FIRE AT MEDFORD

Tuesday Morning Destroys Dwelling Occupied by W. A. Todd.

Fire Tuesday morning at 1:45 o'clock destroyed the two-story frame residence and furniture at 232 West Sixth street, occupied by W. A. Todd of the Todd bakery, and owned by Emil Mohr of the Moore hotel.

The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Todd alone, and the two made a narrow escape from a fiery death. They were sleeping downstairs in a west room and were awakened, half suffocated by smoke.

Mr. Todd jumped from bed and opened the door to the hallway. There flames were roaring. He called to Mrs. Todd to grab her clothing, and the two fled.

The Home telephone building is next door to the east, and Mr. Todd hurried to that building, and the night operator, Mrs. Gardner, turned in the alarm to the department through the Pacific States telephone office. By this time the building was a mass of flame and fanned by a high wind.

A small amount of furniture was saved, but the bulk of it and all clothing and every other article in the other article in the house was consumed. Small insurance was carried by Mr. Todd on his furniture.

BONDS VOTED

For New School Building at Talent.

By an overwhelming vote of 54 to 4 the Talent district decided in an election held Saturday to issue bonds to the amount of $27,500 for the purpose of erecting an up-to-date school building.

The plans for the building are being prepared and it is the intention to erect a handsome two-story structure that will be one of the most handsome school edifices in the valley.

A site covering five acres, slightly elevated above the general level of the valley has been secured.

A Medicine

That lives ten years must have merit. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey has been sold for sixteen years, and sales have increased every year. So you run no risk. We guarantee it. Sold at City Drug Store.

GOVERNOR WEST

Indorses the Good Roads Movement.

Governor West's strong indorsement of the Good Roads cause in his message to the Legislature has given the better highways movement tremendous encouragement and strength.

"We may sing the state's praises to the sky and spend a fortune in advertising our resources to attract home-seekers and settlers," said Governor West, "but we will have but little success unless we can point to some movement toward the construction of Good Roads over which the products of the farm may be handled to market."

"Realizing how greatly the state was in need of good roads, and that through our slipshod methods of road patching thousands of dollars of the people's money was being squandered annually, a number of our public spirited citizens through their organization, the Oregon Good Roads Association, have thoroughly investigated the whole question of road building and I understand will submit to your consideration a number of bills which embody their views and recommendations in the matter. Knowing that their recommendations are being prompted solely by an earnest desire to see this state gridironed by the best system of highways in the world, and at the least possible cost to the taxpayers, I ask that the whole question be kindly given the most careful consideration by you."

With Governor West's support has been joined the promises of many legislators that they will support the Good Roads cause and the bills that have been framed to meet the good roads construction need.

PITMAN IS DEAD

As a Result of Injuries Received Last Week.

Sidney Pitman, the man who was injured in a quarrel with Charles Robinson at Medford, last week died at the Southern Oregon hospital, Sunday night.

Robinson who is now in the county jail in default of $5,000 bail on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, will it is said endeavor to interpose a plea of self defense as a justification.

A coroner's inquest over the body of Pitman was held Monday afternoon, the verdict being that "Pitman came to his death at the hands of Charles Robinson." The jury was composed of J. M. Gurley, M. A. Rader, L. L. Damon, M. F. McGowan, H. C. Burgess, and J. C. Garnett. G. W. Cherry represented the District Attorney's office.

Whiskey is a good friend but a poor master. Used in moderation it cheers, inspires and strengthens men. In this best yet. Directors met during the past week and outlined a broad policy for the organization that augurs well for its future. As an aid in fostering the livestock industry, this organization is doing a great work for the Pacific Northwest.

PORTLAND LETTER.

Head of State Development League Sees Bright Future --- Live Stock Show March 20-22.

Portland, Or., Jan. 17 (Special).—Wide interest and confidence in Oregon throughout the East was noticed by Theodore B. Wilcox, president of the Oregon Development League, who has just returned from a business trip. He found the railroads are advertising Oregon extensively and expects this, in connection with the other work along similar lines, will bring a flood of settlers. Mr. Wilcox found the belief general throughout the East that the completion of the Panama Canal will be of great benefit to the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Wilcox showed the pride he feels in his state when he said: "On my trip I passed through Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia. I do not hesitate to say I would not give the poorest acre in the whole Northwest for ten of the best in that section of the country, that is, for agricultural purposes."

The new railroads up the Deschutes River into Interior Oregon are going forward at a rapid rate and are both practically ready for trains for a distance of 71 miles from the mouth of the river. The Harriman line expects to reach the 82nd milepost by February 1, leaving 51 miles to be built to Redmond. It is expected this will be accomplished in May. The Hill road will probably be completed as far as Bend early next summer.

United States engineers have officially approved the project for a 30-foot channel to the sea from Portland and they recommend an appropriation of $520,000 for starting the work. The officials contemplate the dredging and maintenance of a channel 30 feet deep and 300 wide. This will be far easier, it is believed, than was the original improvement of the river, which has been deepened from 17 to 27 feet at low tide.

Portland people are becoming interested in the 1911 exhibition of the Portland Fair and Livestock Association, which is expected to be the best yet. Directors met during the past week and outlined a broad policy for the organization that augurs well for its future. As an aid in fostering the livestock industry, this organization is doing a great work for the Pacific Northwest.

