"Ever Occur to You?"

says the Good Judge

That it's foolish to put up with an ordinary chew, when it doesn't cost any more to get real tobacco satisfaction.

Every day more men discover that a little chew of real good tobacco lasts longer and gives them real contentment.

There's nothing like it.

PROGRAM FOR THE WEEK

MONDAY, SEPT. 29—Good Show.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 30—DOROTHY PHILLIPS in "The Talk of the Town." She stepped out. Her good name lost its luster in the dark. A lie has no legs but scandal has wings. She neither loved, honored nor obeyed. Babies are so much care so she mothered a poodle dog. But she had to stop—and stop she did. Hubby turned the trick—see how!

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 1—VIVIAN MARTIN in "The Home Town Girl." The old man wanted to send the youngster up for getting away with that $300, but the girl just stood there with that appealing look in her eyes and then—it's all in "The Home Town Girl"—a dandy picture with downright wholesome comedy. Flagg's satirical comedy, "The 'Con' in Economy." Starts everybody's sides to wiggling.

THURSDAY, OCT. 2—MAE MURRAY in "A Bride's Awakening." A convincing preachment against clandestine weddings. An investigation thru-out the United States which shows that 98 per cent of secret weddings end either in separation or in a tragedy. Of 1,406 secret weddings in 1910 only 29 of the couples are living together.

FRIDAY, OCT. 3—ETHEL CLAYTON in "Pettigrew's Girl." A story of chorus-girl life that takes you behind the scenes and below the froth. It introduces you to a beauty, who smashed a chorus-girl tradition when she gave up her millionaire sweetheart to marry a man as "poor as a church mouse." FAT-TY ARBUCKLE in "A Desert Hero." Fatty as a Salvation Army hero in a rabid Western town. A Big Night.

SATURDAY, OCT. 4—H. B. WARNER in "For a Woman's Honor." A thrilling drama of blackmail, oriental intrigue and romance. See the elusive mysteries of India, the magical machinations of an oriental vamp and a naughty Nautch girl dance the Nampur wiggle.

SUNDAY, OCT. 5—D. W. GRIFFITH presents "The Girl Who Stayed At Home." Mr. Griffith takes you further than the rocking chair that she knitted in, further than the home fires that she kept burning. He takes you into the very souls of the girls who stayed at home in America and in France.

INDEPENDENCE

IN HONOR OF THOSE WHO WENT AWAY

Complimenting Mrs. J. C. Kreamer who was on the verge of departure for Colorado, Mrs. K. C. Eldridge was a delightful hostess at an elaborate "Going-away luncheon" at her home Monday. For the occasion the table was beautifully appointed with sparkling cut glass, silver and china. A comport of fragrant pink verbenae and lacy ferns was chosen for a centerpiece. Place cards of traveling bags, packed ready for the journey, marked covers for the coterie of intimate friends. The hostess was assisted by Miss Eva Robertson in serving the five course luncheon consisting of:

Fruit cocktail.
Tomato, asparagus salad in lettuce cups topped with mayonnaise, salted chicken a la Maryland, cream gravy, mixed French peas, young carrots and potato squares a la mode, cream biscuit, currant jelly, ripe of ves.
Fancy ices.
Punch maraschino.
Coffee, assorted candies.

At the close of the luncheon which was perfect in every detail miscellaneous toasts were given to the honor guest who has been a boon to club life. Mrs. Ecker as toast-mistress introduced the several speakers. Mrs. Kreamer responded in a most gracious manner.

During the afternoon Miss Arbuthnot in her own inimitable manner gave some clever impersonations. Jolly conversations were mixed in with the strains of an Edison in a setting of ornate blossoms thruout the living rooms and library.

Included in the gathering were Mrs. J. C. Kreamer, Mrs. J. S. Cooper, Mrs. G. W. Conkey, Miss Kathryn Arbuthnot, Miss Eva Robertson, Mrs. Clyde Ecker and Mrs. K. C. Eldridge.

