JACKSONVILLE POST

Official Paper of the City of Jacksonville, Oregon

A weekly newspaper published every Saturday at the county seat of Jackson County, Oregon. D. W. BAGSHAW, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter June 22, 1907, at the post office at Jacksonville, Oregon, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1910

SUBSCRIPTION: One year by mail $1.50. Advertising rates furnished on application.

The Post has received a letter of inquiry from the promoters of the proposed county of Nesmith, asking our price for the insertion of a supplement to be furnished by them advertising the proposition. We have declined the proposition for these reasons: First; it is contrary to the postal regulations. Second; unless properly authenticated it is contrary to the provisions of the corrupt practice act, and Third; we are equipped to print and publish the Post in our own office and it would not be businesslike or proper to circulate such matter printed elsewhere. We have notified the parties interested that we will publish any election advertising in the regular manner at the usual rates.

Elsewhere in this paper, mention is made that Fred W. Mears of Medford has consented to enter the race as a candidate for legislative honors. Mr. Mears is a well known attorney of more than average ability, whose integrity is unquestioned, and although comparatively speaking, he is a newcomer, he has thoroughly identified himself with the interests of the county. If nominated and elected he will represent all sections of Jackson county, fairly and impartially.

The Best Remedy

For all kinds of sore eyes is Sunderland's Eagle Eye Salve. It is creamy snow white ointment and would not injure the eyes of a babe. Guaranteed. 25c. at City Drug Store.

STORE BURNS AT WIMER LOSS IS ABOUT $6,000.

The general merchandise store of Jones & Palmer, at Wimer, a little town about seven miles above Woodville, was completely destroyed by fire early Monday morning.

The loss is estimated at $6,000, with very little insurance. The proprietors were sleeping in the building and barely escaped with their lives. The origin of the fire is unknown, though it is thought to have been the work of an incendiary.

Prohibitionists Nominate.

The nominating committee of the Prohibition State Convention, which met in Portland recently, named the following state officers:

For Governor—A. E. Eaton, of Union. For Secretary of State—N. A. Davis, of Milton. For State Treasurer—Leslie Butler, of Hood River. For Congress, Second District—Geo. B. Platt, of Portland.

The platform is the most interesting feature of the convention, for it covers a wide range. Cognizance is taken of the recent convention of retail liquor dealers who have determined on a higher standard of saloons, but the Prohibition platform contends that the better the saloon, the more pernicious.

The Bond Plan.

The proposed initiative measure to empower counties to issue bonds for road purposes ought to pass. Those to whom the petitions are presented for signature should not hesitate to sign. It is an entirely proper measure to be offered the electorate, and one that is almost certain to be adopted.

The measure itself does not issue bonds. No bonds could be issued until after a vote authorizing it in the county in which such vote is taken. It is merely a plan to clothe each county with authority to use the bonding plan for improving the roads of that county if, after mature consideration, the people of that county shall, by popular vote, determine to do so.

A road is an asset of economic and social life. A farmer cannot do good farming with a broken plow or a worn out binder. He cannot haul grain to market satisfactorily or economically with a team of cayuse ponies, or on a wagon with half the spokes out of one wheel. Nor can he economically or satisfactorily transport his products to the buyer or railroad station over a cayuse road. The attempt to do so is costly, wasteful and helps to cause failure. The cayuse road costs the farmers of the country $300,000,000, and the farmers of Oregon $2,000,000 every year. It is an awful toll on human endeavor, and that is why the plan has been evolved for authorizing any Oregon county to issue bonds as an aid in good road building. It is unthinkable that the measure can meet with serious opposition.—Journal.

Central Point.

From The Herald.

Almonds will be a splendid crop in Rogue River Valley this season.

The wheat hay crop is the best in in quality for many seasons.

More cement walks are still under course of construction and our city continues to grow. Let us hope that the last mossback has shed his skin.

No, that was not the chain gang you saw on the streets of Central Point, that was merely an army of laborers putting in a couple of hundred of taps for patrons of the new water system.

The report that the Norcross orchard had been sold for $25,000 was erroneous as only one half the place was sold for the handsome sum of $10,000, the purchaser being a Mr. Buz, recently of Chicago.

Charles M. Davis, painter and decorator, recently of Tenino, Washington, has announced his intention of opening a paint, paper and window fixtures establishment in Central Point if a suitable building can be obtained.

Prosperity grows on trees in the Rogue River Valley, but the trees bearing this splendid variety of fruit do not come up volunteer. The self pruning, self cultivating orchard is only the dream of the mossback.

William Sturtevant of Heppner was transacting business in Central Point Friday. Mr. Sturtevant paid a visit to the Rogue River Valley twelve years ago and is more than surprised at the wonderful development which has taken place in that time.

Crawl out of that old turtle shell of do-nothing and make a start in life. Roses are born of thorns but figs are not the fruit of thistles. Pull the spider webs from your eyes and do a little looking, you will soon see some way to boost your home town.

Canyonville will have to come again in the matter of potatoes, peas, cabbage and other delicious garden delicacies. Frank Hawk's floral potatoes are still in evidence. Upon examination it is found that these vines, while yet in bloom, have potatoes on their roots as large as hen's eggs, but that's nothing. Grandpa Jeffers, who lives just across the street from the Herald office, has real potatoes and brought the scribe a mess of them. They may not be better than Canyonville spuds, or Hawk's Irish lemons, but they taste better to us.

Oregon Sidelights.

Oregon is now a colossal vista of beauty.

Nehalem will soon have a new water pipe line.

Vale postoffice receipts are increasing heavily.

Falls City has a new rock crusher and steam roller.

Great first alfalfa crop along the lower Umatilla.

Tillamook has got conspicuously on the map at last.

Woodburn at last is to have a system of sewerage, something long needed.

An automobile trip, with five passengers, has been made already to Crater Lake from Medford.

Ashland by refusing a railroad franchise, is considered mossback by some people of other towns.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangement, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.
