BARNUM'S NEGLIGENCE

Last Monday when the Medford Limited (limited accomodations) pulled out of the county seat, the condoctor discovered that he left the mail behind, possibly at some street corner or at the depot, and waving his hand at the engineer brought the train to a halt and proceeded back on foot (which was the fastest and surest way to travel) to find the mail. After a few minutes delay the conductor with the mail hove in sight. Of course the passengers could walk if they did not like the idea of waiting and it is alright with the government if the government officials don't learn of the affair.

On July 16, of this year the mail was carried down to a street crossing and left on the ground until the conductor attended to some switching. This of course, is all right. If you are sending valuable registered packages through the mail and the pouches lay around on the ground and these packages become damaged, who is responsible?

If a man neglects the mail and leaves it at the depot until after the train pulls out he might neglect it and leave it on the rail road track and let the train run over it.

JACKSONVILLE TOMORROW

We know what Jacksonville is today but many do not know how this city compares with other cities of equal population. The writer does not know of a city on the coast where the indebtedness and taxes are as low as they are in this city. Everybody is contented, and the inhabitants are as one family.

With the spirit of contentment flowing through the minds of our people what will Jacksonville be tomorrow? We will see. If you are contented with your present surroundings Jacksonville will be the same tomorrow that it is today. Dear reader, you don't want to be told that you are selfish, and that you don't want to see the town prosper. Think of those poor storm-ridden friends in the East. They are not contented. Draw a mind picture of one of those cyclones or blizzards common in certain portions of the East and the way that mighty whirl of wind destroyed life and property and can you be contented to know that your friend is bound down to a climate like that?

The writer is not contented. I want to see more people here to enjoy this pleasant climate—more building and business enterprises and a greater Jacksonville.

Let us concentrate our minds and energies to the upbuilding of our city, and the future Jacksonville will be a city of homes and business, with a magnificent water system, an electric railroad connecting other valley towns, manufacturing and business blocks and paved streets. This can be accomplished, and why not lay the foundation now by "boosting" Jacksonville?

WALKING

Walking is good, yes fine; especially when you have the fun of walking from Medford to this city at 10 or 11 o'clock at night.

Last Saturday night a party of five or six Jacksonvilleites were in Medford doing their regular weekly shopping and expected to return on the little motor car scheduled to leave Medford at about 10 o'clock. The passengers were on hand at the hour scheduled to leave, but the wheels of progress failed to turn, and the palace car remained in Medford over night.

Business Change

The firm of Dunlap & Houston was dissolved the first of the week, Mr. Houston disposing of his interest to Mr. Dunlap who will continue to conduct the business. Mr. Houston who came here from Jacksonville Oregon, last spring has made many friends in the city and is looked upon as just the sort of business material we need. He is a town builder and we hope will decide to remain with us. The family will leave for Oregon this week but Mr. Houston has not decided just what he will do but will probably remain here for several months at least. —Grangeville Idaho Press.

LETTER TO BRYAN FROM ROOSEVELT

W. J. Bryan and his Campaign Treasurer are Scored---Taft has Good Record says the President.

President Roosevelt wrote a letter to W. J. Bryan, replying to the latter's telegram in defense of Governor Haskell. He not only adheres to his former statement, but adds further charges, showing Mr. Haskell's friendship to the Standard Oil Company. He then contrasts Mr. Bryan's action with Mr. Taft's refusal to indorse Senator Foraker, and concludes by declaring Mr. Bryan's policy for dealing with the trusts as impracticable as his railroad and momentary policies. The letter is too long for our limited space, but the following paragraphs give the substance:

Haskell's close relation with the Standard Oil interests in Ohio was a matter of common notoriety.

In defiance of the Attorney-General of the state (Oklahoma) he intended to protect the interests of a great corporation (the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, controlled by the Standard) against the law.

Contrast your action in this case of Governor Haskell with Mr. Taft's action as regards Senator Foraker.

Mr. Taft refused to be a party to the renomination of Senator Foraker, showing by actual deeds that his words were true when he said: "I do not care for the Presidency if it has to come by compromise with any one on a matter of principle."

With hundredfold clearer evidence you have secured Governor Haskell to write the platform and put him in as treasurer of your campaign committee.

I regard it as a scandal and disgrace that Governor Haskell should be connected with the management of any National campaign.

Let me call your attention to his conduct in prostituting to base purposes the state university.

You have indeed advocated measures against private monopolies that sound more radical than either I or my party associates have been willing to undertake, but they have the prime defect that in practice they would not work.

I put Mr. Taft's deeds against your words. I ask that Mr. Taft be judged by all his deeds, for he wishes none of them forgotten. I ask that you be judged both by the words you wish remembered and by the words that seemingly you and your party desire to have forgotten.

I hold it entirely natural for any great law-breaking corporation to wish to see you placed in the Presidency. Your plans to put a stop to abuses are wholly chimerical.

No law-defying corporation has anything to fear from you save what it will suffer in the general paralysis of business which any attempt to reduce to practise what you have advocated would bring.

I ask for support for Mr. Taft because his deeds have made good his words.

More Than Enough is Too Much.

To maintain health, a natural man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appitite controle and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by City Drug Store.
