ASTONISHED DADDY.
June is having some difficulty in settling upon the proper title for her father. The other day she was playing with one of his collars when she tore it. Just then she heard him coming upstairs, and rushing to the top step called in distressed tones: "Oh, daddy, I have torn my hubble's collar!"

The fearful unbelief is unbelief in yourself.—Carlyle.

Equal to the Occasion.
"Speaking of accommodating hotel managers," said a traveler, "the best I ever met was in a provincial town. I reached the hotel late in the evening. Just before I retired I heard a scampering under the bed, and saw a couple of large rats just escaping. I at once complained at the office. The manager was as serene as a summer breeze. 'I'll fix that all right, sir,' he said. 'Boots! Take a cat to room 15 at once!'"

Old Name for February.
The old Britons gave the nickname "Fildyke" to February, not because it is a particularly wet month, the average rainfall being the least of any month in the year, but because the melting snow on the hills causes the rivers and dykes to overflow. When there is a superabundance of snow and rain in February there is too much of what would be a good thing in moderation, and floods where they are least welcome.

Asbestos Deposits

The Church-Goers.
If some men were to quote the well-known psalm they would have to say, "I was glad to make excuses when they said to us, 'let us go into the house of the Lord.'" The "they" referring probably to the women of the house, or the church-going neighbors.

Not Guilty Here.
"Of all the left-handed compliments designed to keep me in a happy frame of mind," remarked the facetious philosopher, "the one about a man being handy about the house is the worst."—Indianapolis News.

Something to Worry About.
Considering how little is accomplished, one sometimes wonders if it is really worth a hungry elephant's time to eat so small a thing as a peanut.

FARM POULTRY

MORE POULTRY IS PRODUCED
Application of Better Methods Has Done More to Help Than Greater Number of Fowls.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Poultry production increased 5 to 20 per cent in 1917 and 1918 in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, which comprise district No. 3 of the emergency extension poultry work being conducted by the United States department of agriculture. Efficiency in poultry management through the application of better methods, advocated by poultry specialists of the department and state colleges, has done more to increase production than the keeping of a greater number of fowls, says the department's representative in this district. In the culling campaign in one

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out without a particle of pain or soreness. This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.
Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callous.
Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callous. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callous will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers. This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or callouses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.
Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.—Adv.

Good Uniform Flock of Chickens.

state enough money was saved to farmers by disposing of 200,000 slacker hens to more than pay the expenses incurred for all of the extension work carried on in that state, and this culling work was only a part of the extension enterprise.

It was the one campaign wherein results were immediate, however, and it also afforded a definite basis upon which to estimate and tabulate the financial saving. The "better poultry" and "early hatch" campaigns were of even greater importance, and the saving and conservation of food through the "preserve eggs" and the "infertile egg" campaigns runs well up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars the representatives report. More stress is now being placed upon the educational features of poultry work to insure greater efficiency in management. The farmer or poultry raiser will not be content in the future with an average egg yield of six or seven dozen for each hen, when it is known that the average yield should be from nine to twelve dozen.

INSPECT SHIPMENTS OF EGGS

Federal Food Inspectors of Department of Agriculture Watch for Violations of Law.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Interstate shipments of eggs are being watched closely during the hot months by federal food inspectors of the department of agriculture, in order that appropriate action may be taken when such shipments violate the law.

Shipments containing eggs which have yolks stuck to the shell, moldy eggs, black spots, mixed rots, added eggs, and any other eggs which are filthy, decomposed or putrid, are in violation of the law.

Careful candling before shipment will enable dealers to eliminate the bad eggs. The elimination of the spoiled or partially spoiled eggs before shipment not only removes the hazard of violating federal and state food laws, but it is economical in that it saves shipping charges on eggs likely to be rejected at place of receipt. A number of states have laws or regulations specifically requiring the candling of all eggs placed on sale.

Directions as to how to candle eggs, as well as information regarding the best methods of pecking, shipping and storing eggs, will be sent upon request to the United States department of agriculture, Washington.

POULTRY NOTES

Provide roosts and dropping boards.
Keep hens free from lice and the house free from mites.
Always handle ducks and geese by the necks, never by the wings or legs which are not strong enough to serve as handles.
An angry old goose will sometimes strike with her wings hard enough to break a man's arm, and care should be taken when handling geese.
Old fowls do not need much corn or cornmeal during hot weather, but a certain amount should be fed to make a fairly well-balanced ration.
Cull out and kill all weaklings and deformed specimens among the chicks, as to stop their feed bill and give their room to more promising youngsters.

Comets and Stars.
Comets are erratic members of the solar system moving in orbits. Stars may be classified as fixed stars and planets, the planets revolving about the sun, while the position of the fixed stars relative to other heavenly bodies seems unvarying.
