GOOD ROADS MEETING

At Court House Thursday Night. Addresses By Colvig and Gore.

A Good Roads meeting was held in the court house Thursday evening at which there was a small attendance and considerable enthusiasm.

Addresses were made by W. M. Colvig and W. Gore of Medford who discussed the road issue from various standpoints. The meeting was generally considered a success though the attendance should have been larger.

It is a well known fact that the people of this city are in favor of good roads; the only difference of opinion being in regard to the method of raising the necessary funds for construction thereof, the question of issuing bonds will be decided next Saturday.

LEAVING RUSSIA

Eighty Thousand Jews Seek New Homes in 1910

London, Sept. 20.—Eighty thousand Jews left Russia in 1910, of whom 60,000 settled in the United States, the rest going to Argentine, Brazil and Palestine. These figures are given by the Jewish Colonization association, founded 20 years ago by Baron Hirsch. Most of these Jewish emigrants have been set up as farmers by the association. In all more than 100,000 Jews left Europe last year.

PORTLAND LETTER

Plans to Promote Hog Industry. Special Session of Legislature Recommended by Highway Commission.

Portland, Or., Sept. 19 (Special)—A banker at Bend, believing the hog is a great source of wealth, has arranged for the purchase, through the Portland Union Stock yards Co., of two or three cars of sows of good blood in the Middle West and will sell them to the farmers around Bend, taking their notes for them for one year. This shows the confidence the bankers have in the hog as a mortgage lifter and the plan promises to aid very materially in building up a greater hog industry in the interior.

The annual convention of the Oregon Wool Growers' Association will be held in Baker November 14 and 15. Problems that confront the woolmen will be taken up and discussed and the tariff will be one of the leading features of general interest.

A special session of the Legislature to enact good roads legislation has been recommended by Governor West's commission, which has just met and outlined several bills. These provide for state aid, a state highway commissioner, and for enabling counties to avail themselves of the bonding act for road purposes passed at the last general election. The commissioners, who represent all parts of the state, are hopeful that much will be accomplished in the good roads movement by the enactment of these measures.

October 1 has been set finally as the date for the opening of the new Southern Pacific line to Tillamook and adjoining sections of the coast country. A portion of the new road is already in operation but on that date trains will be run from one end of the line to the other, and regular service will be established.

Milo Maize is found to be an excellent substitute for corn on the dry lands of Central Oregon. Experiments made with it the past season prove it will make a good stock plant for the semi-arid districts. Because of its successful introduction into the interior, many farmers will probably plant large tracts to this crop next year, feeding it to cattle and hogs.

Teachers and others interested in public work throughout the Northwest will want to attend the Playground and Recreation Institute to be held at Seattle, October 17, 18 and 19, the first gathering of this kind ever held in the Pacific Northwest. Officers of the Playground Association of America and well known workers will attend. Following this gathering will be a three day session of the Northwestern Conference of Charities and Corrections, October 22 and 23 will be spent in Portland, where conferences on the local playground work will be held.

The Second annual Clarke County Fair, to be held at Vancouver, Wash., October 4, 5, 6 and 7, will be of interest to Oregonians and October 7 has been fixed as Portland Day. Splendid exhibits of products of Southwest Washington will be displayed and fine stock shown.

Great benefits to the Pacific Northwest will follow the opening of the Panama Canal, according to Bernard N. Baker, retired steamship owner, who is visiting in Portland. Reductions of one-third and one-half in freight rates are predicted on shipments to and from the Atlantic Coast cities.

USE OF ODD LENGTHS

Will Result in a Material Saving of Lumber

Washington D. C., September 21.—The investigation carried on last year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, cooperating with lumber manufacturers in the South, to determine the saving that can be effected by using odd lengths of lumber as well as even, has begun to bear fruit. That investigation showed that a material saving was practicable, and at a recent meeting of a southern manufacturers association the fact was brought out that a beginning has been made in putting the new plan into practice and that an increase in the sale of odd lengths is anticipated for the near future.

