Womanly Wisdom

The trials that make us Fume and fret, The burdens that make us Groan and Sweat,— Are the things that haven't Happened yet.
 Make your life a blessing to everybody about you.
 To keep clothes from freezing to the line put a handful of salt in the last rinsing water.
 After peeling apples drop the mot in cold water. This will prevent their becoming discolored.
 To suit both those who like beef-steak rare and well done, cut it in two and partly cook one piece before putting the other one on.
 Hang a shoe-brush up in front of the iron scraper, and try to get the men in the habit of using it to take off the mud the scraper leaves.
 Washing lamp-chimneys by immersing them in water often makes them brittle. A safer way to clean them is to hold them for a few minutes over a steaming kettle. Then polish them briskly with a soft cloth.
 One of the rewards of wide reading is the broadened outlook it gives one on life. The well-told experiences of others seem to become a part of your own and hardly distinguishable from them in the memory.
 A small square of blanket folded over and sewed up, leaving one end open, makes an effective foot warmer for any one troubled with cold feet, and will add greatly to one's comfort these cold nights. This is more convenient and satisfactory than the usual hot-water bottle.
 It seems as if almost anybody could bake an apple so that it would be nice eating; but here is a way that is extra good: With a narrow-bladed knife take out the core, fill the hole with sugar, set the apple into the oven in a dish that will hold water and keep plenty of water around it until it is soft, and it will be fit for anybody to eat, farmer or king.
 Raw potatoes are better for frying than cooked ones. Slice them very thin into cold water; have a frying pan well covered with boiling-hot fat; throw the potatoes in with all the water that will adhere to them—it lightens and puffs them. Season, and turn over them another frying pan. Lift it often and turn the bottom ones on top. When nearly done take off the covering pan and let them brown. —Farm Journal.

TOURING IN INDIA.

You Literally Take Up Your Bed Wherever You Go.
 You are supposed to carry your own bedding with you just as you carry your own toothbrush. In the trains—and there are very long train journeys by slow trains in India—in the guest houses of the native princes, in camp, of course, always, and in the hotels and inns your own bedding is a necessity. Indeed, you can scarcely carry too much in India if you wish to be comfortable. All sorts of clothing from fur coats to the thinnest linen, all sorts of hats from a cap to a pith helmet, a spirit lamp, a folding table and chair, a small amount of tinned or bottled food and a supply of mineral water for the train, a large supply of linen and under-clothing, for one changes often, and the laundry work is done by beating on flat stones. The changes of temperature from noon till midnight are startling. One must give up cold baths and take tepid or hot water and be careful indeed what and how much one eats and drinks—no alcohol before sunset, and very little then, and the plainest and most nourishing food.
 In this land, as large almost as the whole of Europe, there are only a few large cities where one can buy any of the luxuries or comforts of life outside the obvious, and what you need you must carry with you. On a large scale you do what the native does—you carry your household gods and goods about with you.
 How differently "pick up your bed and walk" sounds in your ears when you see a whole population of hundreds of millions actually carrying their beds with them whenever they move. Why should one take heed as to what one shall eat or drink or wear when a handful of rice, a thimbleful of water and a loin cloth suffice? The group of servants in front of their master's door at the hotel or the hundreds of families I have seen traveling by train, by bullock cart or even on foot have squeezed and sifted life's necessities down to the vanishing point.—Price Collier in Scribner's Magazine.

Ballard's Snow Liniment
 It is a Powerful Preventive, as Well as a Speedy Cure
 Rub it in on the parts affected whenever the conditions seem to indicate a spell of this painful ailment; it will warm the joints and ward off the trouble. If the disorder has already commenced, the treatment is the same, the rubbing helps the liniment to penetrate to the seat of pain. The relief is prompt and very satisfactory; the aching joints are relieved, the muscles relaxed so that the sufferer feels again the strength and suppleness of youth.
 For fresh wounds of all kinds, it is a wonderful remedy. Try it for cuts, burns, bruises, sores, galls, chafed spots, barbed wire cuts, sprains, swellings, frost bites. It cures quickly and completely.
 Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per Bottle.
