An Eastern man who was down and out went insane and started to bark and bite. It might be said that he went to the dogs.

Many men act as if they were "so many" that we should think their wives would feel as if they had committed bigamy.

There is a Texas woman who claims to be 132 years of age. She probably thought it was no use trying to conceal it any longer.

The New Jersey mosquito is said to cure rheumatism. People of experience have always said that it had a peculiar way of inducing animation.

A monkey was operated upon at Omaha for appendicitis not long ago. This is one patient that the doctors didn't have to make a monkey of anyway.

An Indiana cigarette fiend is not sensitive to the pricking of needles or pins. Needles and pins have no terrors to the person who does not recoil from the coffin nails.

Roosevelt's enemies say he is crazy. If this is the case, many people would suggest that it would be a good plan to look through the insane asylums for the next president.

Some delvers into the mysteries of the evolution of man now claim that the human race originally began life in the form of trees. There are a few "sticks" left to bear out the theory.

Three billion dollars' worth of eggs are laid annually by the hens of the nation. If by their fruit ye shall know them, the hen should be the national bird. Wouldn't biddy look fine on the back of our coins holding a lay in one upraised foot and hanging onto the national debt with the other.

HOGS.

Oregon is pre-eminently a hog country. No section can excel this state for quality of production when properly finished on home-grown feed. Barley or wheat are the ideal fattening feeds for hogs. At the Oregon Experiment Station in feeding experiments conducted for the past ten years, the average amount of wheat or barley required to produce one pound gain was four and one-half pounds. It was also ascertained that it cost approximately from three and one-half to four cents per pound to grow a pig to fattening age. This must be done, however, largely in the open field on alfalfa, vetch, clover or rape.

Pigs grazed on clover during the summer have given a return in growth of over 340 per acre and from alfalfa even higher than this. Estimating that it costs four cents per pound to grow the hog and when ready to be fattened he weighs 150 pounds, makes a total cost of $6. After consuming 450 pounds of wheat or barley he should weigh 250 pounds and worth at seven cents per pound $17.50, or giving a return for 450 pounds of wheat or barley of $11.50. This gives a gross return to the farmer for his wheat of $1.53 per bushel, and for his barley $1.28 per bushel.

Field peas are also valuable for hogs. These may be fed off without harvesting and will yield a return from gain of hogs representing from $10 to $20 per acre. In alfalfa growing sections hogs can be grown very cheaply and finished economically upon barley.

APPEAL DISMISSED.

The supreme court on Tuesday dismissed the appeal in the Medford case of W. S. Clay, appellant, vs. Alzira Clay, thus virtually sustaining the decision of Judge Hanna.

The court holds that the order involved, which was an order for suit money, is not an appealable order. W. E. Phipps was the attorney for the appellant and A. E. Reames for the respondent.

NEW COUNTY

Proposed with Drain as the County seat, to be named "Williams"

Drain, Or., April 12.—The apathy manifested by the Eugene and Roseburg committees appointed some time ago to oppose the absorption of a portion of Douglas county within the lines of the proposed Nesmith county creation, and the fact that the people of Florence, Lane county, also desire to absorb the western portion of Douglas county into a new county to be known as Umpqua county, has aroused the people of Drain into an attitude of defense on their own account. A large meeting of citizens and business men held last Monday night resolved to outline still another county. A subscription paper was started and several hundred dollars was at once subscribed. The petition is being circulated throughout the town and this portion of Douglas county, and is meeting with a good response.

At the meeting a committee of seven influential business men was appointed to form the lines of the proposed county. Briefly it starts at the junction of the line of Lane county on the North and Pacific ocean, follows this line easterly to the line of the Willamette meridian, thence south to a point and west to the easterly line of Coos county, following the line to the Pacific ocean and north to the place of beginning. The committee also has decided upon the name, Williams, after Judge Williams, who died on the morning of the day the first meeting was held. It is intended to make Drain the county seat if the county is authorized by a vote of the people in November.—Ex.

A small Kansas boy was once called in to view his new born baby brother. He looked it over with dissatisfaction, and finally asked: "Mamma, where did this thing come from?" "An angel brought it Jimmie." "Wuz you awake when he came?" "Certainly, Jimmie." "Well, then, mamma, all that I have got to say, is that you are dead easy. I'd like to see any old angel put off such a looking thing on me, but I reckon we are stuck unless I kin work Johnny Green to trade it sight-unseen for one of his spotted pups."—Ex.

For the past several months stockmen in Klamath county have been losing horses and cattle, and were at a loss to know just what was preying among their herds, tells the Silver Leader. It has recently developed, however, that a large grey wolf has killed 13 head of cattle and several head of horses, to the certain knowledge of parties in that locality. One morning the wolf killed a two-year old horse which weighed 1100 pounds. A man who has seen the wolf says it is as big as a yearling steer and leaves a footprint in the dust which a man cannot cover with his hand.—Journal.
