C. L. Stidd and family were here from Portland this week.

R. Barrett, bond dealer of Portland was a guest of O. L. Foster the first of the week.

Claude Hubbard and H. Olson of Portland were visiting the J. E. Hubbards last Saturday. They returned home Sunday accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Hubbard and Mrs. Sara C. Young.

Miss Lucile Craven was home several days last week on account of her Portland school being closed as a result of diphtheria among pupils. She returned to Portland Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Keeney and baby Keeney have arrived from Salem and are comfortably located at the Rose-Plant bungalow on Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Keeney express themselves as being highly delighted with Independence.

Mrs. J. S. Cooper and Miss Genevieve were here Sunday and Monday attending to business matters. The Coopers are now located at King's Hill Apartments in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussey of Salem were here Sunday, visiting the L. Damons. Mrs. Donald Stuart of Winlock, Wash., was also a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Damon last week end.

TWO REALTY DEALS OF THE PAST WEEK

The S. B. Walkers have purchased the residence lot on Fourth and C streets from J. D. Hibbs and expect to erect a modern bungalow.

Gaylord Godfrey has also invested in real estate having purchased from Sherman Hays a lot on B street between Third and Fourth. Mr. Godfrey expects to build a modern home on the property.

Polk Farmers to Picnic At Elkins School

Polk County Farmers Union will give a picnic at Elkins school house, May 25. All farmers invited. Basket dinner will be served at noon.

Mrs. Shirley Dies as Result of Accident

Mrs. S. O. Shirley, who was hurt in an automobile accident in Portland last week, died in the Good Samaritan hospital Wednesday without having regained consciousness. Mrs. Shirley was a sister-in-law of Henry Patterson and had many friends in Independence.

TOUGH YEAR ON 'EM

"It seems like a mad world."
"It is. There is so much unrest about."
"Yes. With everybody seemingly intent on violence I fancy this is going to be a bad year for baseball umpires."

A TRIP TO THE JUNGLE

For six years Carveth Wells, of London, England, formerly lecturer at Imperial College, London University, lived in the wild jungle lands of the Malay Peninsula. He was official explorer for the British Government and the experiences which he encountered in that period of time form one of the most thrilling and interesting stories now being told on the American platform. Mr. Wells brought back with him a remarkable collection of views of the animal, reptile and plant life of that strange tropical country and he will present these on the screen at Chautauqua on the fourth night.

Solons Send Pages to Witness Circus

Sacramento, Cal. — "Mister Speaker-r-r!" "This is circus day," said Assemblyman Frank L. Coombs, when the assembly convened. "I think that if this assembly could take a day off yesterday to go to the ball game it might let the pages have the afternoon to go to the circus. We were all boys once, except those of us who were girls." Then Mr. Coombs, whose suggestion was approved unanimously, gilded the bill by taking up a collection to pay the pages' admission, buy their peanuts and otherwise make the day bright, and five small boys stepping high and smiling widely, left for the lair of the blood-sweating behemoth.