Last Saturday evening Delos Eldridge was host to a number of friends at a pretty dancing and game party given in honor of Ross Kreamer. The billiard room was

RAYMOND REEVES DIES OF BLOOD POISONING

An usually sad death occurred this week when Raymond Reeves passed away among strangers at Roseburg on Tuesday due to blood poisoning contracted while hunting in Douglas county. The exact particulars concerning the sad happening has not yet been ascertained other than while he bruised or injured himself in some way, blood poisoning set in, and he was taken to a hospital at Roseburg where he died a few hours after his arrival there.

The body was brought to Independence on Thursday and was taken in charge by the Odd Fellows' lodge, of which the deceased was a member. After the impressive ceremonies of that great Order, interment was made in the cemetery south of Independence.

Raymond S. Reeves was born Dec. 20, 1889 near Avalon, Livingston county, Missouri, and was 29 years, nine months and three days old at the time of his death. When Ray was two years old his parents moved to Mountain Grove, Mo. From there in 1907 the family came to Independence, Oregon. For the past two years the young man had been working in the ship yards at Portland. While on a vacation, the incidents that led to his death occurred. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Reeves, respected residents of this city, he is survived by six sisters and one brother as follows: Mrs. Jessie M. Sanders of Mountain Grove, Mo., Mrs. Grace E. Brown of Mountain Grove, Mo., Mrs. Dora E. Croft of Portland, Mrs. May M. Croft of Portland, Mrs. Nellie O. Millhouser of Suver, Mrs. Gladys R. Todd of Independence and G. Earl Reeves of Independence.

Ray was a young man who made friends easily and thus had a large acquaintance among which he was much esteemed. He was very industrious and at all times gave satisfactory service to those who employed him. His solicitude for the welfare of his parents was a cardinal virtue that made him greatly respected by all who knew him. Strong, robust, in the best of health, illness came upon him at a time when he was the least prepared to combat it. Had he not been miles away from medical assistance, his excellent physical self would have easily conquered the affliction. His death, so sudden and untimely, was an unusually hard blow to his mother and father.

The parents, sisters and brother have the sympathy of all in their time of great sorrow.

I. M. SIMPSON'S SALE WAS A BIG EVENT

(Monmouth Herald.)

The auction sale on the I. M. Simpson farm last Saturday was more than an incident in the agricultural life of the south half of Polk county; it was an event. Something like 150 automobiles were parked in the yard and along the roadway and at least five hundred people attended the sale. The free lunch at noon was a big affair, the guests being served cafeteria style. Many women and children were present, and warmed in the clear sunlight of an ideal autumn day, the gathering was like a sectional reunion or neighborhood picnic. Groups of men and women discussed crops and neighborhood gossip and the young people investigated the pressure water system or took turns at riding in the litter carrier or engaged in pitched battle with bales of hay as the breast works and green apples as ammunition. The circle around the auctioneer was constantly from five to ten deep and bidding was spirited. The sales total in the neighborhood of $5,200. One horse sold for $200 and another for $150. A single Lincoln buck brought $32, and a pen of 16 yearlings sold for $30 each. The goats sold for $3.50 each and a flock of turkeys sold for $3.50 each.

MATRIMONIAL VENTURES

Sickafoose-Marcum: On Wednesday, Sept. 24, at Newberg, Harvey K. Sickafoose of Monmouth and Mrs. Nan-nie M. Marcum of Independence were united in marriage. Mrs. Sickafoose is a sister of Mrs. J. Dornside and holds the esteem of a large circle of friends in Independence. Of Mr. Sickafoose, the Monmouth Herald says: "The groom is the gentlemanly and genial janitor of the high school and is popular with the students and a general favorite with all." They will reside at Monmouth. Congratulations are extended.

Thurston-Ogelsbee: Married on Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the Presbyterian manse, Dr. H. Chas. Dunsmore officiating, William H. Thurston and Miss Violet Beatrice Ogelsbee, both of Suver. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Salem where they will visit the state fair, afterwards going to Portland for a brief honeymoon. Their many friends wish them happiness and success. **

Oberson-Plessinger: Joseph E. Oberson and Miss Lila G. Plessinger, both of Independence, were married in Vancouver, Wash., one day this week. Upon their return home they will be warmly congratulated by their numerous acquaintances. Joe is one of the industrious sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oberson and is a world war veteran. His bride is a well known young lady of this city and has many friends. The Post has not learned where they will make their home.
