QUESTION IS SETTLED

America Will Take Over the Philippines.

NOT ONE, BUT ALL OF THEM

If Spain Refuses, Hostilities Will Be Resumed and We Will Seize the Archipelago.

Paris, Nov. 1.—While the Spanish and American peace commissioners now stand on the threshold of the Philippine question, it seems probable, in the light of this hour, that the United States will take over the entire archipelago.

During the four days just passed, those in touch with, though possibly not in the confidence of the commissioners have felt the concentration of tenders toward the standpoint indicated as likely to be occupied by the United States commissioners at Tuesday's session of the two commissions.

In 1897 Spain issued, by royal decree, bonds in the sum of $40,000,000, to which were pledged the revenues of the Philippines, and to which the Spanish national guarantee was added. From these $40,000,000 of obligations, Spain realized $38,000,000 in cash. These $38,000,000 represent the Philippine debt, which is entirely outside of the $500,000,000 of the so-called Philippine and Spanish debt.

The conditions also differ, the Philippine debt having been created by royal decree because the archipelago was not a parliamentary colony, while the so-called Cuban debt was created by law. The difference raises the question of the non-responsibility of the Philippines under which its resources were pledged.

Should the United States absorb the Philippines, none but officials yet know whether they will assume a part or all of this debt, or more than the Philippine debt. The Americans have declined to assume the Cuban debt because Cuba is not theirs; but in depositing Spain in the Philippines, the Americans acquire the territory, and it is believed there will be some financial assumption by the United States.

At this point arises the question of how much financial relief might be granted Spain for her loss of the Philippines. Some well-informed persons believe that Premier Sagasta has determined to be rid of the Philippines, and would direct his commission to sign a should take the islands and assume $40,000,000 of debt. This proposition finds support in the Parisian press, which today declares that resistance is impossible, and that Spain should abandon the archipelago.

Spain Will Resist.
Paris, Nov. 1.—There was a strong impression, which has been growing here recently, that the Spanish, upon receiving definite assurances of the American determination to take the entire Philippine group, would quit the conference, but this view was modified by the attitude of the Spanish newspapers which arrived here today.

These are found to have wheeled into line with the Epoca of October 27, which demanded that the Spanish commissioners should sign a treaty in Paris, no matter how onerous the conditions imposed by the Americans.

Nevertheless, despite this attitude of the Madrid press, and despite the statement given Friday last to the press correspondent by the Spanish commissioner, who denied that the Spaniards here will not be surprised if one or more of the Spanish commissioners resign and practically close the negotiations. This feeling is based upon the fact that Senator Rios early last week would have resigned, if his so doing would not have imperiled the Sagasta ministry; and the reasoning is that, if, while pressing the Cuban debt, which is not mentioned in the protocol, Senator Rios is inclined to resign, he might, in the open field of contention as to the Philippines, feel that resignations would help Senator Sagasta, on the ground that the demand of the United States for the entire Philippine group would be extortionate.

It is believed here tonight, on the eve of taking up the main question, that the Spanish commissioners are not likely to acquiesce here in any treaty that the Americans would sign.

Care for Hog Cholera.
Washington, Oct. 31.—During the past two years the department of agriculture has conducted a series of experiments in the use of a serum as a remedy for hogs affected by cholera or swine plague. The experiments were conducted by Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, and the results were eminently satisfactory, proving that the disease can be successfully treated, easily and inexpensively. This year the experiments have been extensive and far-reaching. The bureau treated 922 hogs. Of these, 170 died, the number saved being 81 out of every 100. The loss was only 19 per cent.

A FATHER'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

Murdered His Child by Placing It Before a Railroad Train.

New York, Nov. 1.—Nicholas Jackson, of Hackensack, who was sent to Trenton prison to serve 10 years for causing the death of his 6-year-old son Louis, confessed to Sheriff Herring and Deputy Sheriff Jackson, while they were on their way to Trenton from Hackensack with the prisoner. On this information, Mrs. Jackson is held as an accessory to the murder of her stepson. Here are Jackson's words to the sheriff: "My wife, whom I had only recently married, did not like Louis, my little boy, and we had many quarrels about him. She helped me plan the murder, and I was to put the boy on the tracks. I went to Tea Neck and stood near the West Shore railroad track. I was afraid to put the youngster on the track alive, for fear he would get off, so I struck him in the stomach with an iron bolt, and that made him unconscious. Then I put him on the track, just below the crossing, and waited for a train to come along. When I was convinced that he was dead I went home. I fixed up the story about my leaving the boy asleep on the hill near the tracks, to save my life. The judge tried me and found me guilty of manslaughter, thinking that Louis walked on the track and was struck by a train. I got off dead easy."

Prosecutor Stagg will go to Trenton this week and make arrangements to have Jackson appear before the next grand jury to testify as to Mrs. Jackson's connection with the plan of the murder.

