THE POULTRY YARD.

Keep the dust box supplied with nice clean dust, and see that the grit box is never empty.

Keeping many breeds is a poor way to succeed. Get down to one or two varieties and give them the best of care.

If the hens were compelled to work a little harder these days for what grain they get, it would be a good thing for them.

As the new corn gets dry and hard it is safe to feed more than when it was soft and green. It is more easily digested and gives better results.

Never feed meat scraps that were made of rotten meat. Good, pure feed is the only thing that ever ought to be fed to a fowl of any kind.

During winter the drinking vessels must be emptied each evening; it is much easier to do that than it is to break a solid cake of ice in them the next morning.

If it possibly can be done, clean up the droppings each day. It is work that will repay one. Never allow this cleaning to be delayed longer than a week.

Leaving the birds to fight their own battles against lice and other enemies may save some work, but it will cost some eggs; and eggs are worth money these days.

Do not delay any longer the job of culling out the poor stock. It is a mistake to keep even a single unprofitable fowl. Have the stock up in quality rather than in quantity.

If the hens are fed hot corn for supper, they will go to bed happy these cold winter nights. Feed it just as hot as they can eat it comfortably. Shell some in a baking-pan and stir and heat it in the oven.

As the weather grows colder, increase the supply of corn. It is a heating food. But never feed it alone. A good grain mixture for winter is two parts whole corn, one part each wheat and oats; all well mixed.

Many hens never know what it is to be comfortable from one end of the winter to the other, except on a day when it thaws. You can not expect hens to do well under such conditions. To do well they must be comfortable.

The worst thing is to make poultry drink ice-cold water; chills them clear through. They must warm that water before the work of digestion can go on again. Warm the water for them—not hot, but just comfortably warm.—Farm Journal.

Women's Time Schedules.

Few women speak of a train starting slightly off the even hour, as the 3:02 train, for example, or the 3:12. "Three" will do. It bothers a man a heap to go hunting for a 3 o'clock train by feminine directions when it is a 3:12 train. For some women "3" will do for the 2:54 train; it's near enough. Then the man following feminine directions, unless he is on his guard against these pitfalls, is lost. Probably if it weren't for his business training, which teaches a man that 3:02 is not 3, not 3:01, not 3:01 1/2, not 3:01 1/4, but 3:02, he'd be better natured about women's time schedules.—Boston Post.

The Soft Answer.

Two men were occupying a double seat in a crowded car. One of them was a long distance whistler and the other was evidently annoyed. "You don't seem to like my whistling?" said the noisy one after a five minute continuous performance. "No, I don't," was the frank reply. "Well," continued the other, "maybe you think you are man enough to stop it?" "No, I don't think I am," rejoined the other, "but I hope you are." And the whistling was discontinued.—Argonaut.

Poise.

When you lose your temper, when you procrastinate, when you get nervous, excited; when you are blue and disappointed, when you worry, you lose much of your energy, your efficiency; you cannot bring the whole, complete, positive man to your task. A discordant, troubled, unbalanced mind is in no condition to create, produce. It is negative, and a negative mind cannot produce.

Never mind what others do; run your own machine, think your own thought, live your own life. Let others fret and worry, if they will; keep your poise, your serenity. Do not imitate, follow, pretend or pose. Be fearless, self reliant, independent. Be yourself.—Success Magazine.

Shakespeare's Irishman.

An Englishman and an Irishman were having an argument on the subject of Shakespeare. "I defy you," said the former, "to find a single Irish character in the whole of his works."

"Well, I can give you two, at all events," replied the Irishman—"Miss O'Phelia and Corry O'Lanus."

He forgot Hamlet's intimate friend, who stood beside him while he was contemplating his uncle in devotion, and observed, "How could I do it, Pat, while he is praying?"—Springfield Republican.

Where He Wanted to Go.

A man went into the ticket office of the Colorado Midland railway recently and said to the ticket agent, "I want to get a ticket to Lame Water, Colo."

"To what place?" asked the perplexed ticket man.

"Lame Water. It's a mining camp." The agent put his head in his hands and thought deeply a moment. "Oh," he said finally, "you mean Cripple Creek, don't you?"

"Yes, that's the place," said the man; "I got it wrong."—Denver Post.

How the Roman Empire Grew.

Rome was founded 750 B. C., the kings were expelled 509 B. C., and it was not until 290 B. C., 460 years after the founding of the city, that the Romans conquered their immediate neighbors, the Samnites, Latins, etc. It was not until 266 B. C., following the defeat of Pyrrhus, that Rome was supreme in Italy, from the southern boundary of Cisalpine Gaul to the Sicilian strait. For 350 years, from the foundation of the city, the Romans could stand on the hills of their city and almost look across their entire territory, as it stretched away only some twenty miles on either hand. After the consolidation of their power in Italy, however, it took them but 150 years to conquer the world.

In perfect health there is always a fine feeling of buoyancy and exhilaration, of strength and conscious power. The reverse is the case when the Liver is Torpid. It is a dead weight that hampers every organ in the body and fills the system with impurities that undermine the constitutional strength.

In All Such Cases the Remedy is

HERBINE

THE GREAT TONIC AND INVIGORANT For Torpid Liver and Constipated Bowels.

When the Liver gets Torpid, it brings with it a long train of symptoms. The most prominent are: bad digestion, dizziness, constipation, vertigo—which means spells of blindness on stooping or rising suddenly, sallow complexion, flatulence or wind in the bowels, intolerable lassitude which the victim is ashamed of but cannot overcome. Great discouragement, a feeling that everything and everybody is against him. The fine cleansing and rejuvenating influence of Herbine is just the thing needed in this condition. It acts at once on the Liver, Stomach and Bowels. The Liver responds promptly to its stimulating effect. The Bowels are emptied and purified through its excellent cathartic properties. The digestion is strengthened and the whole system renovated. As a result the patient feels better. He begins to improve with the first dose and a few days use puts him in fine vigorous condition. Try it.
