A GLORIOUS DAY INDEED

Jacksonville Again did Herself Proud in Holding a Grand Celebration.

NEARLY 7000 PRESENT

There was once a man who said, when the hired girl carried the calf into the barn by its tail and ears after the man had been trying for two hours to coax it in with a bucket of milk, "I like a man who does things."

Jacksonville certainly does things. Possibly 7000 people, certainly 5000, attended the celebration here last Thursday and not one of them was there but had only words of praise for Jacksonville and Jacksonville's way of doing things.

The very best of order was maintained throughout the entire day, not an arrest being made or an accident occurring. The weather was ideal and everybody in good spirits.

The committee in charge of the celebration are deserving of any amount of praise for bringing the day to such a glorious success. Their efforts have been untiring since their appointment, they neglecting their business nearly the whole time in order to aid the cause in which they were so interested.

Those who aided the celebration both financially and otherwise showed their loyalty to their county and town by helping to make this the greatest jubilee ever held here. Almost the entire town worked hard to make it an unqualified success, not a hitch arising or a question raised as to the mode in which the celebration was being conducted.

Space and time will not permit to take up each float separately and describe them. The parade, however, was one of the most gorgeous and beautiful ever pulled off in Southern Oregon. It received praise from all the visitors, some going so far as to say that even Portland has never equalled it, outside of the industrial and commercial floats.

Then the Calithumpian parade, that mirth-provoking feature which was so eagerly looked for, scored a great triumph, the grotesque take-offs and ludicrous parodies being exceptionally well presented. Governor Chamberlain became "one of the boys" and drove the carriage prepared for himself while the driver sat back and acted as passenger.

The exercises at the court house grounds, too lengthy to print, were enjoyed as was the rest of the day's entertainment, everything coming off as per schedule.

The base ball game for the championship of Southern Oregon and a purse of $75 between Ashland and Jacksonville resulted, as was hoped for and expected, in Jacksonville's favor, by a score of 6 to 7. About 2000 people attended the game.

The balloon ascension was more thrilling than even the most enthusiastic hoped for. While inflating the balloon one of the large poles which was holding up the balloon fell with a crash, punching two holes in it, allowing the gas to escape. The balloon was quickly repaired, but the sewing was done too hastily and when it was finally cut loose the escaping gas forced a rent almost tearing the balloon asunder, nearly throwing Professor Hamilton to the ground. It soared high enough for him to cut loose his parachute, however, and he came down in the top of a tree near the Nunan ranch house, none the worse for the accident. The Professor says he does not care to experience another ascension like that.

The Jacksonville Silver Cornet band furnished excellent music and were highly praised by the visitors.

The Chemawa Indian band of Salem, one of the finest musical aggregations in the entire state, played all during the day and evening and their music was greatly enjoyed. The Chemawas are, individually, the best trained musicians in the West, as care seems to have been taken to teach them every rudiment in music.

Miss Mervena Kinney, the beautiful and regal goddess of liberty, won out by over 1000 votes, again attesting the fact that Jacksonville is determined to carry off all the prizes.

The absence of the large automobile parade was not noticeable as there were plenty of good things to see without them.

Late Legal Decisions.

Synopses of Land and Mineral Decisions, Furnished the 1st by Woodford D. Harlan, Land Attorney, Washington, D. C.

If it is shown that a legal subdivision entered as coal land is not in fact of such character, the entry should be cancelled as to such tract.

An entry of coal land must be restricted to such tract.

Land which produces a crop, though an inferior one, whether of grass, wheat, barley, or other crop to which the soil and climate are adapted, which is a fair reward for the expense of producing it, is not Desert land.

Annual rainfall taken into consideration in determining whether land is Desert in character.

Final proof may be submitted on an entry during pendency of adverse proceedings against entry.

To establish residence, there must be concurrent with the act of settlement, an intent to make the land a home to the exclusion of one elsewhere.

Insane Women.

Judge Dupp was called to Ashland the first of the week, to sit as committing magistrate in the case of Mrs. Jennie V. Smith and Mrs. Sarah J. Wyatt, who were charged with insanity. Both ladies were adjudged insane, after due examination, and were taken to Salem by attendants of the asylum.

New Time Card.

A new time card has gone into effect on the Southern Pacific which makes a few changes in passenger train schedules. The principal change is in the arrival of No. 12, which is now scheduled to arrive nearly two hours later from the south, arriving in Medford at 5:45 a. m. This will be quite a convenience for people in the valley. No. 14's schedule arriving at 10:32 a. m. is unchanged and No. 16's time is not affected, 5:09 p. m. The only change in trains from the north is in No. 13, which is now scheduled to arrive here at 12:45 p. m. The new schedule calls for the continued arrival of No. 15 at 10:32 and No. 11 at 11:45 a. m.
