OVATIONS FOR OREGON BUSINESS MEN

After a whole week spent in touring Washington points, the special train of Portland business men pulled into the Station Saturday night with excursionists intensely enthusiastic over a trip that will be discussed in the Portland Commercial Club and about town for a long time to come. Never were hosts more hospitable than the Washington communities, never was good fellowship more prevalent, never did entertained and entertainers realize more thoroughly the community of their interests in the development of the Pacific Northwest. The marvelous activity and prosperity of the whole state of Washington was a constant source of comment to the Oregonians—and they had expected much. The ovations extended to the visitors everywhere were marked by a genuineness and heartiness seldom equalled on such occasions. An inspection of the Exposition made every Oregonian a "rooster" for the A-Y-P. Oregon is not so far from the Atlantic Coast as it was. Within a few days a through train service will be put on between Portland and New York City, covering the entire distance in thirty minutes less than four days. Thoroughly informed railroad men consider that it will be a long time before this remarkable schedule is bettered.

No class is more deeply interested in Oregon than the high-grade office man of the East, who fully appreciates the exceptional investment opportunity that exists in this state. Probably fruit tracts are the most popular, at least if the following quotation from a letter written by the department manager of one of the largest packing houses in Chicago, to an Oregon friend, can be taken as any index: "I am certainly appreciative of the literature pertaining to your grand country. I am receiving more mail than our whole department. Many of our clerks have the fruit bug in their ears, and when they hear of anyone receiving dope along this line they pounce upon it like a pack of hungry wolves would on a carcass. If I should answer all the inquiries I have had during the last few days I would have to have an expert stenographer."

Visitors to the Pacific Northwest from any other portion of the United States are always impressed with the wonderfully luxuriant vegetation west of the Cascade Mountains. It keeps them busy saying "Why we cultivate the syringa as a shrub at home—here it grows wild. And those ferns, which seem to do their growing in your winter woods here, at home we would only have them in greenhouses. The rhododendrons of Yaquina Bay are famous even in Oregon, and special excursions are being run to Newport to see this gorgeous flower at its best.

Peanuts, warm and delicious at the Boss.

A Fish Story

Harry Hosler and Clyde Costello will hardly speak to Joe Alnutt, Joe Hurt and other common anglers hereabouts and we don't blame them, for since they displayed their catch of Monday morning they have been in a class by themselves. So famous have these anglers become that Bill Isaacs, the pride of Medford, has gone into total eclipse for a time. Think of landing over one hundred pounds of trout with a hook and line in less than two hours! Isn't that moving right along? That's what these boys did last Monday morning over in the Butte creek country. They would not give the Record man the exact location, fearing he might take a run out there and get the balance of the fish, and they are saving them for next Sunday's sport. —Valley Record.

Has Three Affinities

T. H. Margutti of Oakland, Cal. is charged with attempting to kill his 3-year old child. The charge is made by his wife in answer to a suit for divorce now on trial in the local courts.

Mrs. Margutti alleges that her husband once tried to smother the babe and another time left a revolver near the infant in the hope that it would shoot itself. She also alleges that he once expressed the desire to throw the child into the Bay. Mrs. Margutti declares that her husband has three affinities and that he told one of them he had made a great mistake in marrying and intended to get a divorce while he was young.

Murder at Tacoma

Martin Koalshaug, a painter was murdered at Tacoma, Friday night, while returning with his wife from a dance. Late details of the crime reveal facts that brand this as one of the most fiendish tragedies ever committed in the state. The murder was carefully planned Koalshaug's wife who furnished Charley Newcomb, the murderer with money to buy the revolver with which her husband was killed, after Newcomb had slugged and shot the murdered man took the pistol and fired two more shots into the prostrate body. Mrs. Koalshaug's story of the crime is ghastly in every detail.

Clearing Logged-Off Land.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a pamphlet showing the cost of clearing logged off land for farming in the Pacific Northwest and gives a description of the various methods employed. The pamphlet contains some valuable information and can be obtained free by those interested by writing to B. T. Galloway, Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington D. C. Ask for Circular No. 25.

Make an Example.

To the average, normal person, scarcely anything can be regarded or imagined more foolish than a "suicide pact." Still, the world suffers small less when two people who are so foolish as to enter into such a bargain carry out their mutual intent. But where one does so and the other fails the doubly cowardly survivor deserves severe and prolonged punishment, as a warning to other fractious or fantastic fools.—Ex.

Chamberlain's Liniment.

This is a new preparation and a good one. It is especially valuable as a cure for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and for the relief from pain which it affords in acute inflammatory rheumatism. Those who have used it have invariably spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Lame back, lame shoulder and stiff neck are due to rheumatism of the muscles, usually brought on by exposure to cold or damp, and are quickly cured by applying this liniment freely and massaging the affected parts. Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is allayed by this liniment. For Sale by City Drug Store.
