

Dundee

$15.00

Suits & Overcoats

Strictly to measure, worth $22 to $30 elsewhere. 400 samples to select from at $15 Nuf sed.

Miller The Tailor, Agt.

Yes, this is an auto hotel. And we fancy we are long headed enough to treat our patrons right.

We try to make them feel at home when they park or store their cars with us. It's good business for us to extend many little courtesies, many little extra services that please the patron.

We pay special attention to transients. We want to be known as the best auto hostelry in the state.

FITCHARD'S GARAGE
INDEPENDENCE, ORE.

Has but One Price

Largest Circulation

Increases Weekly

Gives Everybody a Square Deal

Neither Abuses nor Vilifies

Is Rated By Advertising Experts as one of "Best 20" in the state of Oregon

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Items of Interest Gathered in and About Town

Phone in the news.

Miss Opal McDevitt spent the week in Dallas.

Dr. Dunsmore has moved to Fourth and E street.

Miss Frances Cooper spent the week end in Portland.

Dr. R. E. Duganne dentist, National Bank building.

Broad cement walks have been built on the schoolhouse grounds.

Miss Leona Sperling has returned from a visit in Portland.

Mrs. D. O. Taylor has returned from a visit in southern Oregon.

A new cement walk has been put down at the Presbyterian church.

Furnished room, one block from Main Street. Inquire for A. Q. Monitor office. 12

Mrs. D. O. Taylor has returned from several weeks visit in southern Oregon.

County Surveyor Saver has resigned and Surveyor-elect Canfield gets the place.

Mrs. Butler was here from Monmouth this week the guest of her sister Mrs. Henkle.

Miss Bertha Davis of Corvallis was a guest over the Sabbath at the Dr. Butler home.

A large number of people from Independence and vicinity are courting in Dallas this week.

Mrs. Ingalls of Eugene is at the home of her sister, Mrs. Guy Knapp, during her father's illness.

Mrs. Zeebers was here from Portland this week, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mabel Ground Johnson.

Mrs. A. B. Robinson came over from Dallas Wednesday evening to attend the Auto-win club meeting.

Mrs. George Anderson and daughter Velma, of Oakland, Cal., are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. F. A. Spurr.

N. B. Kellogg, who has been visiting his uncle J. S. Bohannon, left for his home at Medford, Ore., the first of the week.

Trade where your $$ will buy 100 cents Worth of clean new merchandise. Where? at—two stores, Conkey & Walker's.

Mrs. Allyn Chase will give instructions on the violin, on Saturdays at the Crew-Johnson-Chase Studio, at the Rowkell residence. 12

Mr. Waldron, who has been in a Salem hospital for several months, was brought to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Guy Knapp, in this city last week seemingly in an unimproved condition, tho' we are glad to state that he appears some better now.

Eye-train saps the general nervous system. It is responsible for most headaches and much stomach troubles. Any man who fits glasses for vision only is yet in the nursery of optics and interior examination of the eyes as well as careful consideration of the nerve and muscle conditions is essential if accuracy is desired. Consult Dr. Lowe & Turner about your eyes when they are here next Saturday Nov. 21.

J. R. Cooper is having a serious time with paralysis.

Mrs. D. L. Hedges has been quite ill for several days.

The I. & M. boys report considerable business on the Airline line.

For Sale—Cheat seed and cheat hay. S. Muhleman, Independence. 13

J. S. Cooper spent a few days last week in the Puget Sound district.

Mrs. Hal Hibbs was in Dallas this week to see her sister, Miss Opal McDevitt.

For Sale—A business house in Independence bringing in good money.

R. J. Taylor.

Monday's Salem Capital Journal: Mrs. G. T. Walker of Independence spent the week end in Salem.

Abstracts of title made promptly, carefully and at reasonable prices, Brown & Sibley, Attorneys and Abstractors, 610 Mill St. Dallas, Oregon

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cassidy are visiting with their daughter, Mrs. G. G. Good. They live in Pennsylvania.

For Sale: California Medicated Soap.

Mrs. Martha C. Richardson, Monmouth and 7th St. 111f

Eph Young has built a nice little bungalow on his ranch near this city which will be occupied by his freeman.

Dr. H. C. Dunsmore was in Portland this week attending a meeting of the Willamette Valley Exposition Association.

