INDEPENDENCE, OREGON, OCTOBER 22, 1920.

NUMBER 36.

LED TO THE ALTAR BY CHARMING MAIDS

Ebbe-Baker

One of Independence's most popular young ladies joined the ranks of the wedded when Miss Laura Baker became the bride of Mr. Merl Ebbe at about two o'clock Saturday afternoon. The marriage ceremony was read in the court house at Salem by the justice of the peace. Only a few close friends and relatives were present.

Miss Baker made an attractive bride in a suit of black satin with pink and gold cloth vest and a becoming black hat with pink and gold trimmings. After receiving congratulations, the couple left for Seattle where they will pass several days.

Mrs. Ebbe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker and is exceedingly popular among a large circle of friends. She has a sweet soprano voice and has been much sought in musical circles. She attended the Girls' Polytechnic College in Portland and was president of the sophomore class. Mrs. Ebbe expects to continue her musical studies in Portland this season.

Mr. Ebbe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ebbe of Dallas. He attended Dallas high school and is a successful electrician connected with the Mountain States Power Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Ebbe have taken the residence of Mrs. Ebbe's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Baker will go to Portland to make their home.

Kester-Wilson

An important event to a large circle of friends in the Suver neighborhood was the wedding of two very prominent young people, Miss Vera Helen Wilson and Mr. Wellington C. Kester in the presence of 35 relatives and close friends. The ceremony was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baker at high noon, Wednesday, Oct. 20.

The pretty home was charming in an array of autumn foliage glittering with gold dust. An improvised altar was arranged with ferns and dahlias. The bride, who is a beautiful girl of the vivid type, was charming in a girlish frock of white crepe de chine. Her bouquet was a shower of brides roses and lacy ferns. The couple was unattended and at the marriage altar exchanged the vows as Rev. Stanley Wood read the service.

Following the ceremony an elaborate wedding repast was served. The table was beautifully appointed and centered with a huge bride's cake. Autumn foliage and flowers completed the artistic effect. Assisting in serving the repast were Mrs. Fredrickson, Mrs. Olthoss, Mrs. Dickinson, and Mrs. Wodell. The gifts received were numerous and expensive. Amid a deluge of rice, old shoes and good wishes

DECISION VERY CLOSE

The democrats had an inning Thursday evening and the republicans will go to bat Tuesday night and thus will end the most quiet presidential campaign locally since Tige was a pup. The Ides of November will be here shortly at which time either Mr. Harding or Mr. Cox will be elected president of these United States. It makes no difference physically, morally and financially to the average republican or democrat which is elected, but he thinks so and there's a whole lot in having faith. Many a brother and sister votes the same old ticket year in and year out without getting anywhere but always hoping, and its very stimulating to have pleasant dreams.

the happy couple left on the 2:30 train for Portland to pass several days.

Mrs. Kester is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baker and is much admired by all who know her. She is an accomplished little musician and has for some time been an earnest pupil of Mrs. Lottie Hedges McIntosh. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kester, very prominent people of Suver. He was in the U. S. medical corps during the recent conflict and was stationed at Waco, Texas, for more than a year. He merits the esteem in which he is held and possesses the qualifications that point to a successful future. Mr. and Mrs. Kester will be at home on their farm in the Suver district.

Henkle-Burton

Without there was radiant sunshine. Within, the Burton home was converted into a brilliant bower of autumnal beauty for the nuptial celebration of Miss Florence Burton and Mr. Chester Henkle which took place at the Burton home on Tuesday, Oct. 19. Brilliant hued autumn foliage was used profusely in baskets over the reception rooms, forming a radiant background for the vases and bowls of gorgeous chrysanthemums. In the living and drawing rooms a soft yellow color scheme was effected. The cluster electroliers were shaded with golden tinted chrysanthemum shades. In the dining room delicate pink chrysanthemum shades were used over the lights and pink carnations and asters were combined with the vari-hued foliage. In the drawing room there was a pretty wedding canopy fashioned of wild clematis. Here just at high noon all eyes were focused, for soft strains of music were heard and Mrs. M. J. Butler in pleasing voice sang, "You and I." The strains of the song faded as it were into Mendelsohn's wedding march with Mrs. Lottie Hedges McIntosh at the piano. Amid this beautiful setting and in the presence of about fifty relatives and close friends, the bride and groom unattended proceeded to the altar where Dr. H. C. Dunsmore in waiting, read the

She was abused and beaten by her unscrupulous "grandpop." So was her little cousin Denny. They craved but did not receive the loving touch of the human hand, the caress and the kiss children are so fond of and entitled to. In the birds of the air, the beasts of the field, and the barnyard pets, they found their friends. "Judy of Rogue's Harbor" is a story that carries with it conviction. It is full of intense situations, human interest, thrills, throbs, love and laughter.

