Origin of the "Horn Book."

The horn book, invented in 1450 and used considerably up to the close of the eighteenth century, was the usual text book of the elementary schools. A thin slab of hard wood was covered with parchment on which were printed the capital and small letters, numerals, and some elementary syllables and words. Over this a thin sheet of transparent cow's horn was placed and firmly bound so that no moisture could penetrate.

The Peanut.

The peanut is a member of the pea family and the "nut" is more accurately described as a pod. It is grown from seed in a long tropical and subtropical lands, a long warm season being necessary for its maturity. It flowers above the ground, then the stem bends downwards, the young pod enters the soil and there matures. No roots are ever attached to the nut; the fibers, mistaken for them, are from the stem.

Compared with the hardships of Icelandic trawling, North Sea boats are always in a haven. From October to March blizzards of snow and sleet sweep the Icelandic regions, and from December to the end of January there is only an hour or two of daylight. Icelandic vessels are much larger than North sea trawlers, and so marked is the difference between the two operations that an Icelandic skipper rarely works the North sea, and vice versa.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or thorn right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Eskimo Women's Work.

While Eskimo men are hunting polar bear and walrus the women and children are busy catching the greater part of the fish and birds to be stored away for food supply during the six months' winter.

To Preserve Ferns.

There are at least two very satisfactory ways to preserve maiden-hair ferns. One is to dip the ferns as soon as gathered in perfectly limpid gum water. This should be done very carefully. After allowing them to drain for two or three minutes, arrange in a vase to dry. Another very good way is to put the ferns, when first gathered, between two clean sheets of blotting paper. Lay between boards and press for a week or so.