ICE IN THE YUKON.

A Dozen River Boats Sland a Good Chance of Being Wrecked.

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—Ice was making on the Yukon, and there was thin ice at Dutch Harbor, when the Portland sailed, October 11. The tug Sadie has gone into winter quarters at American River. At least a dozen river steamers are stuck on sand bars in the Yukon, and all will probably be lost. The Dawson City is a total wreck. The Herman and Tacoma are in perilous position and the other boats are in such a perilous position that when the ice breaks up they may go to pieces.

All the treasure in sight on the Portland was one box of gold dust and nuggets consigned to the Alaska Commercial Company. Its value was not made known, but is not believed to exceed $10,000. Several returning miners were on the vessel, but they carried their wealth in the form of drafts, and were reticent regarding the amount.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The President Names Thursday, November 24, as Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The president today issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation: "By the President of the United States—A Proclamation: The approaching November brings to mind the customs of our ancestors, hallowed by time and rooted in our most sacred traditions, of giving thanks to Almighty God for all the blessings he has vouchsafed to us during the past year.

"Few years in our history have afforded such cause for thanksgiving. We have been blessed by abundant harvests, our trade and commerce have been wonderfully increased, our public credits have been improved and strengthened, all sections of our country have been brought together and knitted into closer bond of national purpose and unity.

"The skies have been for a time darkened by the cloud of war, but as we were compelled to take up the sword in the cause of humanity, we are permitted to rejoice that the conflict has been of brief duration, and the losses we have had to mourn, though grievous and important, have been so few, considering the great results accomplished, as to inspire us with gratitude and praise to the Lord of Hosts. We may laud and magnify His Holy Name that the cessation of hostilities came so soon as to spare both sides the countless sorrows and disasters that attend protracted war.

"I do, therefore, invite all my fellow-citizens, those at home as well as those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving, to come together in their several places of worship for a service of praise and thanks to Almighty God for all the blessing of the year, the mildness of the seasons and the fruitfulness of the soil; for the continued prosperity of our country; for the devotion and valor of our countermen; for the glory of our victory and the hope of a righteous peace, and to pray that the divine guidance which has brought us heretofore to safety and honor may be graciously continued in the years to come. In witness whereof, etc.

"WILLIAM MCKINLEY.
By the President: John Hay, Secretary of State."

WOOD AT MANZANILLO.

Setting the New Civil Government in Motion.

Manzanillo, Oct. 31.—The United States gunboat Hiss arrived here tonight with General Wood and Lieutenant Matthew Hanna. On landing, General Wood was escorted with Colonel Pettit and his adjutant, and he was subsequently received by Colonel Pettit's entire regiment. General Wood then visited the barracks, hospitals, palace, custom-house and postoffice.

Colonel Pettit reports that the Cuban General Rios is apparently making every effort to prevent the landing of his troops. The Cuban commander wishes all the sugar estates in the neighborhood to tell him how many men they can employ, and he will guarantee to supply all required on condition that only soldiers are employed. The planters unanimously refuse to fall in with such an arrangement, considering that it would be a trades union of the strongest possible kind and would also tend to keep up the Cuban military organization, which, in the interests of the island, the planters are very anxious to break up. In their opinion it would be better to have no commerce than to attempt it on such conditions.

HITCHBORN'S REPORT.

Work of the Construction Bureau During the War.

Washington, Oct. 31.—A large part of the burden of supplying the United States navy for the war with Spain fell upon the construction bureau of the navy. In his annual report, Commodore Hitchborn, the chief constructor, furnishes many interesting details as to this work, involving the transformation of more than 100 merchant craft into effective naval vessels at short notice. Looking to the future, the chief constructor invites attention to the importance of properly equipping and maintaining plants at or near naval stations along the coast already established and he submits estimates for the purpose, averaging about $25,000 in each case.

Besides the long list of vessels purchased by the government for use as auxiliary cruisers, the report says that 10 vessels were chartered by the government from builders during the last fiscal year. These were the Iowa, Helena, Nashville, Wilmington, Annapolis, Marietta, Newport, Vicksburg, Kootai and Wheeling.

Progress made on the vessels in course of construction has been very satisfactory. The behavior of all classes of our naval vessels throughout the various conditions of the war is set down as a source of gratification to the construction bureau, where the greater part of them were designed.

The chief constructor pays a tribute to the indefatigable labors of the construction corps during the war and expresses the opinion that the increase in its personnel has hardly been as rapid as the demand upon its services. Therefore, it is urged that the bureau continue the liberal policy it has followed in assigning officers to the corps.

Drumont, Millevoix and Lacos, shouting "Vive l'Armee!" and "A mort les Juifs!" attempted to enter the court, but the passage of the mob was barred by the police, and large reinforcements were sent to guard the approaches to the court.
