"COURTS MAKE WOMEN TOUGH."

One of the deputy sheriffs in civil court is opposed to woman jurors. The atmosphere of the court tends to make them cynical, hard-hearted and heartless, he believes.

"Why, I know a woman in this building who isn't afraid of a mouse any more," he said, according to the Milwaukee Journal. "The other day a mouse came into the room where she was and when she couldn't find anything else to throw at it she pulled off her pump and was going to kill the poor thing with it. When she came into the court some years ago she was the meekest little thing."

"Yes, sir, keep the women out of court if you want them to retain their gentleness and kind-heartedness."

It Is Claimed

That the shortest verse of Scripture is "Jesus wept."

The shortest sentence in the English language containing all the letters of the alphabet is "Pack my box with five dozen liquor jugs."

The impossibility of fulfilling this command has caused untold weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth, but remember.

CULT SLAYS ENEMIES

Revelations in Raid on Society Astound Tokyo.

Temple of the Secret Organization Hid the Bodies of Foes of World Dominion Movement.

Tokyo.—Revelations of the work carried on by the "Omoto-kyo" cult, which began when the police raided the headquarters of the organization at Ayabe, near here, continue to astound the people of the empire. Newspapers accuse leaders of the cult of aspiring to set up an "Omoto-kyo" dynasty, to which all Japanese would flock with the hope of attaining world dominion.

In the secret passage leading from the temple of the organization at Ayabe to the residence of Watanabe Deguchi, leader of the society, the police declare they discovered a portrait of Deguchi wearing a costume resembling that usually seen on the image of Ama-Terama, the sun goddess, the traditional grand ancestress of the Japanese imperial family.

It is alleged that in the temple were found crypts in which were placed the bodies of those who were slain for betraying the secrets of the organization.

It is declared that "unspeakable crimes" were committed against women by members of the cult, who are said to have bordered on fanaticism in their zeal. Cartloads of alleged seditious literature has been seized, including a famous volume bearing the title of "Fire." This volume is interpreted as embodying projects for a social upheaval of a "dreadful nature" and incompatible with the present government of Japan.

It is said that the followers of "Omoto-kyo" numbered 300,000.

When the police seized the collection of pebbles representing the divinity of the organization, a band of the faithful clinched their fists in fury, declaring the act of the officers to be sacrilegious. Leaders made addresses, urging forbearance and long suffering in the presence of the desecration of their deity by the "heathen."

An Osaka newspaper owned by Deguchi has issued an extra edition denying reports that bombs were discovered in the temple and explaining that swords found there had been given to the temple. The newspaper declares that followers of "Omoto-kyo" have committed no crime.

AUNT SUSAN'S DILEMMA.

Aunt Susan, an old Maryland dandy, was being registered for the first time. Like many other women who were torn between their desire to vote and retain their youth, Aunt Susan neither relished telling her age nor discussing other private matters.

"What are your affiliations?" asked the registrar.

"Why, boss, I don't hav' to tell dem, do I?" queried Aunt Susan in dismay.

"Answer the question," commanded the hard-hearted registrar. "But, boss," protested Aunt Susan, "I don't like to. He's got a wife and five children!"
