CHARLES SCHMIDT

CITY AND COUNTRY

Ask Mr. Foster.

Miss Ruth Girard was home from Portland for the week end vacation.

Mrs. Snowie Kurre was here from Forest Grove visiting relatives last week end.

A number of Independence people attended "Benoid the Man" at the Grand in Salem and report a wonderful production.

Mrs. Susan Jones and daughters, Misses Grace and Katharyn of Corvallis spent Sunday with relatives here.

Dr. M. J. Butler and son Marlow and Mrs. O. D. Butler went to Portland Sunday to visit Mrs. M. J. Butler who is recovering from an operation in a hospital there.

J. W. Richardson, formerly assistant postmaster here, but now of Portland, spent Sunday with his mother and other relatives here.

Mrs. James Hanna and children, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fitzgerald and Miss Emma Henkle of Portland were here for Decoration day. The party was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Irvine.

Miss Vivian Browne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Browne, was wed last Saturday to Orlie J. Leffingwell. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents in Salem. The Brownes formerly lived in Independence. Mr. Leffingwell is employed in the automobile department at the State house, where Miss Browne had also been working. They will take a brief trip to Seattle, after which they will be at home to their friends at the Court Apartments in Salem.

Concerning Oscar Wilde's "A Woman of No Importance," which was played in Eugene recently, Independence people will be interested to know that Miss Leota Rogers played the ingenue role of Hester Worsley, or the "Little Puritan." The Eugene papers had this to say: "Leota Rogers was charming in this part so full of life and character. She completely won her audience with her captivating ways."

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson enjoyed a family gathering last week. Their children joining in the reunion were Mrs. E. B. Arthur of Vancouver, George and Henry Patterson of Portland, "Doc" of Dallas and Ike of Eola.

Guy Prather, a student of the Ellison White Conservatory, was visiting the home folks last week.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Joseph Rogers and Mrs. J. T. Huntley entertained at a lawn fete and picnic dinner at the pretty country home of the Rogers. A variety of amusements were furnished and when the picnic table was ready twenty-nine guests gathered around to participate in the splendid meal. Among the guests were H. Kelley and family, R. Scott and family, J. Smith and family, all of Dallas; Mrs. J. L. Stockton and Miss Zoia Stockton, of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tracy of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Huntley.

Sheriff Orr Laughs

Sheriff Orr says that it is to laugh about the great mystery in the Elkins school neighborhood. He says that he is pretty certain that what was hidden in the swamp consisted of a cache of moonshine, and insists that he knows, but cannot prove, that a certain Buick car owner could tell more about the matter. — Polk County Observer.

HOTEL FOR HORSES.

In that section of Berlin known as Charlottenberg there is a veritable hotel for horses. This hotel—if we may be permitted to call even a de luxe stable a hotel—provides luxurious quarters for the horses of a Berlin bus company, as well as rents rooms by the day, week or year for horses visiting or staying permanently in the city. The structure, which is of brick, is three stories high. On each floor there is a roomy balcony running the full length of the building and available for exercising the horses. An inclined runway leads to all balconies. A corps of uniformed attendants look after the horses and give them every care and attention that efficient hotel service can devise.—Scientific American.

Ask Them

—Ex-service men will tell you that it was a common thing among men who did not get normal rating on vision, for these men to say:

—"I never knew there was anything wrong with my eyes."

—If you have never had your vision examined, the time to do so is right now. Do not wait until actual distress brings you to a specialist.

FELT SORE, TOO.

"You look sore, old man," said Bert Gates to his friend, Will Redgrove. "Did you propose to the rich man's daughter last night?"

"Yes, that's what I did," returned the melancholy one sadly.

"Same story, I suppose?" queried his friend sympathetically.

"What's that?" asked Will desperately.

"The father kicked you out of the house."

"No."

"He didn't?"

Will rubbed himself ruefully.

"He didn't wait until I was out of the house?"—Exchange.

CRUDE HILARITY.

"Wine is a mocker."

"So 'tis," agreed Uncle Bill Botletop. "And moonshine liker is one of our roughest practical jokers."

NEW PNEUMONIA TREATMENT.

Injections of glucose are said to be beneficial in the treatment of pneumonia. It is advocated by an American physician, who described his success in an American medical magazine.

The Best Beloved

Nothing brings forth more tenderness or brings greater happiness than preparing for the Bride in the family.

You must consider that it is the greatest period in a young woman's life, and choose your gifts accordingly.

Wedding gifts for the bride are reminders all through her life of the closeness of her friendships, the respect of her community. Hence the greater care shown in selecting these gifts, the greater will be the memories you will give her later.

Selections from our stock will be personal and proper.
