Miss Eva Davidson of Ashland was a guest of Miss Emma Wendt last Saturday and Sunday.

Winter made its first appearance Monday morning in the form of snow. It did not snow enough to cover the ground but nevertheless it was snow.

If you know of any news send it in to the POST, we will appreciate it. It is impossible for one person to get all the news. Something may happen that would be of interest to the community and only one or two would know anything about it. Some people will learn of much news and will have plenty of time and opportunity to notify the reporter or some representative of the paper, but will prefer to keep it a secret until after the paper is published and then run to the office to ask why we do not print the news.

It matters not how well a person is acquainted in a community he cannot get all the news first-hand. A party came in last Saturday and asked why we didn't publish the news. This party was not a subscriber but borrowed the POST from his neighbor, he had an important item, in fact so important that we probably would not have printed it had we heard of it.

Note the new ads. in this issue of the POST—and they all bring results.

GRAND JURY AT COUNTY HOSPITAL

The grand jury visited the county hospital Wednesday and will make some recommendations.

EARL JACKSON NOT GUILTY

The grand jury refused to indict Earl Jackson for assault and battery on the person of George Putnam, editor of Medford Tribune.

Putnam was the only witness examined by the jury but his testimony did not carry much weight or possibly not as much as the strong arm of the ex-deputy sheriff.

BLACK SPOTS ON PORK

(By E. F. Pernot, O. A. C.)

During the butchering season of the year the Experiment Station frequently receives specimens of pork that present and unmarketable appearance. The rind; or skin, taken from the abdominal region and inside of the legs, is found to be dotted with black wart-like growths of various sizes ranging from that of a pin-head to a hazelnut. Many of these spots in the early stages contain a small amount of pus, and by careful examination a small mite will be found buried deeply in the skin.

The mite causing these pustules and subsequent black spots is known as Demodex folliculorum var suis, a very large name for such a small mite that may be seen only by the aid of a magnifying glass.

Just when the mite attacks the hog is not well known, and as it burrows deeply into the skin, treatment or the use of insecticides is of little value; besides there is no indication of its presence until the time of butchering, when the damage already done.

These blackened spots, although unsightly, do not injure the meat for food, and they may be completely removed with the skin.

SUGGESTIONS FOR COUNTRY LIFE COMMISSION

At a meeting of the agricultural faculty of the Oregon Agricultural College on November 30th, the request of President Roosevelt's Country Life Commission for suggestions that might aid the Commission in making its report was discussed and the following statement prepared:

If federal appropriations are to be made for improving social and economic conditions in rural communities, it is recommended, first, that they be made to existing high schools and normal schools for the purpose of maintaining courses of instruction in agricultural, industrial and domestic arts, and including business methods and home sanitation, so that all public school teachers may have the training necessary for teaching those subjects in the public schools.

Second, that in order to secure the full efficiency of the agricultural colleges and experiment stations, the national government should co-operate with the states in agricultural extension work, this work to be under the direct supervision of the agricultural colleges. With an adequate appropriation a comprehensive system of traveling agricultural schools, farmers' institutes and free circulating libraries could be maintained, and publications issued for free distribution so that all important discoveries of the experiment stations could be given to every farmer of every state.

An excellent opportunity to visit San Francisco is offered the people of Jackson county. On December 26, an excursion will start from Ashland. The tickets will be good for 15 days.
