

..For Monday Only..

Drummer's Samples of Ladies' Embroidered Handkerchiefs--no two alike.

We purchased the entire lot but even at that there will not be enough to go around. Grouped in three prices for quick selling.

EMBROIDERED HANDKERCHIEFS, white and colored embroidery, regular 15c values, special white they last.....

9c

Embroidered Handkerchiefs, narrow and wide hems, white and dainty colored embroidery, also with lace edge, regular up to 25c values, special white they last.....

12 1/2 = 2c

Embroidered Handkerchiefs in all pure linen, also fine swiss, narrow and wide hems, dainty white and colored embroidered, a great variety of designs, including Armenian lace and edging, regular 35c values, special.....

19c

See Window Display

EDDY & ELLIOTT

SUCCESSORS TO WETHERBEE & JONES

Just received—A NEW LOT OF CROCKERY, GLASSWARE AND GRANITWARE 10 and 15c each.

Matches went up $1 per case, but we still sell them at 3 boxes for 10 cents.

- THE FAIR -
5, 10, 15c Store
Independence, Oregon

Willamette Valley Lumber Co.
MONMOUTH, OREGON

LOOK OVER OUR LUMBER

and you will be surprised at the absence of large unsightly knots and knot holes. Put it to any test you please and you'll find it come up to requirements. We handle the better grades and you'll do well to use only those kinds. We can prove they are the cheapest in the end.

Willamette Valley Soft Yellow Fir and Hemlock Lumber

Nominating Blank, Popular Voting Contest

1916

Address.....
As a lady worthy to become a candidate in your Popular Voting Contest, I present this name with the distinct understanding and agreement that the manager of the paper will not divulge my name.
This does not obligate me in any way whatever.

Signed.....

Address.....

25 VOTE COUPON

Send this Coupon to The Independence Monitor office within fifteen days from date and it will count twenty-five votes. No money required with this Coupon.

VOTE FOR.....

Dated January 30, 1916

The Monitor For News

All the Time

Why have wet feet when you can buy rubbers and rubber boots so cheap at Conkey & Walker's.

Buy a good warm Mackinaw or heavy sweater coats while you can buy them right at Conkey & Walker's.

R. L. Taines went to San Francisco last Saturday—not to get a drink for Dick don't drink—but to transact some business of importance.

While there is lots of knitting and crocheting going on, you will find your supply of threads and yarns at Conkey & Walker's.

Mrs. G. M. Missall acted as hostess to a number of friends Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her mother who was 72 years old on that day.

Miss Toney of McMinnville, an experienced saleslady, has accepted a position with Eddy & Elliott and will commence work next Tuesday.

Don't forget that the American Restaurant is now located one door north of the Isis Theatre, where old patrons and new are made welcome.

There is a coupon on this page good for 25 votes in the Merchants' Monitor piano contest. Save it for one of the contestants. They will appreciate it.

Eddy & Elliott have a special sale of embroidered handkerchiefs Monday that will undoubtedly cause their store to be an attractive place for the women on that date.

The Monitor and E. N. Townsend are so arranging the interior of the building in which they are located, that nobody will get shaved when they want printing done or vice versa.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruel Sunday morning. "Grandpa" and "Grandma" Jones are enjoying their new titles with much dignity.

E. E. Tripp, Peter Kurr, Eley Fluke, C. J. Sharp, J. W. Richardson and W. S. Kurre went to Salem Tuesday night where they attended a district meeting of the Knights of Pythias.

E. E. Tripp reports the sale of a part of the Witeaker estate ranch, two miles north of Independence, to Edward Rex. Mr. Rex is a prosperous farmer living near the above land and he paid spot cash for same.

Dr. C. P. Fryer, after a prolonged visit with his parents T. J. Fryer and the late Mary M. Fryer, left Monday for his home in Bradfordville, Kentucky. He will probably be gone one year and will return and locate in the West.

Father L. Forget, who has been assigned to the Independence parish, has arrived and is now looking after the spiritual welfare of the Catholic population. This church should be congratulated upon obtaining a priest like Father Forget who makes friends everywhere, regardless of creed.

How a Family Climbed the Social Ladder

By EUNICE BLAKE

In the town of L. in the Berkshire hills, where the country residences of fashionable people shone in the summer sun, dwelt Mrs. O'Brien and her daughter, Marguerite. The family name had been O'Brien, but when its founder left his widow and daughter a couple of million dollars, made in a western gold mine, and they departed for the Atlantic coast to begin to climb a social greased pole they Frenchified it into O'Brien, and the daughter, who had been named for her native state, Missouri, became Marguerite.

The O'Briens had built a palatial residence in L. and begun their climbing, but the pole had been so well greased that they had made very little headway. One morning at a tennis tournament Marguerite suddenly caught her breath, then said in a low tone to her mother:

"Oh, my goodness gracious, if there ain't Tom Oldershaw!"
Several years before, when the O'Briens had not become O'Briens and were living on a small ranch in the west, a young Englishman, a neighbor of theirs, had fallen in love with Miss O'Brien. Missouri was a pretty girl and knew how to captivate a man. Oldershaw was a refined fellow, and nothing saved him from a marriage with Missouri but the fact that news came that Mr. O'Brien had "struck it rich." Visions of being wealthy had induced the girl to turn down Mr. Oldershaw, and she had never seen him since the evening when she had given him his quietus.

