The bill has been introduced by Representative Thompson.

J. A. Lesourd, a mechanical engineer in the employ of the Willamet iron works, was looking up some matters around the flour mills, when he slipped on the walk and fell, receiving a deep cut over the eye and a severe bruise on the nose. Mr. Lesourd was superintendent of the building of the Willamette locks, and is a frequent visitor to our city, but this, he says, is the first serious introduction he has ever received to the city.

The One Touch of Nature.

In the amusement line popular prices is the one touch of nature that makes all classes kin; that is the motto of the Martell Merry Makers, who will open a one night engagement at the opera house next Saturday night. They do not play drama with blood-curdling plots, or worry you with the troubles of some creation. They promise to amuse you with pure wholesome comedy, and especially clever specialties you have never seen by the highest and best priced organizations visiting this city.

A Successful Enterprise.

Oregon City has an industry that is seldom heard from although it ranks very high. Mr. H. E. Harris builds refrigerating plants and, last fall erected one for the Merchants' Refrigerating Company of Portland. Mr. Harris is in receipt of a letter from them asking him to enlarge the plant and speaking of it in the highest manner, claiming it is the best machine on the market. This testimony comes after a thorough trial and the order for the enlarging of their plant is still further evidence of what they think of it. Mr. Harris is the inventor of the machine and has met with similar success wherever he has installed machines.

MOLALLA ROAD.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Board of Trade.

On Monday evening the representative business men of the city met in the county court room and discussed the proposition to extend the improvements on the Molalla road to Howard's Mill.

At present there is a good plank road to Carus over fair grades, from Carus to the mill, a distance of 2½ miles, there is a barrier in the form of a very high, steep hill, unimproved. There are several proposed methods of doing away with the hill. Some advocate cutting it down, others of going around it and the latter apparently meets with the most favor.

The members of the board of trade were called together to lend practical assistance to the proposition. Meetings have been held in Carus, Mulino and Molalla and the matter discussed and committees appointed to meet with committees from other interested points to select the best possible route and endeavor to get the co-operation of the county court in the work. The members of the board showed by their remarks that they realized fully the importance of the project and that it not only meant from 5 to 10 cents more a bushel for the wheat raised in the Molalla and Marquam country, but it also meant a large increase in the trade of Oregon City. At present many farmers of the section interested never visit Oregon City except to pay taxes, and the size of their tax is such as to put them in a bad humor.

Many favor the adoption of a route that will give a 5 per cent. grade but others believe 6 per cent. will be very good. A committee was appointed to take up the matter with other sections and push it to a finish over the best obtainable route. The committee is composed of H. E. Cross, C. H. Dye, H. H. Johnson, E. G. Caufield and C. O. T. Williams.

Judge Ryan pledged the hearty support of the county court in the matter. He also advocated the opening up of other sections of country especially that of Springwater.

A meeting was held later and it was arranged that the committee from here is to meet committees from the other interested points at Carus on Tuesday next, the 31st, and there to decide upon a route.

Messrs. Noblitt and Young have each kindly donated the carriages necessary for the committee's use.

Fish for New Zealand.

L. F. Ayson, fish commissioner of New Zealand, was in Oregon City last week. He visited the Clackamas hatchery, and endeavored to secure spawn and fish. There are many beautiful lakes and streams in New Zealand, but not the varieties of fish we have in this country, and Mr. Ayson wishes to stock the lakes and streams with them. He was unable to get eggs, being too late, but will return another season and get at least 1,000,000 eggs.

"Wild Oats."

The most popular line of amusements in the theatrical world is the musical farce comedy and vaudeville, and such is the class of entertainment offered by Martell's Merry Makers in presenting the laughable two act musical farce comedy by Oscar P. Sission, "Wild Oats." Not a dull moment, or serious thought from the rise of the curtain until the close of the show, but everything new, bright and catchy; just one long, loud laugh, interspersed with the very latest of popular music.

Teachers' Examination.

Notice is hereby given that for the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the schools of this county, the county school superintendent thereof will hold a public examination in the court house at Oregon City, Oregon, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m., February 8, 1899.

Applicants for state papers will present themselves for examination at 9 o'clock a. m., Friday, February 10, 1899.

According to a recent ruling of the State Board of Education applications for state certificates will also have to be made at the quarterly examinations

Daring a Hot Spell.

The man who has spent a good deal of his time in political life remarked:

"Nobody is satisfied with his lot in this life. A man's hopes and desires keep constantly shifting. I can remember the day when I thought that if I could only reach my present position in the world I should be perfectly happy."

"And what do you yearn to be now?"

"The driver of an ice wagon."—Washington Star.

So Thoughtful.

Helen—Oh, yes; he always thought the world of me. Before we were married he used to say that he was willing to die for me.

Nellie—But he didn't.

Helen—Of course not. He was so thoughtful, you know. He said that he did not dare do it lest I should be unable to replace the loss.—Boston Transcript.

The Ultimate Consumer.

"Ah, I see," exclaimed the wandering harper, as the mediæval baron helped himself to another horse which wasn't his, "you are making a name for yourself."

The feudal lord shook his head.

"No," he replied, "not for myself. For some American heiress, yes."—Detroit Tribune.

He Was Odd.

They were watching a parade where the predominant letters were I. O. O. F., when suddenly he turned and said proudly, "Did you know that I was an Odd Fellow?"

"Yes," she replied innocently, "I heard you were a bachelor."—Adams Freeman.

THE OREGON NIGHTINGALE.

Mrs. Charles Hinges (nee Hallie Parrish), Oregon's sweetest singer, was born January 30, 1863, in Salem, Or., and made her first appearance in public when only four years old. This was in the old M. E. church and will be remembered by many residents of Salem. She is wholly a self-made musician, her entire musical education having been acquired through her individual effort. She was graduated from Willamette Conservatory of Music at the age of eighteen. She has sung in different church choirs for eighteen years, during seven years of which time she was engaged at the Synagogue and First Congregational and Calvary Presbyterian churches of Portland. She sang also for a number of years in the Salem M. E. church. Mrs. Hinges is a granddaughter of Rev. J. L. Parrish, one of Oregon's early missionaries. The subject of this sketch spent about one year in the New England states, where she received many flattering compliments from the press. Mrs. Hinges has an interesting family consisting of two children—a boy and a girl—to whom she devotes most of her time at present.
