A NEW FIRM CONTRACTORS

Gallagher and Jarvis Are Now Located

J. P. Gallagher and I. D. Jarvis formed a copartnership this week and have decided to do general contracting. This week they closed a contract with Henry Pulse to build his new seven room bungalow in North Independence. The building will be modern in every respect and one of the best buildings in the city. They also have several other contracts in view. Mr. Gallagher is a draughtsman and furnishes plans and specifications for those desiring to build.

Mr. Virgil De Casta and Miss Lydia Sutton were united married in Salem Saturday March 15 by Judge Bushley. Mr. Fallie Sutton acting as best man, and Miss Rose Cassidy as bridesmaid. The Bride is the fourth daughter of our Townsman, J. B. Sutton and wife and is a general favorite with the young people of this section. The Groom is well and favorably known in this Section. A host of friends wish them all the joy this world affords. A dance and supper was given in their honor at the residence of the Bride's parents Saturday at the Wigrich Ranch which was largely attended.

Mrs. J. E. Hubbard and Mrs. Sarah Young were hostesses at a Violet party at the home of the former Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Dorothy Cooper whose engagement to Lieutenant George M. Parker, of Vancouver Barracks was recently announced. Mrs. Hubbard's home was decorated with violet, and each lady guest presented with bouquet of same. Three tables of pit was played and for a time one would have imagined a real board of trade just opened. A most dainty lunch was served. This was one of many affairs to be given in Miss Coopers honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mc Intosh and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pad-dock motored to Dallas Sunday where they called on friends.

Mr. James Chambers of Omaha Nebraska, is in this section looking up a location. Mr. Chambers has traveled extensively the Western coast having achieved the record of having rode on every Rail Road line in the United States but one—the J. J. Hall line—and states in all his travels he has seen no section that looks more promising than the beautiful Willamette valley. He is at present rusticiating at the Wolf Fitchard Hop Ranch dependence is certainly one of these places and no doubt many of our people will be pleased to hear liberal preaching along progressive lines, combining reason and faith in the interest of truth and in the promotion of the best interests of life.

Richard F. Fischer, of the Unitarian church, of Salem plans a series of lectures in Independence, and for the present expects to use the Knight of Pythias Hall. The following clipping is of interest to those who are liberally inclined and wish to have an insight into the Unitarian doctrine.

The Unitarian gospel is primarily a gospel of reason and of common sense. It appeals to man's mind and intelligence as well as to his heart and conscience.

Thousands of good and honest people have left the orthodox church, seeking and hoping to realize those higher realities, which religion alone can give. Orthodoxy, with its elements of fear and superstition, evidently has failed in these lives, and instead of helping these men to find the sustaining waters of truth, instead of helping these men to realize the fair hopes and promises of Christianity as taught and lived by Jesus, it has driven them into atheism and materialistic scepticism and unbelief and—to add insult to injury—hurled it's anathemas upon the unfortunate of its own creating.

Thousands of good and sincere men today have lost faith—not in religion—not in Jesus—not in his gospel or in the deeper Spiritual things of life—but in the creeds and dogmas of the church in the medieval speculations and theologizings, in the absurdities of the miraculous and supernatural.

To all this large class Unitarianism has a message and a reasonable hope.—Contributed.
