A New Use For Cactus

A consular report from Montevideo suggests that the people of the southwestern United States, where cactus is abundant, and often a nuisance, might follow the example of the Uruguayans and utilize this plant in making whitewash. When travelling through the rural districts of Uruguay one's attention is attracted by the fine white color of the farm buildings, even during the wet season. The whitewash is made from the sliced leaves of the common cactus, macerated in water for 54 hours. To the creamy solution thus produced lime is added. When applied to any surface, a durable pearly white appearance is produced. —Scientific American.

Annual Apple Show Opened.

The twenty-sixth annual apple show to be held under the auspices of the Oregon State Horticulture society opened Wednesday morning in the Yeon building at Portland. In connection with it will be the annual meeting of the society.

Many entries have been made for the apple show, which will be one of the best ever held by the society. The show and meetings will cover a four days, program, ending Saturday.

Alleged Potash Discovery.

Germany's exactions for potash may have been a good thing in disguise, for this Government was stirred to seek the great basis for fertilizer compound within the confines of the United States. It is now said that a wonderfully rich deposit has been discovered near Washington. It has all been gobbled up by a syndicate, so it is likely that the farmers will not profit very greatly, although the price will probably be reduced.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? Sold by all dealers.

SPORTSMAN and TELEPHONE

EVERY TIME a man wants to get away from all connection with the busy world, the telephone is an important helper.

The Local Service is useful in arranging his affairs at home and the Long Distance Service of the Bell System helps him to decide where to go and what to take.

By means of his Bell Telephone he can find out whether the fish are biting or the birds are flying, and whether guides or horses can be secured.

After he has been out awhile, if he wants to get word from the city, the nearest Bell Telephone is a friend in need.

A Child's Delight

is a few of our delicious Candies, but older children, we notice, never turn up their noses at them. The most critical judges pronounce our confections to be pure and wholesome, and we ourselves vouch for the positive cleanliness of their ingredients, and their making and handling. But—though of the highest grade—the prices are moderate.

Medford papers have recently published several articles relative to farmers in this valley raising vegetables, etc. for their home market. There is little doubt but that the farms in the valley and its tributaries could produce all the vegetables needed to supply the entire population of Southern Oregon, and most of the grain for flour and feed as well, but with the present price of farm land it is not to be expected that landowners would put $300 to $1000 per acre land into crops yielding a profit of from $6 to $25 per acre. The flattering prospects of the fruitgrowing industry is in a measure responsible for the high price of farm land and the dearth of vegetable products in the valley; bringing the price of farm lands to what such lands are actually worth, that is to a price where the returns from general farming will yield a fair profit to the farmer for his labor and interest on the capital invested in the lands, then and not till then, can we expect to see much diversified farming in this valley. In the mean time we will continue paying freight on farm produce grown elsewhere and shipped in to supply our market.

aviator named Tacks fell and was killed near Hamburg. The loss which was most keenly felt in America, however, was occasioned by the death of Eugene Ely, the Curtiss aviator, at Macon Ga., on October 18th. Ely was making one of those daring dips for which Hamilton became famous, when he miscalculated and struck the ground with terrific force. He was thrown out and his neck was broken. Ely was using a machine without any front control, while he had been used to a biplane with a front horizontal rudder. The slower response of the former type to a movement of the elevator was doubtless responsible for Ely's death, although the immediate cause was the performing of foolhardy tricks. On October 27th Jean Desparmet fell 600 feet in a 100-horse-power Bleriot military monoplane at Rheims, while on the 31st Prof. John J. Montgomery was killed in California. —Scientific American

Noted Author Shot

Warsaw, Nov. 16.—Henry Sienkiewicz, author of "Quo Vadis" and other novels, is in a hospital here to-day suffering from a shot wound inflicted by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of a fellow hunter, while shooting pheasants. Some of the shot lodged in his forehead near the left eye.

Our New Battleships.

Plans and specifications are now being prepared in the Navy Department for the two super-dreadnaught battleships authorized at the last session of Congress. These ships, which will be named the "Oklahoma" and "Nevada," will contain many novel features, the most important of which will be the introduction of the three-gun turret, of which there will be two, containing six 14-inch guns. The other four 14-inch guns will be carried in two-guns turrets. The armour plan has been worked out with great care; and we understand that these ships will be protected by a thickness of face hardened armour which has never been attempted in any battleship in our own or foreign navies.

The Great Mediator.

Uncle Sam seems to be looked on by other nations as the great mediator. Whenever there is trouble anywhere else on earth, everyone looks to the United States to step in, take the combatants by the scruff of the neck, and stop the row.

Turkey is the latest applicant for mediation. The "terrible Turk" was going about his accustomed ways when Italy knocked him down and tramped on him. Everyone held his breath, awaiting the Turk's reprisal. What happened? Turkey yelled "take him off, fellers; I didn't do nothing!"

Recent Aeroplane Fatalities.

The last month has witnessed the passing of the hundred mark in aeroplane fatalities. October 12th aviator Level fell to his death in a Savary biplane which he was piloting in the French army test. His spine was broken and he died soon after. Two other French aviators—Horta and Germain—also fell the day previous. One was killed the other fatally injured. The hundredth victim of aviation was Hans Schmidt, who fell at Berne, Switzerland, on October 14th and incinerated as a result of the ignition of his fuel. On the 21st ult. an
