

This Is An Age of Preventatives

Science has advanced to that place where there is a preventative for every known disease. It may be vaccination, change of diet or mode of living or a simple remedy.

You may be sure that in this season of possible epidemics of colds, coughs and "grippe" we keep constantly on hand all the reputable preventatives for these ills. Be on the alert and prepare yourself against the invasion of those ailments.

MARION BUTLER WEDS MISS LEONA SPERLING

This event is of particular interest to a large number of friends, as both the bride and groom are former Independence people. Mrs. Butler is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sperling. She is bright, vivacious, charming and thoroughly capable of assuming her new duties. Mr. Butler is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Word Butler. He is a young man of sterling worth and business qualifications. He justly merits the high esteem in which he is held. Until a few months ago, he was in the service of Uncle Sam, being a naval ensign stationed at Mare Island. Since his discharge, he has been employed as traveling salesman for a large automobile firm in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Butler have a legion of friends here who hope their married life may be a continued honeymoon.

HOLIDAY AND JUSTIN TO RUN MACHINE SHOP

Holiday and Justin, former residents of Independence, will soon be back in the old town. They have bought the planing mill of J. S. Bohannon and will operate a machine shop. Both are splendid workmen.

Hubbard, Mrs. Snapp, Mrs. Chas. Irvine, Mrs. Bohannon, Mrs. Guy Walker. Those on the refreshment committee are: Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Girard, Mrs. Hays, Mrs. Mattison. The ladies say they will have "extray guide refreshments."

"COUNTRY FOLKS" INTEREST CITY PAPER

The old Morse code clicked its loved messages over the wire. If you press her for a statement, Mrs. O. D. Butler will tell you that the messages that kept the impromptu telegraph wires hot between the homes of favored young folks in those joyous days led "from one thing to another" until the preacher usually came out the winner in the end. To memories of those youthful romances are so tender that it is difficult to get the story from any of those who were concerned. Nevertheless, once upon a time, so it is reported, Dr. Butler, then a promising young practitioner at Independence, sent a little message to a certain household—the preacher won again. Which leads to the statement that Mrs. Butler is a guest at the Hotel Portland from Independence.

IMPORTANT CHAPEL CAR MEETING

Next Sunday there will be an important meeting conducted at the Chapel Car by Rev. W. C. Driver, the Chapel Car evangelist. The meeting is only open to married people. It will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. This may be the last meeting in the Chapel Car, and as it is a meeting that will interest every married couple, you will give yourself a treat if you and your wife come. The pastor of the Baptist church will preach Sunday morning and Rev. Driver in the evening. Don't forget we have a Sunday school for you at 10 a. m. Sunday and a class for you. If you don't go anywhere else, you come.

REV. H. L. PROPPE, Pastor.

AT THE ISIS NEXT WEEK

The week opens Sunday matinee and evening and Monday night with the celebrated Sessue Hayakawa in "The Tong Man." He was the "Hatchetman" of the Bo Sing Tong—a ruthless assassin who knew no pity. When the blood call of the Tong was sent out and Luk Chan, "The Tong Man," drew the assignment to kill his sweetheart's father, love proved stronger than his oath to the Tong. Ming Tai, the Chief of the Tong, abducted the girl but "The Tong Man" fought his way through with his bloody hatchet and rescued his sweetheart from the "Spider's Trap."

A thrilling drama of blackmailing intrigue and assassination plots of the dread Tong society of Chinatown's underworld, with Oriental mystery and sinister machinations through which runs the thread of a beautiful romance of a Chinese beauty and a hatchetman murderer. On the same program appears Mr. Joe Martin, the famous monkey actor, in "A Jungle Gentleman."

The movie western, loaded with thrills and hair-raising escapades where gun play and dark deeds filled the film from first to the last flicker, has given place to the play that has some reason for its existence, some logical basis for its action. Of the latest sort are the Harry Carey westerns, one of which "The Ace of the Saddle" will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday nights. It is a story of cattle rustling on a wholesale basis, a bad sheriff, a good rancher, his promise and his reward of love. On the same nights we will have with us the famous monkey actress, Mrs. Joe Martin, in "Monkey Stuff."

A symphony of love and pathos—a drama that moves the heart with its overwhelming appeal—is "The Broken Butterfly," a production by that master-craftsman of the screen, Maurice Tourneur. The picture is an adaptation of Penelope Knapp's great story, Marcene, and presents Lewis J. Cody in a role different from anything the popular actor has ever done heretofore. The production is a tribute to the genius of Tourneur, who has handled the subject with a deft, artistic touch. The settings are sumptuous and the photography superlative. Thursday and Friday nights.

The Saturday night show includes Blanche Sweet in "Woman of Pleasure," a Herold Lloyd comedy, entitled "Bride and Gloom" and the Ford Weekly.

SURE OF GOOD JOB.

Rome was burning. "I may be a flivver as an emperor," chirped Nero to Petronius, "but you've gotta hand it to me as a producer of lighting effects. In my next incarnation I'll probably have a real job."

"Whaddyamean, real job?" asked Petronius.

"Motion picture director, of course; whaddy think I mean?"

And with that he reached for the spaghetti.

The Future Of This Section Depends Upon Cows and DeLaval Separators

The more cows and DeLaval separators in this section the more wealth and prosperity and for the same reason that it pays to have good cows is true of separators. The reason the DeLaval is better than any other kind is because it has a greater capacity, skims closer, is easier to wash, easier to turn and is time tested. The DeLaval has maintained the leadership for forty years and more are sold each year than all other kinds combined.