The Yeomen will have a social evening for members on Thursday evening, Nov. 19, and all these are expected and urged to be present.

Mrs. Arch Sloper royally entertained the Berean class of the Baptist church at its monthly meeting. After the business meeting and missionary lesson, those present had a delightful time visiting and toasting marshmallows over the coals.

What is more attractive than a well dressed lady? If you want to be that well dressed lady, buy your Dress Goods, Coating and trimmings of the latest materials for the season. Prices very reasonable at Conkey & Walker's. (The Leading Store.)

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for Croup.

Croup scares you. The loud hoarse croupy cough, choking and gasping for breath, labored breathing, call for immediate relief. The very first doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will master the croup. It cuts the thick mucus, clears away the phlegm and opens up and eases the air passages. Williams Drug Co.

A good pair of reading glasses for $1.00 at O. A. Kreamer's.

FOR SALE

Single comb white Leg-horn; and S. L. Wyandotte cockerels for sale, Ferris and Corning strains. Price, $1.50 each until Dec. 1st. Address, Rose Lawn Poultry Yards, Independence, Ore. Phone, Main 5921.

The Monitor from this date until Jan. 1, 1916 for $1.50

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Kirkland are spending the week in Portland.

Mrs. V. J. Brown is a victim of poison oak, which is giving her much trouble.

Sloper Bros. & Cogle have had a broad cement walk built on the south side of their store building.

The Needlecraft ladies of the Presbyterian church are making arrangements for their annual bazaar, which will be held on the 4th of December.

Some improvements were made in the interior of the postoffice this week. The mail carriers were provided with new boxes and a place has been added for parcel post mail.

Call at Hotel Beaver Saturday, Nov. 21 until 3 o'clock, and let Drs. Lowe & Turner show you the new Kryptop double vision glasses without lines to catch dirt, strain the eyes or come apart. One light solid piece of glass which looks like a single pair, yet answers the purpose of two, enabling you to read or do close work and see distant objects perfectly. Remember the date.

The musical program for next Sunday at the M. E. church was handed in too late to appear in the church items in this paper, but is as follows: Morning service, Solo—"Abide With Me," J. Gronewald. A theme—"I Will Extol Thee," Choir. At the evening service there will be a solo by Florence Gebro, entitled, "The Good Shepherd" and an anthem by the choir, "Father we Bless Thee."

Women Suffer Terribly from Kidney Trouble.

Around on her feet all day—no wonder a woman has backache, headache, stiff swollen joints, weariness, poor sleep and kidney trouble. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief for these troubles. They strengthen the kidneys—take away the aches, pain and weariness. Make life worth living again. Try Foley Kidney Pills and see how much better you feel. Williams Drug Co.

W. C. T. U. NEWS

By Mrs. Lucy L. Whiteaker

The ladies held a very pleasant meeting with Mrs. Lucinda Baldwin on Monday afternoon. After the work was through refreshments were served which all enjoyed. It was thought best to change the day to Wednesday and to meet only every two weeks. Letters from the new state officers were read and cared for. Mrs. James and Mrs. Whiteaker resigned their departments, which will be filled at the next regular meeting, to be held with Mrs. Morgan next Wednesday. All are welcome.

The L. T. L. will meet as usual. The new officers will have charge of the meeting and plan for their social after Thanksgiving. The parents and friends are welcome.

WHO'S YOUR TAILOR?

Let us make your clothes. We have one of the finest all wool tailoring line of samples to be had. Also we carry a full line of good all wool suits ready to wear. Give us a call.

Conkey & Walker.

Mean of Him.

"Paw."

"Well?"

"When I promise to marry him do you want him to come and ask your consent?"

"No, not my consent; but I would like to have him trot in and tell me the good news. I sort of feel like I needed cheering up."—Houston Post.

Of Course Not.

"Women are not what they used to be." "Certainly not. They used to be girls."

TRICKED THE CZAR'S SPIES

Clever Work of a Russian Revolutionist.

Paul Oblonsky, a Russian comedian, having become interested in the cause of political liberty, left the stage and became a revolutionist. He lived in his own house in St. Petersburg and gave out that he intended to devote himself to literary work, with a view to shaping his countrymen's ideas so that they should be ready at some future period to enjoy greater liberties accorded them by the czar.

