

BILLS FLOD LEGISLATURE

Bill Introduced to Increase the County Judge's Salary from $1200 to $2500 Annually--The Senatorial Situation is Unsettled.

The first week of the state legislature was taken up by appointing committees and organizing the various forces. A long list of bills have been introduced and this session will take up the full time of 40 days.

House bill No. 24, introduced by Purdin of Medford, provides for the salary of the county judge of Jackson county to be raised from $1200 a year to $2500. It is claimed by the supporters of the measure that it is hard to get a good man to accept the office of county judge on account of the small salary.

The sheriff may have a bill introduced raising the salary of his office in this county.

The most needed raise in salary in Jackson county is in the county school superintendent's office. It requires a man of ability in the educational world to fill this office. He must pass an examination and be armed with a certificate before he can hold the position, and is the only officer in the county required by law to qualify before a board before he can enter upon the duties of his office. It is the poorest paid office in the county and is without deputies. The salary of this office should be raised to $1200 a year and mileage.

Senate bill, No. 15, introduced by Beach of Portland, providing that all money deposited in a bank subject to check for a period of seven years and where no draft has been made on the money for the same period shall become the property of the bank.

Jones of Douglas county introduced house bill, No. 26, which provides for the abolishing of the normal schools at Ashland and Monmouth and maintaining the normals at Drain and Weston.

RAP FOR BILLBOARDS.

Richard Watson Gilder's Condemnation of the Advertising Sign Nuisance.

In condemnation of the billboard nuisance this letter was received by the American Civic Association from Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century Magazine:

"As I went to my office one day I passed one of the most beautiful of modern buildings, a savings bank recently built of white marble in classical style. It is a pleasure to look upon this noble and restful structure. And it is a pain and an anger to have to take in at the same glance an enormous liquor sign high in the air beyond and above it.

"What is the use of building exquisite structures if any tasteless and remorseless trader can come along with his glaring, dominating appeals for your money and utterly spoil the effect? It is as if in a symphony concert vendors of soap should be allowed to go up and down the aisles bawling their wares.

"A similar experience accompanied my railroad trip recently over one of the lines between New York and Philadelphia, where now and again a loud array of advertising signs spoiled the effect of the rich, otherwise harmonious landscape.

"One of these days the people of a commercial community will appreciate the fact that, to put it commercially, beauty is a valuable asset as well as 'a joy forever,' and then the advertisement fiend will not be allowed to go up and down the land destroying views, which means destroying values--values which belong to the entire population and which no individual has the right to ruin."

Parcels Post Opportunities.

It doesn't matter much, viewed from the standpoint of local trade, whether Postmaster General Meyer succeeds in introducing his parcels post plan or not if the home merchants and manufacturers will awake to their opportunities. The proposition of the postmaster general appears to favor the home patron of the rural routes by making it easier and cheaper for him to send packages to the farmers than for the far distant concerns to do so. The opportunity presented to the local business men is evident. Let them persistently and systematically use printer's ink in drumming into the rural route people's ears the fact that they also have bargains. By judicious use of advertising space in the home paper the merchant can increase his trade enormously on the rural post routes, and he can do this right now or when the parcels post system is extended, as proposed, if that extension should take place. It's up to you, Mr. Home Storekeeper.

Trees For the Masses.

Set some trees upon the commons--Ashes, Linden, poplars, birch--Set them out around the schoolhouse. Plant them thick about the church. Have the children's playground shaded. And the public wells as well. And the joys from these arising. Coming ages glad will tell.
