THE SOCIAL WORD
BY VIRGINIA SOUTHERN

How sweet 'twill be though joys are thwarted,
And smiles rebuked by sorrow's sigh,
To think, however friends are parted,
At least that friendship cannot die!

—William Winter.

The outcome of the election is seemingly the magnet of general interest, nothing of a formal nature being scheduled since the disappearance of grotesque jack-o'-lanterns and their attendant charms.

Many informal events where neighbors have dropped in for the afternoon, enjoyed a cup of tea and while sipping ardently discussed the conditions pro and con that elected this candidate or defeated that one, carried this amendment or defeated that one. Such keen manifestation of interest furnishes novelty to many who have heretofore been latent on such subjects, but now it will have a charm that will doubtless prove very enduring.

Only a short while and we will be waiting in spicy expectancy for Thanksgiving, when preparations will be made for pleasant home-gatherings, for many who are away at school will return to enjoy Thanksgiving at home where they will swing into a round of social gaiety.

MRS. OWEN ENTERTAINS
The Wednesday Afternoon Club met this week with Mrs. S. E. Owen on Monmouth street.

Seasonable blossoms added rich coloring and cheerfulness to the rooms.

Fancy work furnished employment for nimble fingers while the ladies enjoyed a social chat. A delicious luncheon was a pleasant feature of the delightful afternoon. Mrs. Paddock will be the next hostess to this club.

LADIES CIRCLE ENTERTAINED
Mrs. Inetta Hooper very pleasantly entertained the members of the Ladies Circle and a few additional guests at her apartments at the Rockwell residence last Thursday afternoon.

There were no idle hands for every member is busy preparing something dainty and useful for their approaching bazaar.

A dainty collation added to the pleasure of the occasion which was a particularly happy one for all.

TREBLE CLEF MEETS
Beginning with a Wednesday afternoon, the Treble Clef Club will be entertained at the homes of the members, Mrs. E. E. Paddock being the first to extend hospitality.

The regular study of songs and composers was continued, a most enjoyable and instructive feature being a paper on MacDowell, which was read by Miss Gladys Irvine.

Mrs. Claire Irvine will be the next hostess to this club.

ATTEND MUSICAL ATTRACTION
Among those who attended the opening offering of the Musical

Artist's Course in Salem last Saturday evening when Evan Williams, the Welsh tenor, was the attraction, were Messrs. McIntosh, Chaney and Miss Jewell.

Mr. McIntosh was distinctly pleased with the Tenor's repertoire.

MRS. BROWN HOSTESS
Mrs. V. J. Brown very graciously entertained the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Whist Club at her home on Monmouth street last week.

Pretty floral decorations enhanced the already attractive reception rooms and the guests passed the hours enjoying the hostess' hospitality and their favorite game. Mrs. Brown concluded a delightfully pleasant afternoon with an exceptionally dainty luncheon.

CIVIC LEAGUE
The Civic League held a very enthusiastic meeting at the Assembly room of the Public Library Tuesday afternoon.

Discussions were made and plans adopted for numerous plausible undertakings.

The efforts of the ladies on election day resulted in augmenting the library funds something over $11.

At the next meeting Miss Frances Cooper will read a very interesting paper on Belgium.

CHAPTER MEETING
The O. E. S. met at their chapter rooms last Tuesday evening for regular routine ritualistic work.

At the next meeting two weeks hence an entertainment committee, composed of Mesdames M. C. Williams, Sarah Irvine and H. B. Fletcher, are planning an especially pleasant evening for those who attend.

DREXELERS ENTERTAIN AUTOWINS
Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Drexler very charmingly entertained the members of the Autowin Club last Wednesday evening.

Colorful blossoms were used throughout the attractive card rooms where cheery fires burned.

Artistic appointments were made for "500" and the delicious luncheon served by the hostess was a decided culinary triumph.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES
Sliding Shelves Between Dining Room and Kitchen.

A device to reduce the work of handling dishes between kitchen and dining room is shown herewith. It consists of the tray a, with ends lower than the sides, which slide between c and d to prevent tipping. Rollers are shown at b. These move freely between pins placed at regular intervals from side to side of the slide. They prevent the rollers rolling too far in either direction. Blocks at each end on opposite sides of the partition prevent the tray from sliding too far, and the receding knives prevent it from tipping, as already indicated. Shelves may be placed above and below the tray.

