

SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Polk County, Depart. No. 2.
Alice A. Stufflebean, Plaintiff

vs.

Charles G. Stufflebean, Defendant.
To Charles G. Stufflebean, the above named defendant.

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby required to answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled Court and Suit within six weeks from the date of the first publication of this Summons, to-wit: On or before the 22nd day of July, 1916; and if you fail to answer the said complaint for want thereof the plaintiff will apply to said Court for the relief in said complaint demanded, to-wit: For a decree dissolving the marriage contract now existing between you and the plaintiff; that the care, custody and control of the minor children therein named, Lewis H., Jessie V. and Nina E. Stufflebean, be awarded to the plaintiff; for her costs and disbursements in said suit and for such further and other relief as to equity seemeth just.

This summons, by order of the Hon. H. H. Belt, Judge of the above entitled court, made and dated at Chambers on the 7th day of June, 1916, at the City of Dallas, Oregon, is served upon you by the publication thereof for a period of six consecutive weeks immediately prior to the 22nd day of July, 1916, in the Independence Monitor, a newspaper of general weekly circulation and published at Independence in Polk County, Oregon. The date of the first publication of this Summons is June 9, 1916, and the date of the last publication will be July 21, 1916.

B. F. SWOPE,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon in and for the County of Polk, Department No. 2.
Rachel B. Miller, Plaintiff.

vs.

Charles F. Miller, Defendant.
To Charles F. Miller, defendant above named:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled court and suit on or before six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, to-wit: on or before the 21st day of July, 1916, that being the date of the last publication of said summons herein, and if you fail to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will take a decree against you for all and singular the relief prayed for in plaintiff's complaint, and particularly a decree forever annulling and dissolving the marriage contract now and heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant, and for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem just and equitable.

This summons is published in the Independence Monitor, a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in Independence, Polk County, Oregon, by order of the Honorable Circuit Court above named dated June 5th, 1916, once each week for six consecutive and successive weeks, the first publication thereof being in the issue of said newspaper dated June 9th, 1916, and the last publication thereof being in the issue of said newspaper dated July 21st, 1916.

WALTER L. TOOME, Jr.,
Attorney for the Plaintiff.

THE SOCIAL WORLD

BY VIRGINIA SOUTHERN

The trees wave in the breeze, all Earth does as she pleases; We know the bees are humming This drowsy afternoon; The birds are thru-a-nesting, fledglings their wings are testing And joy to all is coming. For 'tis June, sweet June.
—Sadie Elizabeth Myers.

The races and their attendant festivities have provided nearly all the amusement for the social calendar this week. Clubs have postponed their regular meetings and there has been much informal entertaining for out of town guests. There have been numerous informal luncheons preceding the races and dinner parties have concluded the day's pleasure.

Many ladies, too, have devoted much time this week decorating their machines for the automobile parade, and the week as a whole has been brimful of pleasurable events.

TATTLING CLUB PICNICS

Last Sunday being an ideal day called forth many picnic parties. One of the most delightful of these events was enjoyed by the members of the Tattling club. The ladies dispensed with tating and prepared an excellent picnic luncheon, inviting the men to share the pleasures of the day with them.

The party left in three machines at 8 o'clock a. m. and returned at 7 p. m., and during the day visited Woodburn, Mount Angel, Silverton, Salem and other places.

NEEDLECRAFT

The Needlecrafters spent a most pleasant afternoon session at the home of Mrs. Bice last Thursday.

The Needlecrafters are an enthusiastic coterie and never do things by halves, and on this occasion they indulged in the excellent luncheon served by the hostess as heartily as they plied the needle.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Miss Pauline Perry invited twenty-five guests on Wednesday of last week to celebrate her eighth birthday with her at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Mattison, on Monmouth street.

Childhood games furnished plenty of merriment for the jolly party.

The table was centered with a large birthday cake bearing eight pink candles, the other decorations blending with the delicate pink glow of the tapers. A three course luncheon was served to the happy children, who remembered the little hostess with many beautiful gifts and many sincere wishes for many more such happy birthdays.

The following article clipped from Sunday's Oregonian will interest Mrs. Campbell's many friends here, as she has just been visiting her father, T. J. Fryer of this city:

Mrs. Mildred Campbell will leave for New York today, taking the steamer from there on June 17 for England, where she hopes occasionally to be able to see her husband, Capt. T. C. Campbell of the famous Western Scouts Regiment, now somewhere in France. Mrs. Campbell has lived for the past few years in Canada, but is an American, having been born in this state and numbers among her relatives many of the pioneers of Oregon.

She is a granddaughter of the late Judge A. H. Frier, and related to the Cottles, McCormicks, Parmenters, Mulkeys, Percivals and many of the first settlers of the state.

Under the name of "M. See" Mrs. Campbell has written many humorous articles, her satires on the sports of the far north, as viewed by one from the south, perhaps being the most clever. She expects in some way to help in this war. She is particularly interested in the humane work of the Blue Cross.

Mrs. Campbell's father is a veteran of the civil war and her brother fought in the Spanish-American war.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running nose or throat, and when it is inflamed in the ear, you have a deafness. Catarrhal Deafness is the result. Catarrhal Deafness can be cured and this tube restored to its normal condition. Hearing will be restored forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. HALL'S CATARRH CURE acts upon the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH CURE. Circulars free. All Druggists. H. J. CHASE & CO., Toledo, O.

Hotel Insurance Against Robbery.

At a well known hotel in Venice it is the practice to charge guests 25 centimes per diem for insurance against fire and robbery, the amount covered for this premium being 1,500 francs. This is a very convenient arrangement, as robbery is far from uncommon in Italy. — London Truth.

Billy, Do.

