

ARRIVED IN MEDFORD

President of "Great" Pacific & Eastern visits "great" city—in a class of his own.

Yesterday afternoon the great railroad man, his wife and his daughter arrived in Medford, and from that time on until Meek ceased to be a pup Mr. Allen was strictly "it." He had interviews with several local men, and if Mr. Harriman find anything left when he follows the trail of the great Mr. Allen he will have to go some, and then some more.

As president of the great Pacific & Eastern railway, Mr. Allen arrived in Medford and was received with open arms by the hotel porters. To them he made it known that he was a great railway magnate on account of owning a large share of the Pacific & Eastern railway. As to Mr. Harriman and Mr. Hill, President Allen showed that they were not in his class. "I cannot say anything until I examine the great railway of which I am president," said Mr. Allen shortly after his great arrival in Medford from New York.

"Everything," exclaimed the great man, "depends upon developments. If the people of Medford put up all the money we will do the rest. After I look over the property I will try to determine what we will do about it."

—Medford Mail, Aug. 22.

LATER—In the issue of Tuesday, Mr. Bliton publishes an editorial in which he apologizes for the foregoing, and states that he "had no knowledge whatever that such an article was being prepared and did not know that it was printed until several hours after the paper had been delivered about the city."

TRIES TO MAKE ESCAPE

SALEM, Ore., August 25.—Frank Campbell, a convict, serving two years for burglary in Wasco county, while working with a gang on the state fair grounds today, attempted to escape. Two guards fired and Campbell fell. He was wounded in the back, but will probably recover. Campbell's real name is Redfield.

OREGON STATE FAIR SALE

Through the efforts of Herman Ahlers, an apiarist at Necanicum, Clatsop county, the apiary exhibit at the next Oregon State Fair, Salem, September 13-18, will be very attractive and interesting. A large space has been secured in the main pavilion from which to display the honey in its various forms and show bees encased in glass hives. A hall over one of the restaurant buildings will be placed at the disposal of the beekeepers, for the evening of the 17th, in which to hold a meeting for the purpose of forming an All-Oregon Beekeepers' Association, and all beekeepers who attend the fair should make a point to participate in the meeting. Several good speakers have promised to be present. Mr. Ahlers and others will conduct demonstrations in bee culture during the principal days of the fair, using a large wire cage in which to work, similar to that used at the 1908 fair. This alone is worth coming a long distance to witness. Mr. Ahlers is perfectly at home with bees, and believes that others can be just as successful with them. There is a large profit in beekeeping, as the products of the apiary are almost clear gain.

The Laziest Man in the World would not be contented to be kept in the house and doing nothing by rheumatism. Neither are you, who are always busy and active. Then don't neglect the first twinge or an ache or pain that you might think is just a "crick". Rub well with Ballard's Snow Liniment and no matter what the trouble is, it will disappear at once. Sold by J. W. Robinson.

REFUSED PARDON

Application of Chas. Nickell refused by President Taft

Reports from Washington state that the application for the pardon of Charles Nickell, who was convicted of conspiracy to suborn witnesses in the Oregon land fraud cases, has been denied by President Taft.

The papers were received from Taft's summer home at Beverly Tuesday by the department of justice.

How To Appropriately Water

The Post has received a communication from the State Engineer at Salem, in regard to appropriating water. Persons desiring blank applications can obtain same by addressing John H. Lewis, State Engineer, Salem Ore. The communication is in part as follows:

"Any person, association or corporation hereafter intending to acquire the right to the beneficial use of any waters shall, before commencing the construction, enlargement or extension of any ditch, canal or other distributing controlling works, or performing any work in connection with said construction, or proposed appropriation, make an application to the State Engineer for a permit to make such appropriation. Any person who shall willfully divert or use water to the detriment of others without compliance with law shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The possession or use of water, except when a right of use is acquired in accordance with law, shall be prima facie evidence of the guilt of the person using it." Sec. 45, Law of 1903.

"It shall be a misdemeanor to use, store, or divert any water until after the issuance of permit to appropriate such waters." Sec. 66, Law of 1909.

APPLICATIONS

Applications should be made upon forms prescribed by the State Engineer (not in duplicate).

An application is not a permit to appropriate water until after its approval by the State Engineer.

Three different application forms are provided, one for original or new diversions, another for the enlargement or extensions of existing works, and a third for the construction of reservoir and storage of unappropriated waters. These can be secured without charge by addressing the State Engineer, Salem, Oregon.

A permit to construct a reservoir and store surplus water does not grant the right to divert and use such stored water. Separate applications should, therefore, be made for each of these purposes.

Each application should be forwarded to the State Engineer, accompanied by the necessary maps and fees.

HILL WINS

Harriman interests in Deschutes Temporarily enjoined

Portland, Ore., Aug. 24.—James J. Hill, the empire builder, gained a victory today over Edward H. Harriman, the railroad king, in the fight between the Hill and Harriman interests for the control of a right of way in the Deschutes canyon, and the key to the mastery of central Oregon. Hill was given at least a year's start over his rival by the decision of Justice Robert S. Bean in the federal court in which the Harriman interests are temporarily enjoined from the occupancy of the disputed right-of-way in the canyon. Attorney Cotton, representing Harriman, appeared stunned by the decision and announced that he would ask an injunction compelling the Hill men to use only the 200-foot wide strip which the court gives them absolute right.

Cholera Infantum Cured.

"Something like two years ago my baby, which was then about a year old, was taken seriously ill with cholera infantum, vomiting and purging profusely, writes J. F. Dempsey of Dempsey, Ala. I did what I could to relieve her but did her no good, and being very much alarmed about her went for a physician but failed to find one so came back by Elder Bros. & Carter's store and Mr. Elder recommended Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. I procured a bottle of it, went home as quickly as possible and gave the baby a dose of the remedy. It relieved her in fifteen minutes and soon cured her entirely." For sale by City Drug Store.