Hardware and farm implement dealers of the state will assemble in Portland for their annual convention on January 24-27. Trade questions will be discussed and problems that confront the merchants will be solved. Parcels Post will come up for consideration and other vexed matters will be untangled.

The first annual Pacific Northwest Livestock Show will be held in Portland March 20, 21 and 22. It will be an exhibit of fat stock, patterned after similar shows held in the packing centers of the Middle West. It will be of great educational value to those interested in livestock and will aid in the extension of the industry in the Northwest. The show has the backing of the livestock interests as well as the active support of James J. Hill and others interested in the development of this section of the country.

Oregon Sidelights.

Thief stole some blankets from the city jail in Eugene.

Real estate sales are quite numerous around Newberg.

Scapoose dairymen avoid buying millfeed by raising kale.

Lane county ducks are becoming wise; will not fly near blinds.

Big ranch near Canyonville, Douglas county, has been divided into five farms.

The outlook now is that Falls City will experience the biggest building season since the town started.

A chicken plant will be installed at Myrtle Creek consisting of a Wyandotte rooster, several dozen thoroughbred eggs, an incubator and a brooder.

At Eols Thomas W. Brunk, R. Brunk and G. T. Brunk commemorated the anniversary of a New Year's dinner which they had attended 51 years previous.

The new year will usher in an era of building activities that will place Forest Grove in the first rank among Oregon cities, as a progressive and growing community, says the News.

Though Weston lost its normal school its postoffice receipts for December were the largest in volume for any single month since the postoffice was established more than 40 years ago.

Grass Valley Journal: We think there would be less pilfering going on in Moro if certain parties were made to go to work to earn a living. One party lost a half hog, another two sacks of flour with complaints still coming in.

Everything now indicates that Union will see one of the best years in its history in 1911. The erection of a $50,000 high school building, and the installation of a new lighting and water plant are features that will contribute largely to the advancement of the city, reports the Republican.

Estacada Progress: There are about 400 men now employed at the River Mill power site. The work is progressing very favorably. There are about 18 families who live in temporarily constructed houses and canvas tents. This with the warehouses and workshops of the construction company gives the locality a cityfied appearance.

The Nehalem, while one of the most fertile has been one of the most isolated sections of Oregon. Now, however, an excellent public highway on almost a water level grade is being built through it, also a telephone line, and it will not be long before every section of Clatsop county will have not only its permanently improved roads but its telephone lines as well.

Dallas Itemizer: About a year ago J. M. Briggs purchased for $7.50 a poor sow that he thought he would take home and fatten up for their winter's bacon. It was not long until she presented him with a litter of pigs, and has since that repeated the dose. The increase he has disposed of at various times for a total sum of $230, and it has cost him not to exceed $10 for her keep, she living on acorns and such except when having her young to feed, when shorts were added to the swill fed.

Medford Mail Tribune: The present cold snap and snowstorm is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Rogue River Valley. Not only does the heavy snowfall in the mountains insure ample water for placer mining, but it means a good flow of water during the coming season in streams. Apple growers have been praying for cold weather, claiming the records of years show that a fancy apple crop only follows a cold winter and that frost is necessary to drive the sap into the soil to insure flavor and keeping qualities to the apple.

You can't say that Chicago is not great on good manners. A woman there carefully removed another woman's glasses before slapping her in the face.

Never before in the history of this part of the country did the water wagon start off the new year with so copious a supply of the raw material.

Governor Dix rolls up his sleeves and pitches in as if he were going to show New Yorkers what a working Governor can do.

CASE IS LOST

Supreme Court Denies Petition to Reopen Suit Against Harrington.

The supreme court of Oregon has rendered a decision refusing to reopen the suit of Mrs. Victor E. Snyder versus John Harrington, which is in the nature of a confirmed victory for Harrington. Attorney W. E. Phipps, for Mrs. Snyder, petitioned the court for a reopening of the case.

The interpretation of this is that she will have to be content with Judge McBride's decision whereby she secured a judgment for $700 and an interest in the fixtures of the Office cafe, with the proviso that she repay $600 of that sum to the late John von Ehwegen, who died a few days since. This is an old case which has been fought in the court for upwards of three years. Victor Snyder had a working interest in the Office cafe, according to Harrington's contention, which his wife has been fighting for in the courts in various forms for the time stated.—Sun.

TESTED AND PROVEN

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Jacksonville readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

J. H. Shafer, 968 E. Elm Street, Ashland, Ore., says: "I was in bed with kidney trouble and despite all my efforts, I seemed unable to get relief. The kidney secretions were unnatural and my back was extremely lame. At night I was restless and if I caught the slightest cold, it settled in my kidneys, causing my condition to become worse. Being told of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and before I had used them long, felt better. I was soon in good health and my kidneys no longer caused me trouble. My advice to anyone afflicted in a similar way is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial." (Statement given December 15, 1907.)

CONFIRMED PROOF.

When Mr. Shafer was interviewed on October 23, 1909, he said: "My former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. I am now in good health and my kidneys give me little or no trouble."
