KING IN REALM OF BOOKS

Herbert Putnam, Superintendent of the Library of Congress, Has Charge of Wonderful Collection.

Herbert Putnam is the superintendent of the library of congress, in institution which contains more books than any other in the world except the British museum at London and Nationale bibliotheque in Paris. Mr. Putnam belongs to the celebrated Putnam family, publishers of books, the Detroit News states. He tried to be a lawyer and knows the law, but his fondness for books caused him to give up the legal profession and he now presides over one of the greatest institutions in the United States and is a better-known man than 90 per cent of the lawyers in the country.

Mr. Putnam takes as much pride in the collection of music in the library of congress as he does in anything else connected with it. When he became librarian in 1899, 250,000 pieces of music were catalogued. The collection has since grown to 800,000 pieces and there is scarcely anything that was ever written or published in the way of music in any part of the world of which there is not a copy in the library of congress.

WOMAN, 90, WAS ARMY COOK

Saw Service in Mexican War and in the West.

Penniless, but content, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Doyle, 90 years old, sat in the Union station here the other day awaiting a train to take her and her voungest son, a mere child of 52, to Frannie, Mont., where both expect to find work, says a Billings (Mont.) dispatch to the St. Paul | ties for living, studying and sleeping Pioneer-Press. The son John is a section hand and a good one, Mrs. Doyle declared. She herself has had some little experience at toil, one of her first jobs being that of cook with the American forces in the Mexican war. She was then 16.

Mrs. Doyle was born in 1830 on the banks of the Illinois river, near

"Grant and Lee and McClellan were lieutenants when I joined the army," she said. "After the war I was transferred to New Orleans on recruiting service. Then I went with the soldiers to California. Next I went to Nebraska, and afterward to Wyoming. I don't take much with this truck of men army cooks. No man can cook as well as a woman. Ask any soldier."

FOR KEEPSAKE.

A Newcastle woman, who is not a bit backward in declaring she is a Democrat, entertained two Civil war veterans during the recent state Grand Army of the Republic encampment, and when it came time for the two to leave for their homes she made plain that she did not wish any money for housing them during their stay. They insisted on paying her and she held out against accepting money. Finally, the two old soldiers hit on a plan of giving her something as a remembrance. One handed her his souvenir badge and the other presented her with a Harding button. Despite her political prejudice she will keep it .- Indianapolis News.

HARTMAN BROS. Dr. W. C. Gehman, Optometrist SALEM, ORE,

Paris.-It will doubtless require numerous decades to convince Frenchmen that Anglo-Saxons who sleep at night with open windows, drink ice water many times a day and insist on rooms and living apartments with baths are not a trifle queer. For countless generations the French people have "known" instinctively that to drink water undiluted with wine is highly dangerous, that open windows after nightfall let in damp, cold air which breeds pulmonary trouble, rheumatism and many of the ills that the human race is heir to; that to imbibe ice water and iced concoctions upsets the stomach

But there are signs today that France is changing. One of the greatest signs of late has been the revolutionary and radical pronouncements of such an authority on hygiene as the celebrated Professor Gariel of the Paris Academy of Medicine, who is now advising his fellow countrymen to forget the aged traditions. The professor points to Americans and Britishers to uphold his "radical" contention that one may drink water in plenty, eat ice cream, breathe plenty of fresh air right around the clock and, in fact, do all the things in France that Anglo-Saxon foreigners do in their own countries.

Great Initial Victory. It will take longer, in the opinion of France's new "school of fresh air hygiene," to wean the French away from closing all the windows and shutters with the first damp of evening and keeping them closed until the sun comes up again. However, the greatest initial victory comes with the plans which have been jointly adopted by the French parliament and the City of Paris for the new "university city," a distinctly hygienic institution to be built near Montsouris park, within the city limits. French schools up to now have not been noted for facilities of hygiene. The new "university city" will consist of houses three stories high, with lawns and gardens laid between and in the very center of the architectural group will be a large building containing shower baths. swimming pools, a gymnasium, music auditorium and library. Students at present cooped and crowded in the aged, unsanitary student quarter on the left bank of the Seine will have in the "university city" all the faciliin all the fresh air that the high Montsouris region and modern bygienic principles can give them. They will be encouraged to sleep with open fumed with flowers and plants.

Under Protest. The price for student lodgings in this modern city of learning will be about $40 a year. Although a general director will be appointed, his authority, it is announced, will be limited. Students will not be treated as pensionaries, nor cloistered monks. But whether the students will be allowed by the homefolk to bring their university fresh air training into the old homestend is yet to be seen. It is more probable that father and mother will let son or daughter carry on fresh air tactics under protest, while the elders lock their bedroom windows, clamp the shutters tight and sleep as their fathers and grandfathers, mothers and grandmothers have been doing

CONCRETE FOR MINE TIMBERS.

Hollow concrete posts for use as mine timbers have been devised by a Belgian engineer. The new system, which is designed to permit of settlement if the support is overburdened, consists essentially of hollow reinforced concrete column filled with sand or some other slightly compressed material through which the load is transmitted.

CITY INSURES EMPLOYELS

Group insurance to the amount of $1,500,000 has been taken out by the city of Calgary, Alberta, to cover employees in case of death, sickness, accident or any other cause. Calgary is at present the largest city in Canada providing this form of protection for employees. A feature of the group plan is that many uninsurable persons are thereby included for insurance who would otherwise be debarred
