How Harley Made Good

Harley had a family, a homestead—then the "flu." After the flu—money gone—debts a plenty. Jake said "Get a job like mine selling Parks Bros. Quality Groceries Wholesale to the Farmers. Save them 20%. Goods guaranteed. 'Satisfaction or Money Back.'" Now—debts paid; family happy; earning more money in one month than he used to in three. He's got two of his friends at work. We can use another good worker like Harley. Do you want the job? Write for Harley's proposition. Tell me your age and the work you've been doing. I'll tell you about it.

Thus James Stewart in his inimitable "Pococcosmos, or the Whole Art of Hairdressing," first published in London in 1782, tells how the wig gradually came to "declare the man." He speaks of "the huge tuck peruke of the man of law," of the "long bob or natty scratch" of the tradesman and the "hunting peruke of the country gentleman"; while "the merchant men of business and of letters were distinguished by the grave, full bottom, or more moderate tie neatly curled."

COMPLETE LINE OF STEEL & PLUMBING DEVICES AND SYSTEMS

Men's and women's clothing is often discarded before it is worn out because of the objectionable "shine" which appears on material after a short time. This condition can be remedied by sponging the shiny places on the garment with pure vinegar boiling hot. Rub the vinegar into the material plentifully and vigorously. Then press with pressing iron as usual. This process should be repeated whenever the shine reappears.—Thrift Magazine.

The Lincolnshire (Eng.) Architectural and Archaeological society has presented to the Lincoln City and County museum a charming little fibula of the time of Edward III or Richard II. The brooch is circular in shape and about half an inch across, and it was originally embellished with six emeralds. One of the emeralds is missing, but with this exception the specimen is perfect. An inscription on the back shows it to be a fourteenth century love token.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week incurred a awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callous the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callous, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callous without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callous. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.—Adv.
