 Several valuable mining claims have changed hands in this district recently, among the transfers were a few claims sold by Mrs. A. T. Lungren, the consideration was not learned.

When you write to your friends in the east tell them of the tokay grapes raised here in your city, tell them of the mild climate also of the beautiful scenery. Don't elaborate, the truth is good enough.
 A business transaction of some importance was consummated last week by the W. W. Irving real estate Co. when the Taylor House was sold to Mr. Blade, recently of California, and Mrs. Melissa Taylor, the former owner, purchased the John Renault berry farm. The consideration for the hotel was $5000, and the berry farm $1300.
 Clarence Reams and Chas. Nunan spent Sunday in Wasson canyon. This stream is thickly inhabited with beautiful mountain trout and it is reported that the two anglers attempted to catch all of the trout in the stream so that the fish would not interfere with the workmen who will shortly install an intake for the Medford water system in this creek, but the fish had not recovered from the effects of the election and refused to consider any new proposition.

Mr. Allen J. DeLay, of Medford was at the county seat Saturday and Monday, making copies of all registration blanks used to "swear in" a voter at the last election. It appears as though the anti-saloon league is afraid of Medford's charter and are using this means to throw out 41 votes in north Medford so that the entire town would vote dry. It is believed that if the municipality would vote on the question the city would go "wet" by a heavy majority. The rural vote is invariably "dry."

Mrs. Elizabeth Kenney, a pioneer of 1845, went north on Monday evening's train to attend the pioneer's reunion at Portland on the 11th. There is not, perhaps, a person in the state who feels a deeper and more abiding interest in the surviving pioneer than Mrs. Kenney. She has been one of the active and leading spirits in every pioneer move in Southern Oregon since the organization of the society. At present she is the president of the Southern Oregon Pioneer Association.

COMMISSION REGULATES RAILROAD FARE

Judge Galloway in department No. 2 of the Marion county circuit court held that the order of the railroad commission fixing the fare between Milwaukie and Portland at five cents must stand. The distance is about six miles. The decision is one of the most important in Oregon railroad law that has been handed down in the state for some time and virtually determines the point that it lies within the powers of the railroad commission to establish passenger rates. With this decision on record why should Jacksonville people pay any more than five cents from here to Medford? It is unjust and we must have a five cent fare and a 20c per ton freight rate on general merchandise and hardware.

Resolutions of Respect
 WHEREAS, in the course of nature it has pleased Providence to remove from among the living and from the membership of this Chapter, one whom this Chapter devotedly respected and loved, and
 WHEREAS, this Chapter is inexpressibly grieved at the loss of Robert S. Dunlap, who for many years was a familiar figure in its councils and whose life while in Jacksonville was inseparably intertwined with its life and who, when absent from its sphere, still remembered in and was lovingly remembered by it,
 NOW THEREFORE, be it resolved, that this chapter and its membership deplores the death of Robert S. Dunlap and sincerely mourns his departure.
 That in his death, this chapter has lost a brother who was always concerned in its welfare and in the welfare and wellbeing of all its members.

 That he will ever be missed in the councils while those who knew him and was greeted by him within its chamber still survive. And be it further resolved,
 That a copy of these resolutions expressive of the grief this Chapter sustains in his death, be spread upon the permanent records of the Chapter, and that the Chapter be appropriately draped to indicate the grief it feels in recording upon the annals of the Chapter the loss of this brother whom we so highly esteemed.
 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be given the press for publication and that a copy of the same be sent to relatives of the deceased.