As William bent over her fair face he whispered, "Darling, if I should ask you in French if I might kiss you, what would you say?"

Nancy, smiling up her beauty knew the edge of the French language, exclaimed, "Billet doux." — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

PRESBYTERIAN

Dr. Bell will preach morning and evening. It is much desired that there be a full attendance of the members of the church in the morning as matters of much importance to the church are to be considered. In the evening Dr. Bell will speak on "Athens" presenting reminiscences of his experiences during his travels thru Greece a few years ago. The public is most cordially invited.

Sam and Sue

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Sam Horton was a young butcher. He was short and squat and twenty-two years old. He had a waddle like a goose when he walked. He moved over from the town of Grand Ledge to the town of Eaton Rapids and opened a butcher shop.

Sue Smith had got eighteen years old. She was a good looking girl, but pert to the point of impudence.

Sam brought a bobtailed dog over from Grand Ledge with him.

Miss Sue owned a cross-eyed cat. She was not a handsome feline, but she was an affectionate one. Unlike most cats, she would follow her mistress about town like a loving dog. When Sue Smith heard that a new butcher had come to town and that he was a young man who would probably be looking around for a wife she did not wait long before she presented herself at the shop and asked for a juicy piece of meat for her companion. The cat, of course, followed her. She had also heard the news, and she hoped for a change from the old butcher.

While the young butcher was smiling and bowing and filling the order and saying to himself that a good looking girl stood before him his bobtailed dog entered the shop. There was a growl and a snarl, and cross-eyed cat, bobtailed dog, girl and butcher and sawdust seemed to be all mixed up. The row lasted until the cat flew out, and then Sue Smith turned to the butcher and said:

"I would like to burn your dog, sir," exclaimed Miss Sue as she flashed the young man a look of indignation.

"Oh, as to that," he replied with a faint smile, "your old cat may suddenly disappear off the earth."

And that was how her cross-eyed cat and his bobtailed dog first met, and there were no cooling doves around to make them remember the first meeting with pleasure. Miss Sue went around telling all her friends that the new butcher not only had the heart of a fiend, but he dared stand right up to her and sass back.

During that year they met time after time. Sometimes the dog and the cat were along, and sometimes they were not. When they were not there was just as much cause for sarcastic words as when they were. For instance, when the butcher was about to pass Miss Smith's gate one day and Miss Sue was hanging over it he lifted his hat and made a grand bow and said:

"I trust, Miss Smith, that your old cat is dead and buried."

"Sir," she replied, wanting to hit him in a new place this time, "I was watching your walk as you came up the street. It is not a walk; it is a waddle. You walk like a goose, sir."

And they clared at each other and glared and glared, and Sam finally passed on, and Sue went into the house with tears in her eyes, to be asked by her mother:

"What's happened now?"

"It's that Sam Horton. He had the cheek, after what I have said about him, to accept an invitation to Molly Hard's birthday party last night. Yes, he was there. Not only was he there, but Molly had several good words for him. Oh, how I hate him!"

"There, there, daughter. Don't get so worked up about it," soothed the mother. "This is a strange world, and it wouldn't be so very strange if love came to you both by and by."

"Never!" was the terrible reply. Sam Horton was hurt by having his waddle called a waddle, but there was nobody to console him. Therefore as he sawed a beef bone in two he consoled himself by saying:

"Damn that Smith girl! I will marry her or die!"

One day Sam Horton had gone out into the country with his horse and wagon to buy a calf. On that same day Miss Sue Smith had taken a walk about a mile and sat down on the bank of the river. She was a bit worried over the young butcher. It was becoming more and more difficult for her to find hard words to apply to him. When last he had passed her his face almost wore a smile.

She was meditating very deeply on this weighty subject when Sam and his cart and calf came in sight of the road. He was driving like all butchers drive. The horse was at his best trot, and the driver was looking around to view the landscape. That horse was headed in an almost straight line for the girl. She saw it and gasped. She saw it and hastily rose up and rather more hastily the treacherous soil under her feet crumbled away, and she went tumbling down the bank and landed in the river with a great splash. She did not know when he came limping after her. She did not know when he dived after her and crawled up the bank with her dripping form in his arms. She did not know when he arrived at her father's gate with the cheerful calf and the half drowned girl in his cart.

In fact, Miss Sue Smith was not much on the know for a good many hours and then came back to her normal condition to hear her mother say to her father:

"There! That settles it. You see if they aren't married within six months. All that was needed was something like this!"

And the dog and cat lived happy together forever more.

"SPEAR HEAD" AN OLD TIME FAVORITE

The Most Popular Chew for a Third of a Century

PURE, RICH, FRUITY-SWEET

The man who chews gets by far the most wholesome enjoyment and satisfaction out of tobacco, especially if he chews plug tobacco. The rich juices of the leaf are retained in good plugs better than in any other form. For more than a generation Spear Head has held first place as the favorite high-grade plug chewing tobacco.

This unique distinction is due solely to the wonderful quality and flavor of Spear Head—the richest, mellowest, tastiest chew in the whole world.

Spear Head is the choicest of all red Burley, hand-stemmed and made into mellow-sweet plugs in a perfectly clean, most sanitary factory.

You can't chew the flavor out of Spear Head, because it's a part of the tobacco. That rich, ripe, red Burley taste keeps on pleasing you as long as you keep on chewing.

Chew Spear Head and you'll be chewing the purest and most satisfying tobacco that it's possible to make. In 10c cuts, wrapped in wax paper.

No Room for Argument.

If you are accustomed to using ordinary plug tobacco, you certainly are having a real treat when you use Spear Head. You know that you are very good and also a real expert when you use Spear Head. You know that you are very good and also a real expert when you use Spear Head. You know that you are very good and also a real expert when you use Spear Head.
