Letters from The People

SAYS THAT ROUND-UP IS CRUEL

Editor Monitor—I went to the Pendleton Round-Up. It was really awfully brutal. They had the Bull Dogging and roping the steer. When they roped him some times they would turn him head over heels. Many a steer had his horn torn out by the roots and others had the horny part torn clear off. They have one big arena, then a smaller one inside of that. They would drag some of the steers around and every other bump would hit one of those bleeding horns on a post. In the wild horse races, the horses were lassoed, then they were ridden. Now imagine these horses that had never had so much as a halter on them. Two were killed right there before our eyes. When they ran together, one broke his neck and the other his leg. At night in "Happy Canyon" they had scenes representing Frontier days and the sham "Matador" like the old days of Spain—a bull with men waving red rags to tease him. An Independence Girl.

SUNNY SIDE OF LIFE WHERE'S DEACON JONES

Fred Damm, writing from Richland, Kansas, tells the story of a country newspaper editor, presumably in Kansas, who visited a large city just after President McKinley was shot. The editor took a great interest in newspaper bulletins informing the public of the president's condition.

Not long after the editor's return home, Deacon Jones, the village celebrity, was taken seriously ill, and the editor promptly posted the following bulletins:

- 10:00 a. m. Deacon Jones no better.
  - 11:00 a. m. Deacon Jones has a relapse.
  - 12:30 p. m. Deacon Jones failing, pulse weaker.
  - 2:15 p. m. Deacon Jones' family summoned.
  - 3:15 p. m. Deacon Jones dead and gone to Heaven.
- Later in the afternoon a drummer happening along, stopped in front of the editor's bulletin board and added the following:
- 4:10 p. m. Great excitement in Heaven. Deacon Jones has not arrived. The worst is feared.

PRISON DE LUXE.

Wrongdoers in Illinois to Have Modern Conveniences.

EACH CELL OUTSIDE ROOM.

New Up-to-Date Penitentiary For Erring Population of That State Will Cost $3,500,000—Being Built on a Tract of 2,193 Acres.

Joliet, Ill.—Prison cells de luxe—each an outside room with carefully washed air, glass roofs and all modern conveniences—get your orders in early.

That is what the state of Illinois is providing for its erring population. If there is anything in modern penal architecture that has been overlooked the authorities are anxious to know what it is.

Each cell will be an outside one, because the cell houses are to be circular in form. The new penitentiary is being built on a tract of 2,193 acres four miles from the present prison, northwest of Joliet. It is to cost $3,500,000, and the foundations of one cell house have just been laid.

The plan contemplates eight circular cell houses around a central dining hall, with which each will be connected by a corridor. Each cell house is to be 150 feet in diameter and to accommodate 250 prisoners. Every cell will be an "outside" cell, and its window will open on the walled-in prison yard. Its inner front will be glassed in, making each cell a room.

In the center of the cell house will be an observation tower. In this a guard constantly will be on watch. From his position near the center of the tower he will be able to command a view of every cell in the circular building. He will keep watch through slits from a darkened interior, and the prisoners will not know which ones are under suspicion.

The roof of the cell house will be of glass. An elaborate ventilating system will be installed. The air will be washed and heated. Sunshine will reach every cell. The windows will have steel bars on the inside of the glass casement and on the outside also. To break out a convict would have to saw through both sets of bars while under constant observation.

All the cell houses will be connected with the administration building at the entrance by underground tunnels, which can be instantly closed in case of an outbreak.

On one side of the group of cell houses will be the chapel and on the other the hospital. Not far away will be the shops and between the shops and the walls the pumping plant. The dwellings of the warden and assistant warden will be outside the wall near the administration building.

LOST MEMORY AT FIRE.

After the Iroquois Disaster Simmons Forgot His Past Life.

Binghamton, N. Y.—After being given up as dead thirteen years, Milton Simmons of Kokomo, Ind., real estate dealer, has returned to his mother, Mrs. Cecelia Simmons of Syracuse.

Simmons tells a remarkable story of his loss of memory resulting from the Iroquois fire in Chicago. He was operating a spot light in the balcony when the fire broke out, and he was plunged sixty feet on to the bodies below, but was rescued. The fall caused loss of memory, and after two months in a hospital he recovered, going to Tipton, Ind., where he engaged in business and married. Later he went into the real estate business in Kokomo, where he now resides.

Increasing pressure on the brain from the injury resulted in the necessity for an operation last winter, and following this he gradually regained memory of his mother and his former life.

RELATIVES FIND GRAVE.

After a Search of Seventy-eight Years Marker is Discovered.

Danville, Ill.—After a search of seventy-eight years by near relatives the body of Elijah Brown, who left Nashville, Tenn., in 1835 for Illinois, was found recently near Alton, Ill.

Brown was a well known Baptist preacher in Tennessee at that time and started overland to northern Illinois with his wife and seven children, but died en route, and his body was buried by the Wayside.

A marker was made for the grave, but the place was forgotten. The marble slab was broken, but the name and date of death in 1838 made identification possible.

WEDDING MONEY TO POOR.

New Orleans Couple Put Aside an Elaborate Affair For Charity.

New Orleans.—New Orleans had a novel wedding recently when Miss Bella Julia Stern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stern, prominent in business and social circles, was married to Robert Frederick of Pittsburgh at the bride's home.

No big affair was had, and the one which was planned was given up when the bride and groom decided that they would forego the spending of money on a wedding, but give it instead to the poor of the city.

Accompanied by her mother, a noted local charity worker, Mrs. Frederick went to the poorer sections and gave baskets of food to the poor, milk to sick babies and the like, her husband accompanying.