And now here he was at L. hobnobbing with the elite of the place, remembering them as the O'Briens, they having become the O'Briens, and Missouri had become Marguerite. And how had this Britisher, who when they had known him was riding about like a common cowboy in woolen shirt and trousers in boots, suddenly become a gentleman in fashionable attire? There were two shocks, the one a fact that he would give away their change of name, the other that he had an entree to the circle from which they were excluded. Besides, it at once occurred to Marguerite that she might have made the mistake of her life in throwing him over her shoulder.

The meeting with the O'Briens, as she still supposed them to be, was as much of a shock to Missouri's former lover as it was to her. Put a man in a strange country where he sees no women of his own station and there is no folly he may not commit with one of another class. Thus Oldershaw had begun to recover from his infatuation for Missouri as soon as separated from her and when restored to his proper social sphere had shuddered at his narrow escape. As soon as he caught sight of the mother and daughter dressed in the latest fashion the situation flashed upon him. They were in L. That meant that they were ambitious to become members of the social swim. He would be called upon to help them, and since his disfigurement he knew very well that they had no place there.

But Oldershaw was true blue. They had been so far his friends that he had offered his hand to Missouri. Now that the scene had changed he would not go back on them. He marched straight up to them and greeted them, though with embarrassment. Marguerite gave him one of those looks that in the wild west had enslaved him, but saw that now it was without effect. During the interview she slid dexterously from Missouri to Marguerite and from Miss O'Brien to Miss O'Brien.

Oldershaw's name had also changed in the meanwhile. His father, who was an English baronet, had died, and the son was now Sir Thomas Oldershaw. However, his family, which was a very old one of extremely blue blood, was poor, and the young man's income was barely enough to enable him to maintain his social position. As soon as Marguerite O'Brien learned of the change she was smitten with regret. Had she accepted him when he was a ranchman she would now have been Lady Oldershaw and her fortune would have enabled the two to climb to the very top of the social pole.

She would have hoped that it was not too late had she not been made to understand, by the reception of the look by which she wished to test her power over Oldershaw that it had vanished.

Ready Mixed Poultry Foods!

Standard Food for Poultry of All Ages for All Purposes. Specially Mixed and Balanced Chick Food, Developing Food, Scratching Food.

Chick Starter	10 lbs	35c
Chick Feed	10 lbs	35c	100 lbs $3.00
Developing Feed	10 lbs	35c	80 lbs 2.25
Scratch Feed	10 lbs	25c	100 lbs 2.25
Egg grain	-	-	100 lbs 2.25
Bone	10 lbs	30c	100 lbs 2.75
Grit	10 lbs	15c	100 lbs 1.00
Eastern Oyster Shell	10 lbs	20c	100 lbs 1.25
Charcoal	10 lbs	50c	50 lbs 1.75
Oil Meal	10 lbs	25c	100 lbs 2.00

Mill Feed Always in stock. We have Burbank's, Ferry's, Morse's and Lilly's seeds.

The Independence Seed and Feed Store.

WE HAVE IT

Your Help Appreciated

All votes and subscriptions for The Monitor will be greatly appreciated as I have entered the contest and am working very hard.

Miss Christina Zerr,
American Restaurant.

(paid ad) 23

One iron bedstead, steel springs and cotton mattress for sale at the American restaurant

Candy and pie sale at Calbreath & Jones' grocery, Saturday, Jan. 29, by T. E. C. 23

In looking for a Suit of Clothes for men and boys or young men, just go to Conkey & Walker's. They have something in that line that will suit you. One coat and vest, and two pairs of pants for the small price on one pair.

Button men produce a famine in buttons unless dyes are obtained. We may have to resort to sewing ourselves up.

China may not be ready for a republic, but it certainly has one first class politician in the person of Yuan Shih Kai.

The inquiry into the mental condition of "mashers" proposed by a New York magistrate would seem to be superfluous. They haven't any.

The man who invented Esperanto now says he has a new religion which is for all the world. Why doesn't he get the world to adopt Esperanto first?

The government is now encouraging the formation of citizens' rifle clubs. There are other kinds of rifling that flourish without any encouragement.

Somebody has discovered that it was Demosthenes who originated the phrase, "Shew us war." But does any orator expect to stop and give him credit for it?

BUTTER WRAPPERS

The Law Says They Must Be Printed or So Stamped as to Conform to Law

$1.00 per Hundred

At

Monitor Office

WANTED!

All your Old Gold and Silver, Rings, Pins, Watch Cases, Chains, etc.

Will pay you cash. Rowe's Jewelry Store "Where a Dollar Does its Duty"

Miller The Tailor has his new fall line of samples in. Come and see them. The best in the market at lowest prices. Fit or no sale.

For painting and paper-hanging, call Main 6912. 91f H. Sauer.

Wood, Gravel and Sediment, delivered. 13tr F. E. Rider.

Good ash, fir and maple wood for sale. 491f Homer Hill.

Call J. N. Ellsworth, the Veterinarian, corner of 4th and D streets. Phone 3122. 31f

A Crackerjack Suit to measure at $15. Can't be beat. Fit or no sale.

Miller The Tailor.

PAY UP

Having sold my grocery, all parties owing me are requested to call at the store and settle. L. J. Reeves.

Pedigree Duroc Jersey Boar For Sale—Sure stock getter. Price reasonable, or will accept trade in stock. Apply, Wigrich Ranch, Independence, Ore. Phone 1702 Farm. 151f

DOG NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that all dogs will be prohibited from running at large in the city after Feb. 1, 1916. By order of the city council. F. O. Parker, City Marshal.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on and after February 1st, meat will be cash. This means everybody. We will keep no book accounts and all deliveries will be C. O. D. The Peoples' Market. 23 By A. Nelson, Prop.

Found—Bunch of keys. Owner to pay for this ad, 15c. 23