

BANK OPEN NEXT MONDAY

Officers and Directors of new Institution Elected Last Thursday Evening.

Last Thursday evening a meeting of the stockholders of the new Bank of Jacksonville was held in the bank building. Following are the officers and directors elected; George L. Davis, President; Jeremiah Nunan, Vice President; Jay C. Sexton, Cashier; Ray F. Sexton, Assistant Cashier; Edward H. Helms.

Next Monday morning at 9 o'clock the bank will be open. Deposits will be received, and whether they are large or small, they will be taken with pleasure.

The new bank is a very handsome institution. The heavy oak counters are a home production and an elegant piece of work. Weeks Bros. of Phoenix are the manufacturers.

The building has been completely transformed inside and it will be worth your while to take a look at it. Certainly it is one of the handsomest banks in southern Oregon, and that is saying a great deal.

Most of the officers and directors are well known in Jackson county, and are some of our best and substantial citizens.

The Sexton brothers are young men of sterling character and great ability. We bespeak a big success for the new Bank of Jacksonville.

The stockholders of the new institution are George L. Davis, J. Nunan, Jay C. Sexton, Ray F. Sexton, E. H. Helms, F. M. Sexton.

At a union meeting of the churches in Medford Sunday evening the question of prohibition was scouted and it may prove to be the forerunner of a local option campaign in Jackson county at the biennial state election next June under the local option law. Three years ago last June the question was raised and Jackson county went "wet" by the small majority of 85 votes. It is the judgment of some that the large emigration from the eastern states since that time will overcome that slender majority and place Jackson county in the local option prohibition class, along with most of the important counties of the Willamette valley.—Valley Record.

Wise Talks by the Toggery's Office Boy.

Say do you have to pause to think or can you go right on with what you're doing and think a lot, too? I find I have to knock off work and get away by myself somewhere. Did you ever stop to think what a wonderful thing our telephone system is? Ten years ago they tell me the messages averaged about 12 a year for each person in the United States; to-day the average is more than 54. There are now 4,500,000 telephones in operation, sending 7000 messages a minute or over 10,000,000 a day. Think of it again, if you can; what an immense amount of business is done by telephone! Our number is 553. That's easy to remember and I guess it's a lucky number, too. If you want a hat, a bath-robe, a house-coat, a pair of suspenders, an umbrella, a half-dozen sox or handkerchiefs, a cap or a belt, or any other kind of togs for man or boy, and cannot come, just hit the phone and ask for the Office Boy and I'll see that you get proper attention and prompt delivery. Tell you what we'll do! We will pay your car fare to Medford and return for every $10 or more spent at the Toggery. A e you on!

WILLIE,
At The Toggery, Medford.

"BUILT
ON GOLD"

JACKSONVILLE. JACKSON COUNTY, ORE.

In 1851 gold was discovered on Jackson creek. Jacksonville was for years the liveliest mining camp in the west. Fully $20,000,000 in virgin gold has been taken from the hills surrounding Jacksonville. To a there is enough gold hidden under the principal streets of Jacksonville to pay half of the National debt. The output from the placer mines of this district totals half a million dollars annually, and only a few mines are being operated. The Sterling mine alone has produced from $25,000 to $60,000 a year for the past 25 years. Quartz mining is a new industry, and there are hundreds of valuable ledges in the district yet untouched. The Opp quartz mine and 20 stamp mill is being operated to its fullest capacity. Numerous prospects are being opened up. But there is room for capital to develop these treasure-troves. Get acquainted with Jacksonville!

"SUNSHINE, FRUIT, FLOWERS"

The finest fruit of the Famous Rogue River Valley is raised near Jacksonville. But the foothills is especially adapted to grape growing. There are thousands of acres of this grape land to be had almost for the asking. Read what A. H. Carson, member of the State Board of Horticulture, has to say:

"I am in hopes Jacksonville will awaken to the possibilities of grape growing on commercial lines, as the foothills adjoining Jacksonville I know to be especially adapted to the growing of the choicest Tokay and Malaga grapes. Jackson creek and Rich gulch have already given up their great wealth and the pioneers of Jacksonville enjoyed it. Their descendants can, if they will, create greater wealth; more lasting wealth, by planting their foothills to Tokay and Malaga grapes. Market demands will always be greater than their ability to produce."