It was formerly the custom, and generally is so still, to sell lumber in even lengths only. Waste resulted from cutting off the ends of odd lengths to make them even. A considerable percentage of a sawmill's output is defective. That is, boards have had knots, decayed spots, or split ends, and the defective parts are cut out. To make an even length of what remains, it is often necessary to cut off a foot of good wood with the bad, and it is wasted. The practice of marketing odd lengths as well as even is meant to lessen the waste. The sale of odd lengths of lumber will frequently lessen waste in the woods also: for example, a log may be cut fifteen feet long which, following the old custom, would be cut only fourteen, and the extra foot would be left in the woods. The introduction of odd lengths meets with opposition from many builders who are prejudiced in favor of even lengths simply because they have never used any other kind. Nevertheless, there are many places in which odd lengths are more economical than even ones, for instance, where nine-foot studding is used. Following former custom, the ends must be cut from even lengths to make the timbers fit. Some manufacturers of flooring successfully sell odd and even lengths, thus lessening waste in the woods, at the mill, and in the construction of buildings.

Oregon Sidelights.

Heppner citizens are actively agitating in the interest of a creamery proposition.

Woodburn is to have a 5 and 10 cent store. Portland parties are making the venture.

Twenty-five dollars for the library fund was netted at a sale conducted at the West drug store by the Woman's club of Woodburn.

Coquille Sentinel: In future all persons serving time in the county jail will work on the county roads. It is not known yet whether they will have a guard or be equipped with a ball and chain.

Two Redmond men, J. O. Cooley and C. V. Lincoln, have struck it rich at their placer mine in the Cornucopia district on Pine creek, in Baker county. They are taking out an ounce or more per day.

Metolius Central Oregonian: A work train carrying 150 laborers and a large volume of equipment has arrived and will remain three or four months, laying additional sidetracks and doing other work in the yards.

It is proposed at Corvallis, in planting trees on the streets, to apportion a distinct tree to each thoroughfare. The residents of Jefferson street will meet tomorrow night in the endeavor to select a tree for that street for that street.

Condon Globe: The irrigation project at Rock Creek is getting along as well as can be expected. A large dam is being built and the farmers expect to have enough water to irrigate at least 15,000 acres of the Shutter flat.

Falls City News: All the buildings on the south side of North Main street have been brought up to a uniform grade. A cement sidewalk will soon be completed in front of those buildings from Bridge street to Third street.

Corvallis Gazette-Times: Charles R. Thomson of Portland a popular O. A. C. student who will graduate this year and who is the new editor in chief of the Barometer, is in Corvallis making preparations to begin his work here.—Journal.

A joint institute for Jackson and Josephine counties will be held at Medford, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 25, and continuing for three days. All teachers employed in the public schools within either of the counties are required by law to attend. About three hundred teachers are expected to be present.

The superintendents of the counties named have endeavored to make this one of the best and most interesting meetings ever held by the teachers of the district. The instructors secured to address the institute are among the best obtainable and comprise the following well-known educators: State Superintendent of Public Instruction L. R. Alderman; J. H. Ackerman, President of the State Normal School, at Monmouth, Ore.; Miss Montara Hastings, formerly of Columbia College, but now connected with the Educational Department of the University of Oregon, and others.

The Institute will be arranged in divisions for primary, intermediate and high school teachers; also, special meetings for superintendents and principals.

On Friday, October 27, the different school boards will meet in convention to discuss matters of interest to school officers. Members of school boards are also requested and expected to attend the sessions of the institute.

RICH STRIKE.

Made on Thompson Creek, Near Applegate Postoffice.

The Applegate section is again the scene of a rich mining strike this time at the Afterthought mine, a property which has been worked for several years by its owners, John R. and Floyd Bailey. The mine is located on Thompson creek about one and a half miles from Applegate post office in the same section of the country and not many miles distant from the once famous Steamboat mine, which produced over $600,000.

The owners have been for some time tunneling in the lower of the two levels and exposing ore running from $200 to $500 per ton, but one day last week they struck an exceptionally rich streak of specimens ore which is heavy quartz free gold. This rock is white quartz literally heavy with metal and shot full of free gold. It is found in a well defined contact between andesite porphyry and slate and has every appearance of being a permanent vein, and is pronounced by many as the most promising property in this section.—Mail Tribune.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Jacksonville Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Jacksonville citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

John Kremer, farmer, Jacksonville, Ore., says: "For years I suffered from kidney trouble and although I used one remedy after another, I was unsuccessful in finding relief until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved so beneficial that I am only too pleased to give them my endorsement."
