A SPECIAL MEETING Snapshots at

Of the City Council to Consider Amendments.

Clackamas Water to be Brought in - Expansion Voted Down - New Ward for Ely.

On Monday evening the city council authorized the committee having the city charter in hand, permission to so amend the issue of $50,000 of water bonds, to divide the city into three wards, granting the mayor power to appoint standing committees and other minor changes.

The proposition to extend the boundaries of the city was discussed and voted down. The advocates of the measure believed the mills in West Oregon City received benefits from the city and should be willing to share in the burden of taxation. Those opposed to the measure believed the expense of granting the new territory the protection and improvements they would be entitled to would entail a larger expenditure than the revenue to be derived therefrom.

The factories had been promised exemption from city taxes and should be allowed to remain outside. The exemption from taxes would be an inducement for other factories to locate here.

Ex-Mayor Canfield was much interested in the matter, but doubted the expediency of the move. Pure water is necessary but the cost of securing it will fall principally on the coming generation. The income of the water commission will be more than sufficient to liquidate the obligation.

When the mills were first established here the town was small and of little importance, but with the advent of the mills the city took on new life and has kept pace with the growth of the mills. The city is greatly benefited by the employees of the mills living and trading here and they pay their portion of the taxes.

As a business proposition the extension is not good. The entire charge of the suspension bridge would have to be assumed by the city and all county roads would have to be kept up by the city, that piece from end of the bridge to the graded portion leading to Willamette Falls would be expensive to build. The new territory would demand water, light, fire and police protection which would entail great expense. To supply water the main would have to be laid under the river. All of us want the town to grow, and to have high taxes would be no inducement for new mills to locate here.

The rough nature of the country would render the street grading very expensive. If the place was built up a central government would be the cheaper way. The people should not be taken in unless willing, every resident has petitioned against it.

J. E. Hedges championed the cause of Canemah. A large majority of the residents of Canemah are opposed to coming in as the benefits to be derived are not commensurate with the cost. Other sections that have been taken in have received nothing. The school debt would have to be assumed by Oregon City and that alone would more than offset the amount to be derived from taxes. There are many cesspools in Canemah not connected with the river, but a sewer system to regulate this matter would not be of benefit to the water used by the city.

The vote was taken on Canemah and the West Side separately, Canemah was rejected and the mayor cast the deciding vote not to take in the West Side.

Cas H. Canfield was called on and spoke in favor of the amendment to bring in water from the Clackamas. The cost will be about $30,000, water to be taken out at a point some three miles above the city near the big bluff. A sufficient fall can be secured to establish a gravity system, and county roads could be used for the pipe line. A 20 inch pipe would be laid to the present pumping station, the water to be pumped from there to the reservoir. A natural gravel filter would be used, assuring pure water at all times.

This amendment also changes the law so that no dividend is paid this city by the water commission.

The council recommended the change. The proposition to divide the city into three wards and providing for the election of three councilmen for three years from each ward was recommended.

The street commissioner was instructed to repair the break in the Singer hill wall.

Which Rides? When a man is sick his work rides slow instead of his riding his work. His daily task instead of being the means which supports and carries him to comfort and prosperity becomes an overwhelming burden weighing him down. He has no strength, no ambition. He feels that there is nothing left but for him to stagger along until the awful pressure of his troubles at last crushes him to earth.

The prosperous man is the one who keeps the upper hand of his work, because he is strong, capable and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has brought the best kind of prosperity to thousands of weighed-down, over-burdened men and women by giving them the physical strength and stamina to carry on their work.

"For the last three years," says Mr. J. C. Morgan, of Monongah, Marion Co., W. Va., in a letter to Dr. Pierce, "I have been a constant sufferer from indigestion, nervousness, and complaints that generally accompany such cases. Always after eating there would be a formation of gas and a heavy load in my stomach. I would belch up my food after eating, bowels were very irregular. I would imagine I saw objects floating before my eyes. I had pain across my back. About December, 1896, I began feeling much worse than usual and was beginning to think I would have to suffer the remainder of my life. I was greatly discouraged. I described my case to Dr. Pierce's staff of physicians and they directed me to begin at once taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery' according to directions. I did so, and am happy to state I experienced most gratifying results, as all the unpleasant feelings have entirely left me. I have now a very good appetite, sleep as good, and am pleased to say I feel once more like my former self. I recently walked a distance of one hundred and ten miles in about four days."

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectively as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.