A Good Cabbage Slaw.
Choose a small, firm head of cabbage. After trimming shred very finely into a salad bowl. Over this quarter three hard boiled eggs and season with salt and pepper to taste. Over this pour the following dressing: Beat two eggs until very light. Add to the eggs two teaspoonsful of vinegar, two tablespoonsful of prepared mustard and a lump of butter the size of an egg. Let this come to a boil and keep boiling for ten minutes, then thicken with a little flour and water and continue boiling for a very few minutes. Remove from stove and pour over your slaw, which has already been prepared. Let cool before serving.

Tomato Omelet.
Take three eggs, one cup strained tomato, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, dash of pepper, one teaspoonful butter or bacon fat. Beat the eggs until light and add cold water, salt and pepper. Beat until well mixed. Put the butter or bacon fat into a frying pan. When hot pour in the beaten egg and reduce the heat a little. Shake the pan constantly and with a fork loosen the edges until the egg is firm. Pour in the tomato, which has been thickened with cornstarch, wet with a little cold water. Fold over half the omelet and turn out on a hot platter. Garnish with parsley.

Fried Apple Pie.
Beat together an egg, a pint of sour milk, one tablespoonful of cream, a level teaspoonful of saleratus, half a cupful of sugar, salt and a little nutmeg and add enough flour to make a stiff dough. Roll to about a third of an inch thickness and cut in circles with a saucer. Wet the edges of the dough, fold over and pinch together and fry in hot fat. When they are brown cut them open and fill with apple sauce.—Country Gentleman.

Rice and Raisins.
Cook half a cupful each of rice and raisins separately, add a little sugar to the raisins while they are cooking, and let them cook almost dry, says the Country Gentleman. For the sauce take half a cupful of sugar, a table-spoonful of butter, a table-spoonful of flour, a dash of nutmeg, rubbed together, and one cupful of boiling water. Let come to a boil, then stir the rice, raisins and sauce together gently and serve when cool.

Scalloped Apples.
Three cupfuls of chopped apples, two table-spoonfuls of butter, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a lemon juice and rind, two cupfuls of dry bread-crumbs, one-fourth of a cupful of nutmeg, half a cupful of sugar. Mix and bake in buttered baker one hour, or until the apples are tender. Serve with hard sauce.

Supper Tidbits.
Take many slices of streaky bacon as are required and remove the rinds. Mix together a table-spoonful of bread-crumbs, a little chopped parsley, a small piece of chopped nut and beaten egg to bind. Spread over the bacon, roll up, tie with a piece of tape and bake in a good oven for a quarter of an hour.

Prune Souffle.
Boil one pound of prunes until the pulp can easily be separated from the seeds. Drain, put this fruit into the blender and mix with the well beaten whites of three eggs and one-half cupful of powdered sugar. Place in a refrigerator until cold and serve with plain or whipped cream and sweet waters.

Baked Salt Mackerel.
Soak a salt mackerel overnight. In the morning drain, rinse and put in a baking pan with a pint of rich milk. Bake for twenty minutes. Take up the fish, thicken the milk with a table-spoonful each of rice and butter. Season with salt and pepper, pour over the fish and serve.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Jolly Miller.
This is one of the lively ring games that children always enjoy. They first stand in a double circle, the arm of each player in the outer ring being linked with that of a player in the inner ring. A player stands within the inner circle. The two rings march around, singing.

Jolly is the miller who lives on the hill,
His wheel goes round with a right good will.
One hand in the sopper, the other in the lug;
The right ones hasten, and the left ones lag.

As the song ends each player in the outer ring lets go his hold and tries to grasp the arm of the one in front of his former partner. This movement is the opportunity of the player within the ring, who tries to grasp the arm of some one in the inner circle while it is free. If he succeeds the player in the outer ring, who is thus left without a partner, must take his place.

Animal Barometers.
If you find your cat particularly lively and playful prepare for a thunder-storm.
When rain is due you will find the cat lying down, huddled with their tails to wardward, look out for it soon.

If a donkey brays loudly you will not have to wait long for the pattering drops.
Sheep turn their heads to the wind when the day is going to be fine, but if it is a sign of rain say the shepherds, when they graze with their tails to windward.

The most dignified and sedate of pigs will become lively at the approach of rain.

Mary to Produce the "S" Sound.
There is one sound of the human speech which it is practically impossible to perfectly reproduce by mechanical means. It is the sound of the letter "s." Neither the telephone nor the phonograph renders it properly. Lord Rayleigh, an English physicist of note, was the first to observe this and to subject the phenomenon to scientific investigation. He found that to produce the sound "s" the muscles of the mouth must exert only a slight pressure upon the air, but at the same time the breath must be projected with such force as to produce not less than 1,000 vibrations of the air waves per second. This is a higher number than in the case of any other sound of the human speech.

