

THE AUDITORIUM.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, occupying 250 acres of the campus of the University of Washington, will result in benefits for Washington's seat of learning that the University could not have hoped to secure in many years, had not the great fair of 1909 been planned. So the exposition that will exploit Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines and emphasize the importance of the growing trade with the Orient will leave, after its gates have closed, a large number of permanent structures to constantly remind the people of the Northwest of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and the place it will occupy in the history of the Pacific as the medium through which one-half of the world was brought in such close touch with the other and a tremendous impetus to commercial intercourse given.

Seven buildings on the exposition grounds will be left for use of the University and the auditorium, one of the finest of this group, cost the State of Washington more than $300,000. While the exposition is in progress this building will be used for conventions, congresses and conferences, and its hundreds of seats were in place and the building turned over to the exposition management three months before the opening date of the fair.

SUCCESSFUL CONSERVATION MEETING

Eastern Washington Sunday School Association and Sportsman's Association at Walla Walla.

The sessions of the Conservation Congress, just closed, have been enlivened to a high degree by an unusually interesting program of surprises, as speaker after speaker has added his contribution to the inventory of Washington's marvelous wealth of nature's gifts.

Governor Hay presided over the deliberations. He was tendered an enthusiastic reception, in the rooms of the Commercial Club, at which his popularity with the citizens of this community was clearly shown.

The final session closed on Friday afternoon and was followed by an automobile tour of the surrounding country and a luncheon, the visiting delegates being taken in tow by the "Come Again" committee of the Commercial Club.

Preceding the Conservation meeting the Eastern Washington Sunday School Association held their annual convention here and for three days of this week beginning on Wednesday, the 19th, the city entertained the twenty-fifth annual Shooting Tournament of the Sportsman's Association of the Northwest. A large number of crack shots were booked as candidates for the honors and prizes of the occasion. They came from as far as Montana and California and some from Canada.

To Get Our Share.

Mr. William Mc Murray of Portland, General Pass, Agent, Southern Pacific, in a recent interview regarding the development of the Northwest, is quoted as saying:
"The people of Southern Oregon have enjoyed life in that favored region without thought of sharing their blessings with the outside world," said, "but now they are going to get a share of the colonists who are flocking to the coast in search of homes. Southern Oregon has the climate, the soil, the minerals and the means of transportation with the outside world, but lacks people to develop its resources. These latter we propose to furnish, and in a few years the fertile valleys and wooded hills of Jackson and Josephine counties will contain thousands of happy homes, where, up to this time, all is a comparative wilderness."

The holiday season is over and the Boss has a few things left over which must go. A fresh supply of candy has been received.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Jacksonville Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick, Nature tells you all about it. The urine is nature's calendar. Infrequent or too frequent action; Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

James Powell, living at 124 Iowa St., Ashland, Ore., says: "For twenty years I was afflicted with kidney complaint. The kidney secretions were too frequent in action and the pains in my back were so severe that I could hardly endure the misery. There were pains through my loins and my general health was in a much run down condition. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills after other remedies had failed to help me and began taking them as directed. They quickly banished the troubles and in a short time my health returned. I am now in my ninetieth year and my health is fine. I unhesitatingly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."