ISIS THEATRE INDEPENDENCE

No Decision in Hill Case

The Hill divorce case, after full four days of testimony, came to an end last night and Judge Bingham took the case under advisement. He did not indicate how soon he would reach a decision. Over one hundred Independence attended the trial in Albany either as witnesses or spectators. Of the witnesses, Mrs. Garlin Hill Cohrs attracted the most interest. She contributed a vivid story in elegant language, free from discrepancies and without malice that was a strong factor in arriving at an opinion regarding the merits of the case.

THE PILL BOX

SUGGESTS THAT A BASHFUL YOUNG MAN TROT TO MR. MENDELSON'S TUNE

Some one, too bashful to tell his name, called up in place of his wife who is too bashful to talk over the telephone and said that it was her idea that a certain gentleman who ornaments the cage at the Isis theatre ought to read his bible real closely and when he gets to where it says "go thou and do likewise" he ought to consider it a personal invitation to trot to Mr. Mendelsohn's tune.

STICK TO THE TEXT GOES BRETHREN; MEET THE ISSUE FACE TO FACE

Luncheon For Bride-Elect

One of the stellar social attractions of the week was the elaborate luncheon over which Mrs. A. L. Thomas and Mrs. H. Mattison presided at the attractive Thomas home last Saturday. The event was planned as a prenuptial compliment to Miss Florence Burton. The rooms were made attractive with an abundance of October flowers. The elegantly appointed luncheon table was centered with a sparkling cut glass vase of pink cosmos and a color scheme of pink and white developed in the appointments and also in the five course luncheon. Pretty cards done in pink with cupid bearing an engagement ring marked places for the ten members of the Tattling Club and Miss Ivy Stanley. The salad course was especially attractive. Within a lettuce cup a banana pyramid was topped with burning pink tapers held within pink rosebuds. Marshmallow squares were toasted over the flames and with shades drawn and the electroliers shaded in pink the scene was an extremely pretty one. The ices were also in pink and with this course a bride's cake cut by the bride-elect, was served.

This being the first gathering of the Tatters since Miss Burton's return from Canada and the East, the afternoon hours were happily passed with a splendid description of her trip. Frequent showers without made a shower within apropos, so at six a shower of pink and white articles was deluged on the bride-to-be. Many bore original and appropriate rhymes which were read by the happy recipient. The Tattling club also presented an oblong pyrex casserole. The hostesses, too, received a shower of compliments for the well planned and beautifully developed function.

Elkins To Play Basket Ball

The Elkins high school will have a basket ball team this year and will meet all challengers.

LOUIS W. SEGCEL ELECTED CAPTAIN

Louis W. Seggel, who served in France as a lieutenant during the world war but who now is farming south of Independence, was elected captain of Co. B., Oregon National Guard, to succeed C. L. Studd at a meeting of the company tonight. He is said to be a very competent man for the place.

First Lieutenant Ira D. Mix and Second Lieutenant Frank E. Dickson, one of whom would naturally be entitled to the place, refused to accept a promotion for private reasons that had nothing to do with the company.

Besides the election of a captain, this evening was inspection night and Adjutant General White was on hand to look over the company. The boys also drew their quarterly pay.

Civic Club Opens Season

After a three months vacation the Civic Club opened its season of activity last Monday with an informal reception for new comers. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Clyde Ecker at Third and B streets. Baskets of autumn foliage and bronze colored dahlias were used in the living room. In the dining room pink dahlias and lavender asters were combined with the autumn colors. The den was converted into a Halloween Hall of Hilarity with black cats, witches and jackolanterns where a witch, Madam Costella alias Mrs. J. E. Hubbard made a wonderful reputation for herself disclosing blissful futures for those seeking a glance beyond today.

The tea table was centered with a crystal basket of lavender and pink sweet-peas, the club flower and colors. Unshaded pink candles were also used. Mrs. O. D. Butler, Mrs. O. A. Kremer and Mrs. J. S. Cooper poured during the afternoon. Miss Eva Robertson, Mrs. Sara Young, Mrs. J. S. Robbie and Mrs. C. O. Sloper served. Further assisting about the rooms were Mrs. J. G. McIntosh, Miss Eva Robertson, Mrs. C. W. Irvine and Mrs. Nellie Barnett.

During the afternoon sixty ladies called and enjoyed meeting the several new ladies and also enjoyed the reunion of club members. An Edison cabinet added plenty of cheer to the occasion. If the first meeting of the club is to be an indication of enthusiasm the year 20-21 is to be a very ambitious club year.

Mrs. Taylor Jones will open her home to the club on next Wednesday, Oct. 27.

Airlie C. E. Elects
