OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF JACKSONVILLE, OREGON

Published every Saturday by the Post Publishing Co.
J. B. Barnes, Editor

Admitted as second-class matter at Jacksonville, Oregon.

SATURDAY, MARCH 27, 1909.

SUBSCRIPTION
One year, by mail $1.50.

The poultry industry is an important factor today, and will bear much study, whether conducted as a side line or as an exclusive occupation.

The Gold Hill News has changed hands. D. C. Boyd is at the helm and promises a great deal in his introductory. The Post extends the hand of welcome to the new pencil pusher.

A spirit of exceptional development seems to have seized upon this city. Improvements are everywhere noticeable. Progress is the watchword. Enterprise and activity go hand in hand and are apparent on all sides.

The City Board of Trustees are laboring hard with the new charter and will have it ready to submit to the voters within a few weeks. They mean business and will no doubt make a city out of Jacksonville.

Prospects are bright for a heavy fruit crop this season in this section. Although a heavy killing frost destroyed the fruit in other sections in April last year the fruit around Jacksonville was not damaged in the least.

In any city where the majority of its citizens are home owners, one will find pretty homes and happy satisfied people. They are always on the alert for the best interest of the town and its moral welfare. Where this is not so such an interest is not displayed.

A prominent business man called the reporter's attention to the fact that a great amount of trade was going away from the city that should remain here. 'Tis true, but this same business man bought a week's supply of groceries and vegetables from another city this week. Don't complain of others going away to buy when your household wants are filled from another city.

Were each nation to divide its cash among its own people each human being in France would have $35, or $10 more than each person in our country under similar circumstances. Meanwhile, the divided cash of Great Britain would give each Briton only $18; in Germany the cash per capita would amount to only $17; Russia $8, and Japan $3, while in Cuba each person would get a two-dollar bill.

The good book says, "Give to everyone that asketh thee," but that doesn't mean to give a drunkard money to buy whiskey; it doesn't mean to give the baby a hammer and looking-glass because he asks for it, and it doesn't mean that we should give to professional beggars who travel from town to town. The Bible doesn't always mean what it says, but it always means what it means.

With the great resources surrounding Jacksonville there is nothing that can prevent the old city from forging ahead. We have timber, mines, fruit and agricultural lands, not of a medium grade but of the best. The climate is all that one could desire and the water is pure and healthful. Now that the council is preparing to install a water system and furnish the city with clear mountain water we can invite capital to invest here.