While Oblonsky was publishing his pamphlets, which were all eminently satisfactory to the government, he was engaged in disseminating literature of an entirely different kind. He made journeys from his home to different points to organize, advise and encourage different secret societies that represented the most radical element of the revolution. Of course the day came when he was reported to the police as a suspect, but so wary had he been that the chief would not believe he was a revolutionist.

One day a telegram came to the police at St. Petersburg that a meeting of revolutionists had been broken up at Moscow and a man resembling Paul Oblonsky had got away. The chief sent at once to Oblonsky's house to discover if he was at home. The man who went on the errand knew Oblonsky by sight and as he approached the house saw him sitting at an open window. He returned and reported the fact to his superior.

Not long after this a spy of the government in Warsaw reported that Oblonsky was one of a band of conspirators, of which he (the spy) was also a member. Still doubting the truth of information implicating a man who had defended the government, the chief sent the same messenger he had used before to Oblonsky's house. On the way the messenger met Oblonsky in a carriage driving with his sister. The chief was puzzled. Those who use spies are never certain but that they are spies of the enemy. However, he telegraphed orders that if at any time Oblonsky was seen in Warsaw the occurrence be at once reported. In a few days a telegram came announcing that Oblonsky had been seen entering that city from the suburbs in a droshky. The informant was not in the pay of the government; therefore Oblonsky was not followed. The chief sent one of his best men at once to Oblonsky's house, directing him to make sure whether or no Oblonsky was there. He was to go in and speak with him. Oblonsky had been seen entering Warsaw an hour before the receipt of the telegram. He surely would not have had time to return before the official could get to his house. As the messenger approached he looked up at the window where Oblonsky was accustomed to read or write, but he was not there. "This time," muttered the official, "we have caught him away from home." Entering the house he found Oblonsky's old mother.

"I have called," he said, "to get a copy of your son's last political pamphlet for the chief of police. It is reported that there are in it some features objectionable to the government."

"Indeed," said the old lady, "I will call my son, who will hand you one himself." Thereupon she went up stairs, and who should come down but Oblonsky himself, with the pamphlet in his hand. The official wished him good day, took the pamphlet and returned to the chief. Immediately an order was sent to Warsaw to send the person who had seen Oblonsky entering the city to St. Petersburg. A man arrived the next day who declared that he knew Oblonsky well, and he had certainly seen him as he had reported.

The chief was now satisfied that there had been a mistake.

One morning an official occupying a high position in the government was found murdered in his office. Among those reported to have left the office shortly before the finding of the body was Oblonsky. For the first time the chief began to believe that Oblonsky was a revolutionist, and if so he must be one of the most adroit as well as most dangerous of the lot. The chief did not order Oblonsky's arrest, but surrounded his house with spies. They reported that every morning and afternoon Oblonsky sat at his window.

The official found the suspected man's mother and sister, who declared that Oblonsky was in his room, writing an important article in defense of the government and had given orders that he was not to be interrupted. The official brushed past them and went up stairs to the room. There sat Oblonsky, but not a whit startled at the interruption, for he did not even look up. He was a dumpty, the exact image of Oblonsky. Oblonsky had left St. Petersburg the morning of the assassination. The moment the official saw the dumpty he remembered having seen Oblonsky on the same stage in a play wherein it was necessary to make him appear there while absent changing his costume. For this purpose a lay figure had been constructed so nearly like the actor that the closest scrutiny from the audience could not detect the fraud. The figure had represented the revolutionist at his writing desk on the occasion of his having been seen driving both in St. Petersburg and Warsaw. His sister had taken it to Warsaw for the purpose of misleading the police.

PUBLIC SALE!

Dairy Cows, Heifers and Bulls

Having decided to engage exclusively in the breeding of Registered Jersey Cattle, I will, on

Wednesday, Nov. 18, at my farm, Derry Station, 1 mile east of Rickreel, Polk Co., Ore., sell to the highest bidders the following described animals:

11 head of High Grade Jersey Milk Cows

1 head of Large Jersey-Durham Milk Cows

3 head of Yearling Heifers

10 head of Heifers and Heifer Calves

1 Registered Jersey Bull, 2 years old and carrying the blood of W. O. Morrow's champion cow

2 Registered Jersey Bull calves, carrying the blood of world's champion cows

6 head of Registered Duroc-Jersey Boars

This is one of the best grade herds in Oregon, all cows having been carefully selected and subjected to lactation tests by O. A. C. Dairy Department representatives. All cows are good producers and high testers, and the herd contains no culms or scrubs.

