HARRIMAN TO HELP COAST

Wizard to Spend Millions in Northwestern Work.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—A large part of the millions which the Southern Pacific management has decided to raise by bond and stock issues is to be devoted to a battle which Harriman is going to wage in the Northwest with James J. Hill and the St. Paul interests, for the possession of valuable territory.

The state of Oregon is to secure railroads which were not dreamed of a few years ago and which will bring that state into the forefront of the Northwest in the way of future development.

Harriman will settle the Portland gateway fight by building his own line from Portland to Tacoma and using the Milwaukee right-of-way beyond that point to Seattle. Work on this line has already been started and the agreement with the Milwaukee road has been signed.

Parcels Post Opportunities.

It doesn't matter much, viewed from the standpoint of local trade, whether Postmaster General Meyer succeeds in introducing his parcels post plan or not if the home merchants and manufacturers will awake to their opportunities. The proposition to favor the master general appears to the home patron of the rural routes by making it easier and cheaper for him to send packages to the farmers than for the far distant concerns to do so. The opportunity presented to the local business men is evident. Let them persistently and systematically use printer's ink in drumming into the rural route people's ears the fact that they also have bargains. By judicious use of advertising space in the home paper the merchant can increase his trade enormously on this rural post routes, and he can do this right now or when the parcels post system is extended, as proposed, if that extension should take place. It's up to you, Mr. Home Storekeeper.
