The fellows who voted for a change will get it.

The cabal that forced Cox' nomination at San Francisco deserted him on election day.

It appears that the wets back East didn't take any stock in the Anti-Saloon league story that Cox was wet.

Mr. Harding smokes cigarettes. The American people will never be contented until they learn what brand.

It was the straight vote that retired Chamberlain and if the election was held over again next week Chamberlain would win.

The landslide went over the one of 1904 and Roosevelt was a more popular man than Harding and Cox a better man than Parker.

The principal objection to a landslide is that it carries into office a large number of undesirables whom the people must tolerate until the next election.

The democratic party had better return to the side of William Jennings Bryan. Under Bryan's leadership it may not win, but it will always be nearer being right.

The Multnomah county vote on congressman indicates that the landslide saved Mr. McArthur and the chances are best that there won't be any landslide two years hence.

Mr. Harding will have to make a choice between the two factions of the republican party that elected him president. When he does that the big row starts. The losing side will have two able champions in Senators Johnson and Borah.

The most horrible example of saffron partisanship was displayed by the Oregon Voter in its issue of last week. After declaring that one of the Multnomah republican candidates was a bad man that should be defeated and his democratic opponent was a good one, the Voter admonished the republicans to elect the bad man anyhow for fear they would not have enough sense to scratch a ticket correctly and might vote against one or more good republicans.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SEA SCOUTS TO BE FORMED

The sea scout branch of the Boy Scouts of America has been placed under the direction of James A. Wilder.

The lure of the sea is as strong to the boy as the lure of the wilds. For the first time he is to have a chance to smell the tar and oakum and feel the swaying deck beneath his feet, even though he may live in a sandy desert.

The chief sea scout has introduced a new note into scouting—the idea of giving every scout a definite job with definite duties. Under his system there is no general rush for the axe and neglect of the shovel. Every scout does his part of the work and together they do it all—whether it is launching a boat or cooking a meal.

As in the navy, every scout in the boat will have a specialty and a rating based on that specialty. He will have certain gear in his charge and will receive special instruction in the handling and the care of the same.

It is not absolutely necessary that there shall be water in or near a town where the sea scouts are to be organized, though not to have at least a horse-pond will be a handicap. Journeys to navigable water must then be undertaken or crew and skipper will stick at the boat grade, and interesting but dry-land class of work and games.

It will be permissible to change a room into a "ship." In this case the stairways will become "gangways," the windows "ports" and "skylights," and everything will be kept shipshape.

The United States navy department has been interested in sea scouting for a number of years, and some troops of sea scouts have had the use of navy equipment, including boats. Instruction has been given in some cases by instructors from navy yards and navy vessels.

CAMPING CHIEF FOR SCOUTS.

The national council of the Boy Scouts of America has recognized the importance of camping as fundamental to the movement by providing for a new department of camping. L. L. McDonald, of Chicago, is the chief.

The camping director is responsible for the development of plans, programs and literature for the help of chartered troops and local councils in giving boys an opportunity to receive the benefits of camp life under the most favorable conditions and in the most economical and efficient way.

He will define and maintain regulations for the conduct of camps for boy scouts and will be specifically charged with the supervision of all boy scout camps and enforcing the minimum requirements prescribed for leadership facilities, program, sanitary arrangements and menu.

Doubtless the anticipation of camps and outings attracts to the movement for its indoor program more boys and leaders than all other features combined. The very origin of the scout movement was in response to the great need of an organized program which would take growing boys from the city out into the open air under wholesome influences, developing in them qualities inherent in the life of the pioneer, which the boys of today have little or no opportunity to acquire.
