

ANOTHER R. R. LINE TALKED OF

Hon. W. A. Carter of Gold Hill and Eastern Capitalists are at the Head.

According to advices received in this city this week it will not be long before a company of eastern capitalists will be formed for the purpose of building a railroad line from the Rogue River Valley to the coast. A number of capitalists, assisted by W. A. Carter of Gold Hill, are already investigating the feasibility of such a line, and it is expected that before long an announcement will be made of the results of their investigation. Mr. Carter recently returned from the east where he went to confer with his associates.

According to their investigations so far, it is stated that the line will be run from Gold Hill, passing near Central Point on the west and striking Jacksonville on the east, thence on to Applegate and the coast.

It is apparent that the scheme of getting to the coast is the only solution of the present difficulties with reference to transportation and that the Rogue River Valley will never be developed until there is some means of transportation provided that does not now exist.

The amount of capital required to build a road to the coast is not great and upon investigation Mr. Carter has found that the funds can be had when the case has been properly presented. A competent engineer has been retained and he is preparing to investigate the various routes. He has been instructed to report on the shortest route that can be constructed from Rogue river.

Already investigation has shown that a road will have an immense tonnage to start with.

It is now thought that the Pacific & Eastern will do nothing toward running their line to the coast for several months, as the failure of the Oregon Trust & Banking Co., put quite a damper on their enthusiasm.

Rumors of an electric line to run from Grants Pass to Ashland via Jacksonville is also in circulation.

Better Than Spraying.

W. I. McIntyre, the enterprising fruit grower, has probably discovered a simple remedy for all diseases of fruit trees; one that is easily and cheaply applied and one that will no doubt, bring about better results than the various sprays now being used. His remedy is simply to dig the ground away from the roots of the tree and place a thick layer of wood ashes around them. Mr. McIntyre's theory is that all disease germs, of a necessity, seek the roots of the trees during the winter, following the sap, upon which they subsist, and accordingly in the spring they follow the sap towards the branches of the trees. By applying the ashes to the roots, the germs are unable to pass through the ashes, as the winter rains cause a lye to soak into the bark. If the germs are not killed by the lye from the ashes, they cannot go further down than the top of the ground, consequently there is nothing to live on, so they are killed in that way.

Mr. McIntyre has experimented to a great extent along this line and has found the ashes scheme to be a great success, and it is his intention to treat his entire orchard to this system.

The Medford papers have printed stories to the effect that Honore Palmer, who is now making his home in Eugene, will soon take up his residence there and will buy a fruit orchard, building a mansion there. Palmer and wife, accompanied by his mother Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, left for Medford this afternoon to visit friends, but before they left Mr. Palmer assured a reporter that he has no intention of making that place his home. He is satisfied with Eugene as a place of residence and intends in the near future to purchase property for a dwelling house. His sawmill enterprise will require his attention the greater part of his time and he cannot afford to reside anywhere else. —Eugene Daily Guard.
