FRANCE GETS VALUABLE TREE.

The trees producing the sap from which lacquer, a special varnish, is made, were introduced into France from the Orient during the war, supplementing to some extent the markets of India, China and Japan. Lacquer has been found to be of extreme value in airplane manufacture, combining, as it does, durability and toughness with the characteristic of bending without cracking. It takes a high polish, and is used especially for coating propeller blades. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

PRINT ELEVEN BILLION NEWSPAPERS A YEAR

Dailies Enough in Country to Supply Copy to Every Three and One-half Persons.

More than 11,225,000,000 copies of daily newspapers are printed annually in the United States, averaging one copy a day for every three and one-half persons of the country's total population, latest statistics of the bureau of the census show.

Circulation of the nation's 2,433 daily newspapers aggregated 32,735,937 copies a day, an increase of 13.8 per cent in the five years. The circulation of the 592 Sunday newspapers was 19,929,834 copies each Sunday during 1919, an increase of 14.9 per cent.

The aggregate circulation of these daily and Sunday newspapers, therefore, was 11,270,559,316 copies, or 109.3 copies per capita for the year. Total circulation of the country's 20,431 newspapers and periodicals aggregated 15,475,145,102 copies for the year, an increase of 7 per cent per issue in five years. That includes daily, Sunday, triweekly, semiweekly, weekly, quarterly and all other newspapers and periodicals. The printing and publishing industry's products were valued in 1919 at $1,528,856,503, of which newspapers and periodicals contributed $808,006,035, and newspapers alone $612,718,515, an increase of 116 per cent in five years. Newspaper subscriptions and sales aggregated $204,562,214, an increase of 105.9 per cent. Advertising totaled $407,790,301, an increase of 121.5 per cent.

TRAIN PASSES OVER GIRL

Miss Schnupp Was Not Hurt Bodily But Was Unnerved.

Miss Agnes Schnupp, twenty-two years old, of Jeannette, Pa., apparently falling to hear the approach of a fast passenger train, started to walk along the Pennsylvania railroad near the Jeannette station.

Blinded by the glare of the headlight of the engine, Miss Schnupp stood still for a moment as the big engine bore down on her. Then she threw herself between the tracks and the train passed over her.

Scores of persons standing on the station platform thought the young woman had been killed as she dropped in front of the train. Miss Schnupp, however, while unnerved, was able to walk to her home where it was found she had suffered no injury.