Campfire Handicraft.
Chicago girls practiced a new handicraft at their campfire camp last summer. They made Indian willow beads according to directions furnished by Ernest Thompson Seton in his "Book of Woodcraft." They cut and beveled seventy willow twigs thirty-two inches long and notched them at the ends. Then they bound them together with heavy twine and fastened them to a framework of heavier twigs. When the work was complete two campfire honor beads were awarded to each craftsman. Another Indian bead was made on the ground in arranging layers of leaves at the bottom and laying twine loops upon them.

Boring Thin Glass.
Everybody who has tried understands how difficult it is to bore a hole in a strip of thin glass. The following method is said to be very successful:
Press a cube of wet clay upon the glass and then make a hole through the clay of the desired size, laying under the glass at the bottom of the hole. Then pour melted lead into the hole and it will drop through the glass, making a round aperture. The explanation is that the sudden application of heat cracks the glass in a circle corresponding in size with the hole in the clay.

Boy Scouts Prevent Train Wreck.
A train wreck was prevented recently at Klux Mills, O., through the prompt action of Troop 1, Norwood boy scouts. The train was backing along the railroad tracks when they found that a passing freight train had broken a switch. The Norwood flier was five or six minutes so the patrol divided, half of the boys ran to the station to notify the station agent while the other half ran out on the track to flag the approaching train. The boys attracted the attention of the engineer, and the train was brought to a stop within a few feet of the broken switch.

Catching a Melon Thief.
A farmer was losing his melons, and he couldn't catch the thief. One day he hid his camera in a thicket, focusing it upon a fine melon just ripe enough to pick and attaching the shutter by a dark cord to the stem. When he visited his patch a little later his melon was gone, but upon developing the film a surprising figure he knew very well appeared. A print of the picture mailed to the chief actor in the incident stopped the farmer's losses.

Old King Coal.
Old King Coal
Is a merry old soul,
And a merry old soul he is.
He burns in the grate
From early till late,
And crackles so merrily.

He weighs quite a ton,
You can poke him in fun,
And he'll laugh and burn brightly
In a glow.
But, my, how he'd heat
If you'd let him go out!
What a chilly old cinder he'd be!

An Old Idea.
"In those old times when they cut off people's heads the train of events proceeded on one modern idea."
"What was that?"
"The block system." — Baltimore American.

Early Umbrellas.
As late as 1784 Cowper, in describing the change which was then taking place in the manners and customs of all classes, mentions the umbrella in such a way as to show that, although its use was becoming much more general, yet its adoption by the lower classes was still sufficiently novel to call for comment.

Though the umbrella was not adopted by gentlemen during daylight until almost the end of the eighteenth century, there appears to have been previously a kind of transition period, during which an umbrella was kept at many coffee houses for the use of fashionable or affluent men when the light was a wet one.

Study It Out.
Here is a highly interesting paradox, which may amuse or bewilder, as the case may be. It is supposed to have been invented by Socrates. A says that all Athenians are liars. A is an Athenian and therefore a liar. Therefore his statement that all Athenians are liars is not true, and consequently all Athenians tell the truth. A is an Athenian and hence tells the truth, wherefore his statement that all Athenians are liars is true. Therefore he is a liar and his statement false, and so on.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

It is expected that our new ministers will arrive in time to preach Sunday morning.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

BEN C. CROW, pastor.
At the Christian church this Sunday morning, "With What Are Ye Clothed?" will be Mr. Crow's subject for the morning discourse. The choir will sing Annie Smith's "For I am Thy Servant" for the special musical number. We had a fine Bible School and morning service last Sunday but we want a better one still this Sunday. Will you be there?
"To Whom Shall We Go?" is the theme for the evening worship at 7:30. We are told that our music last Sunday surpassed anything we had yet attempted but we hope to do better this week. At this evening hour we will again open the service with a fine selection of Gospel Hymns and the chorus will favor us with "O! Then What Raptured Greetings," by Henry Alford. We invite you all to these services. If you have never met with us do so this Sunday.

The ladies of the Christian church have changed the date of their Bazaar from the 11th to the 17th and 18th. We promise new features of every kind for this year and many beautiful articles are all ready for the counter. Watch for the advertising matter.
