The foundations for the steel tower to support the water tank at the court house, are being constructed this week. The foundations are of concrete and will be about 13 inches above the surface of the ground.

The many friends of Judge H. K. Hanna will be glad to learn that he is reported better, having improved greatly in the last day or two it is hoped and expected that he will regain his usual health in a short time.

Any merchant in Jacksonville, who advertises in the Post, can and will, sell you goods of the same grade, as cheap or cheaper than you can buy of the catalogue houses, if you will give them the chance. Try them and be convinced.

J. M. Dews suggests that we "kick" regarding the hot weather during the past week. He says that the sun's rays coming "sky-groggling" across lots make it entirely too hot for comfort. We were at a loss to understand the meaning of "sky-groggling" but have had it defined by an eminent authority as, "waterwampus, bias, diagonal," etc. Polk says the word was used a great deal in early days, in describing the location of roads, lines, etc.

D. Force was a visitor at Medford Thursday.

L. Niedermeyer was transacting business in town Thursday.

Mrs. R. B. Dow left Thursday for a few days visit with friends at Ashland.

J. Percy Wells was elected Secretary of the Association. The next tournament will be held in this city.

Sunday the quota of Ashland's insane persons in the county bastille was increased by the arrival of Deputy Thornton with a man named Henry Lilly who it is alleged, had been cutting up didoes which no sane person would attempt. This is three cases from that town in one week, and as Ashland is a "dry" town the fault must be in the water system.

Rev. C. H. Johnston will deliver an illustrated lecture on South Africa, showing the manners, customs, etc. of the people of that country, as seen by the lecturer during his residence and work as a teacher in that region. Don't miss it. It will be especially interesting, showing scenes from actual photographs taken on the spot. Tickets 35 and 15 cents. Wednesday evening, at the court house.

Our reporter strolled into the Jacksonville Bakery recently and was considerably surprised at the facilities found there for making fine bread and pastry. The proprietor Mr. Wetzel, has recently installed a fine new oven of the latest style provided with all the modern attachments for regulating, etc. and capable of turning out more than 1200 loaves of bread per day, and costing a good round sum of money. In fact the oven would be a credit to any baker shop in a city several times larger than Jacksonville. We were pleased with the manner in which Mr. Wetzel conducts the establishment; everything is neat and clean, and he assured us that he used the best grade of flour and other materials in the preparation of his bread and pastry. Give his bread a trial and you will not need to swelter over a hot stove this warm weather.
