

A WORLD REBUILT

By the Golden Rule
not by the rule of Gold

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2nd.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things; but it needs Faith most of all.

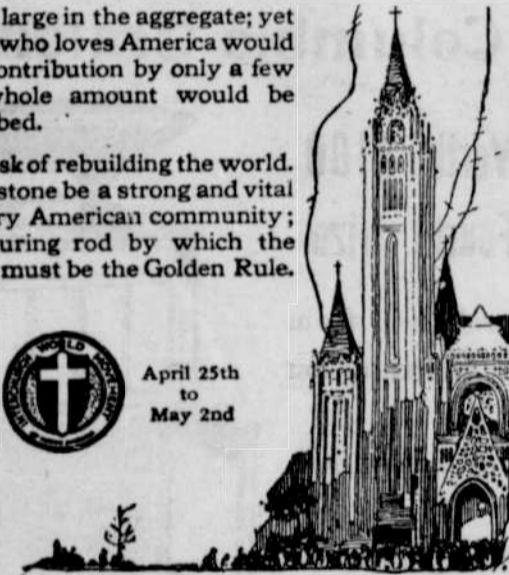

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution, based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet if each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world. Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

Washwoman's Union Bumped

Dallas—The Dallas Washwoman's union, which was organized two weeks ago, with Mrs. G. Harder as presiding officer, received a serious setback at the beginning of its career.

The women of the city refused to meet the increase in rates for washing and ironing as charged by the members of the union.

As a result, tubs and other washing materials that had been discarded have now appeared, and the women are doing their own work, thus cutting down both the high cost of living and also the incomes of the washwomen.

It is said members of the union have heretofore made wages equal to those of men practically every day of the week.

Mint Growing Promised

Klamath Falls—Mint growing on Klamath county tule lands will be an important industry in the future, says John M. Davies, reputed to have been the largest peppermint producer in the Willamette valley before disposing of his farm near Independence. Davies was here for a few days recently investigating local conditions and will organize a company to operate on a big scale.

Local marsh land is the ideal for mint growing, according to Davies and other experts, and should yield from 75 to 100 pounds to the acre of peppermint oil. The oil is worth, at average quotations, about $8 a pound.

How To Fall

With slippery walks there is much in knowing how to fall. Fat people, having good buffers fore and aft, seldom are hurt. Slim ones should fold arms and look out for the head; the rest of the anatomy will care for itself. The nearer one can form into the shape of a ball, the less danger of damage.—Portland Oregonian.

WOULD REVIVE THE FAMILY AS UNIT

Church Heads Seek to Stimulate Common Interest and Offset Too Much Individualism.

Saving the American family from "over-emphasized individualism" is announced as a leading purpose of the New World Movement of Northern Baptists.

"There is too much talk of living one's own life and too little of the unit good," said Dr. H. A. Heath of the General Board of Promotion of the Northern Baptist Convention. "It is an unusual family that has any vital common interest."

To unify the family in its church life at least 10,000 Baptist churches throughout the country are being reorganized on the basis of what is known as the Family Group Plan. Every local church of the denomination in the Northern states will be divided into family groups, with not more than ten families in a group; a leader will be appointed, and the various group leaders, with the pastor, will form a church cabinet to put local and denominational programs into effect.

"Family Sunday" will be observed at least once each three months in all the Baptist churches in the country. Everything about the services, songs, text and sermon, will be chosen from the point of view of interesting the family. Members of the family will be asked to sit together, and in thousands of rows of seats in the United States father will head the row and tow-head son will occupy the end seat.

Christian leaders say that family prayers are held at the present time in not more than one out of every ten families of church members. The Baptist campaign will make an effort to revive the custom in all the homes of that denomination.

The various members of each family group in the church will be expected to entertain each other in their homes. Since these divisions will be made without reference to social status, perhaps on an alphabetical basis or in some other equally impartial way, this will mean a real test of Christian democracy. The leaders believe that the members of the various congregations will come through this acid test triumphantly.

"Brotherhood ought to be an actual working principle in our churches and not an idle word," Dr. Heath said. "If it is not an actual working principle this is the time for us to find it out. If there is Christian snobbishness it should be uprooted. But, as a matter of fact, the Family Group Plan is being met with favor wherever it is being tried out in our churches, and families write in that they welcome this opportunity to mingle with those of varying viewpoints."

Family week-end meetings will also be introduced into many local Baptist churches, at which the various members of the family will come together for readings, recitations, music, games and chat. These programs will not necessarily be religious at all, the church leaders say. The church can safely be used for family enjoyment in these modern times, they declare.

Dr. Heath contends that this reorganization of the church on the family basis is both wise and natural.

"The family is the natural division within the church as well as outside of it," he said. "The Baptist Church is simply recognizing this fact in the New World Movement. If the movement results in a stronger welding of family ties and in helping to settle the national discontent through the mingling of various classes the church, the home and the nation will all be the better for it."

BOY SCOUTS HELP TAME WILD TRIBE

Kavall, Madras Presidency, India, Jan. 10.—Under the direction of the British Indian Government American Baptist missionaries are adapting occidental methods in educating and otherwise making good citizens of one of the so called criminal tribes of India. This tribe, known as the Erukakas, is made up of what in another country could be called gypsies or brigands and has been rounded up by the government into this region.

The "wild" men and women of the tribe are being taught to work, and the boys and girls of the tribe are put in school with other children of this place. The "criminals," as they are called, number two-thirds of the enrollment in the school. Exhibitions from time to time of the work of the pupils brought out a procession of the Erukakas, and the sight of one of their children reciting in a class was a source of intense pleasure.

So responsive have the Erukaka boys proven that a pageant was given recently dealing with the Great War. Several government officials who were present at the pageant were surprised at the discipline.

Discipline has been aided by the introduction of the Boy Scout movement. The Head Master of the Kavall School first took the training in Madras, and then he put some twenty of the boys through the training. The administering of the Scout's oath and the presentation of staves and scout handkerchiefs was a unique event and was attended by several officials. This is the only troop in the Madras Presidency that has boys from the criminal tribes in it.
