

A NIBBLE of "Right-Cut" gives you more good tobacco taste and substance than a cheekful of the old kind. It's the Real Tobacco Chew—and if you like tobacco you'll know it by the time you finish your first pouch. Sappy, mellow, rich tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough. And the taste lasts.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, not fine and short ahead so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

CLOSURE IN CONGRESS.

The Rule of "the Previous Question" in the Lower House.

"Closure" is our word "closure." Gallicized. So far as its use in parliamentary bodies is concerned, Webster defines "closure" as follows: "A method of putting an end to debate and securing an immediate vote upon a measure before a legislative body. It is similar in effect to the previous question."

In the house "the previous question," our name for closure or closure, has been in use almost from the beginning and is of high privilege—only two other motions—"To adjourn" and "To lay on the table"—ranking it. With the large house-membership we could not go very far without it. Mr. Speaker Reed once truthfully said, "All the rules of the house are intended to aid in the transaction of business, not to retard it." Most assuredly "the previous question"—that is, Shall the main question now be put?—tends to expedite the transaction of business. When Speaker Muhlenberg called the first house to order he presided over fifty-six members—Rhode Island and North Carolina not then being in the Union.

With so few members there was no necessity for "the previous question." In the earlier day there was time sufficient for the handful of members to talk to their hearts' content. The house is now composed of 435 members, two territorial delegates, two commissioners from the Philippines and one from Porto Rico. It is patent that every member cannot speak at libitum.

When we conclude that there has been a quantum sufficit of debate, some member, usually the member having the bill in charge, moves the previous question. If that motion prevails the bill is immediately voted on. If the motion for the previous question is defeated the control of the bill swings to the leader of the opposition to the bill.

"The previous question" is not in order in the committee of the whole or in the committee of the whole house on the state of the Union.—Cham Clark in North American Review

Saved by Fireflies.

The gigantic tropical fireflies which swarm in the forests and canebrakes of most of the low lying West Indian islands once proved the salvation of the city of Santo Domingo. A body of buccaners, headed by the notorious Thomas Cavendish, had laid all their plans for a descent upon the place, intending to massacre the inhabitants and carry away all the treasure they conveniently could, and had actually put off their boats for that purpose. As they approached the land, however, rowing with muffled oars, they were greatly surprised to see an infinite number of moving lights in the woods which fringed the bayou up which they had to proceed, and, concluding that the Spaniards knew of their approach, they put about and regained their ship without attempting to land.
