In November the voters of Oregon will have the chance to vote upon another batch of measures and if they swallow them all as they did in May, the good, the bad and the indifferent, Oregon will out-freak any freak that ever freaked.

Capital punishment came back just in time to be applicable in the case of the five jail breakers who shot down the popular Til Taylor at Pendleton a few days ago. As far as Hart, Owen and Rathe are concerned but few opponents of capital punishment or sentimentalists will shed any tears if they are hung, tho as the result of this hanging bee, we predict that at the first opportunity the people will again frown on capital punishment as a cure for murder.

THE RHYMING SUMMARIST

(By Jerry Owen in Oregon Voter.)

The poets through the myriad years
 Since making songs begun
 Have ever tuned impassioned odes
 Of rapture to the Sun.
 The ruddy ord of molten fire
 Suspended in the sky
 Hurls flashing beams
 To earth, where dreams
 Base man, with sodden eye. ***

Well, we have never felt that way
 About the gleaming Sun;
 We are no Aztec solar priest,
 We never will be one.
 We have no hay down in the field,
 By sunshine to be cured;
 No nectarines
 Or spinach greens
 To ripeness to be lured.

For we are of that worthy tribe
 Of gents nobody loves;
 When airs are cool we're amiable
 As little homing doves;
 But when the August skies blaze forth
 We long to get a gun,
 And slay, just once,
 The tuneful dunce
 Who blaes o les to the Sun.

Lester Cline, one of Parker's most promising young men and Miss Mary Waacken, a popular Salem girl, were married Sunday at the home of the bride's parents. The couple spent their honeymoon in Portland. Tuesday evening they returned to their home here and, of course, the neighbors "made a noise." Mr. and Mrs. Cline will make their home here.
