingly appointed tables were most delightfully decorated with baskets of Lady Gray roses from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Nelson.

Some time ago we told you that you had better get a Clark Jewel Oil Stove. Some of you did and are having a nice cool time in the kitchen these many sultry warm days—cooking is a pleasure—and those who didn't are either smothering over a hot cook stove, starting the family or eating out of a can. It's not yet too late to buy a Clark Jewel of us—but we can't say that the same old price will last much longer. Everything appears to be going up.

WE TOLD YOU SO

The Class family have decided to remain where they are and will not take the Mrs. Halle Henkle proper by this Fall, as stated by The Post last week.

Miss Ivy Stanley will be the guest of Miss Florence Burton this Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Leonard of Memphis, Tenn., who spent the Summer with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Eldridge, left last Sunday night for their Southern home. While here the party motored to many of the adjacent scenic spots and the visitors were entranced with the beauties of Oregon. They will stop for a visit with a son in San Francisco before going to Memphis.

We desire to express our heartfelt gratitude and sincere appreciation to our many friends who so kindly assisted us and for their many beautiful flowers and deep sympathy extended during our recent bereavement in the death of our dear Mother.