This will be a complete dis-crasal sale of all my grade cows; nothing will be retained. All animals over 1 year old were

TUBERCULIN TESTED

State Veterinarian W. H. Lytle on Oct. 12, 1914 and pronounced healthy; no contagious abortion in herd.

Terms—A discount of 5 percent will be allowed if cash payments are made on day of sale. Responsible parties desiring one year's credit, with bankable note drawing 8 percent interest, should make advance arrangements with Dallas City Bank, Dallas, Ore.

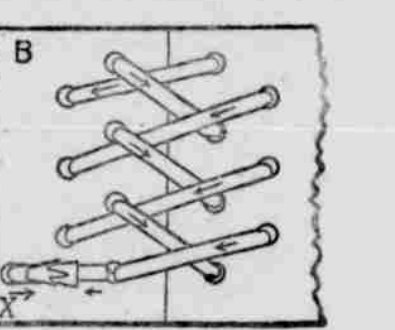

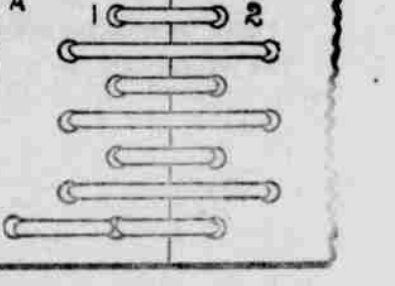

Sale to start at 11 a. m. Free lunch at noon. For further particulars, address C. N. McARTHUR, Bretton Apartments, Portland, Ore.

By as CCCCCC, to understand what this means it may be said that a thirty-two foot pipe vibrates sixteen times a second at its lowest note (CCCCC), and this is very near the point below which vibrations cease to form a continuous sound, while a 128 foot pipe vibrates but four times a second when producing its lowest sound. It was found, however, that a group of pipes giving overtones could be arranged to produce when sounded together a synthetic tone, and by this means stops producing the effect of a sixty-four foot pipe have been built without requiring the use of a pipe of that length, and now in the same way this monster 128 foot stop has appeared, which is described as "a mighty atmospheric throeb of most awesome majesty." Indeed, it would seem that its tones must be rather felt than heard.

Belts and Bolt Lacing.

Mechanics have different ways of lacing a belt, but for rawhide lacing the method shown herewith is good. The figure illustrates a single lacing suitable for light belts. A shows the pulley side of the belt and B the outside. It will be noticed that the lacing is straight with the belt on the pulley side. This is one rule that should always be observed in lacing a belt.

The holes should not be punched larger than necessary. The first row should be about one and a half times the thickness of the belt from the end

METHOD OF SINGLE LACING A LIGHT BELT.

To lace a belt as shown stick one end of the lace through hole 1, the other through hole 2, then draw the ends of the lacing through so that they will be of equal length on the outside of the belt. Then thread each end alternately through the proper hole in the direction shown by the arrows in B. On the outside of the belt the short lap should extend over the long one as illustrated. This holds the long lap down, making a flat, neat appearance. Fasten the ends as shown at X.

A Microscopic Motor.

A miniature electric motor was recently on exhibition at the University of North Dakota. Its construction occupied its maker during his spare time for little more than a month. The dimensions of the motor are as follows: Length, .563 inch; height, .0291 inch; width, .396 inch; diameter of armature, .071 inch, and diameter of commutator, .0196 inch. The little armature weighs four grains and has six slots and six commutator segments. Energy for the operation of this tiny power unit is supplied by a 2.5 volt battery. It performs work as thoroughly and as dependably as the best of larger and more powerful motors.

POPULAR MECHANICS

The Lowest Organ Note.

A most remarkable accomplishment in the acoustics of music, as told by Science Spectator, is the installation of a 128 foot stop in an organ in Lowell, Mass., which produces a tone an octave lower than has ever been known before and which is called "the musical-