MINES SOLD

Deals have been pending for some time.

The sale of two gold mines was consummated Monday. In both transactions H. H. McCarty secured options on the properties for approximately $135,000. Both are near Jacksonville.

The Norling mine, known as the Medford Mining and Milling company promoted by Messrs Schmidt and Forbes, was secured by Mr. McCarty for $60,000. Adjoining this property on the north, 160 acres of patented ground was secured by option for $75,000.

The latter property has six distinct ledges, which as prospects are considered of the best in this section. One three and a half foot ledge possesses a distinction of being one of the very few ledges in this country that produces gold 100-fine. There is no alloy of any kind. This is remarkable for this section, as silver is generally found in connection.

Both mines are in the sulphide ore and the ore that has been shipped from the Norling mine has been considered as very high grade. In the future Mr. McCarty will organize a company for development and at the same time ship the ore to the Kenneth smelter, making at least one mine on a paying basis in this section.—Sun.

DAMAGE CLAIMS

Awards under $50 to receive attention from Local Office

From now on, claims for damages on lost or damaged freight not exceeding $50, will be allowed immediately on the presentation of the proper papers without being left laying for a number of weeks in the claim department.

Such, at least is the admission of Southern Pacific Agent Rosenbaum when questioned upon the matter.

As before, the claims of the people who have the freight damaged, will be looked into by the local agent with the owner of the goods. When however, the amount of damage is ascertained the money will be tendered immediately.

To the local merchants this prevents fairly large sums of money from being tied up by frequent losses. Consequently it is hailed with a great deal of pleasure on their part.—Sun

PORTLAND LETTER

County Life Week will Spread New Educational Work Over Over.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 30th. (Special) Country Life Week in Oregon has been fixed for February 3-10, when Country School Superintendents and Rodies will meet together in each part of the State to formulate the scheme of Country Life Education to be followed by Oregon Schools. Much is hoped from this new departure in the State's Educational system and the influences behind the movement are such as to insure its success.

State Bankers, the Commercial Bodies, the State Educational Authorities, Portland Livestock Interests and the Oregon Agricultural College are working toward the same end and during Country Life Week it is hoped to interest business men generally in the work. The following week the plan will be presented to the pupils in the schools and contests in gardening, general agriculture, domestic science, hog and poultry raising and manual work instituted.

A splendid list of prizes for children producing the best products in all these lines is being collected. The young farmers will first exhibit their crops in their own communities, next in the county contests and then the prizes winners will meet in competition at the State Fair at Salem next Fall. Bulletins on the various agricultural subjects will be issued under the auspices of the Oregon Agricultural College to serve as text books in the various farming classes in the schools throughout the State.

Oregon Coast Artillery companies will hold the annual maneuvers at Fort Stevens for ten days next summer, beginning August 15th. Both the regular troops stationed at the fortifications on the Coast and the National Guard forces will participate. Coast defense will naturally be the object of the maneuvers.

James J. Hill has been invited to attend Portland's official Rose-Planting on Washington's Birthday, as the chief guest of honor. The Rose Planting will take place in the parks of the city and boys and girls will set the rose bushes in the ground, while some church dignitary will conduct the ceremonial of blessing the roses.

Dates were arranging the past week for the State Convention of the Oregon branch of the American of the American Mining Congress, which will be held in Baker next June 6-7-8th. This promises to be a big convention of mining men with splendid exhibits of ores and mining machinery.

Extension of the Chicago and Northwest Railway to Portland and the Oregon Coast is being prophesied, the report having for its basis plans said to be now working out under the direction of William A. Gardner, President of road who is visiting the Northwest. The line is expected to come to Portland from near Lewiston over the Northern Pacific and North Bank tracks and it is believed it is involved in the struggle for entrance into Coos Bay territory, where contending influences are fighting for rights of way.

Proclamation

Salem, Oregon, January 26, 1912.—Oregon is on the eve of a great awakening. The morrow will bring the Panama Canal, and with it will come unbounded opportunities with their attendant influx of population and consequent commercial and industrial growth, advancement and prosperity.

Our Creator in the beginning moulded our state with kindly hands. When we think of her delightful climate, her hundreds of miles of golden beach, her lofty mountains and rushing streams, crystal lakes and beautiful harbors, her magnificent forests and rolling prairies, fertile valleys and roaming herds, of her waving grain and luscious fruits—a land dotted with prosperous cities and productive farms we must admit that nature has fully performed her part. The federal government too has treated us fairly in the way of appropriations for the development of our waterways and even the railroads have awakened to the realization of our needs and their opportunities and are checkerboarding the state with bands of steel.

In view of these things we are prompted to ask ourselves what should we do in the way of co-operation with these several agencies for the development of the state? It is true that we have given good laws, good government and good schools and many other desirable things to those who have come within our borders, but much of this good has been nullified by some of the things we have failed to do and chief among these is our neglect in the matter of the construction of good roads.

Without good roads there can be no great development and no great progress. What we need most is more people—more people in the rural districts. And in order to attract people to the rural districts we must make rural life pleasant and attractive. You cannot maroon a new settler and his family on a farm in an ocean of mud, no matter how beautiful the spot, and expect to find him happy and content. He demands good roads leading to the church and the schools and good roads leading to the markets and he is going to locate in that section where these things are to be found.

It is not only our duty but it is in keeping with good business to build good roads. Money spent for good roads is money well spent. When we speak of spending several millions of dollars during the next few years in road construction many are staggered by the proposal and the figures. They apparently are not aware that the several counties in this state spent over ten million of dollars during the past six years for road work, much of which was lost through lack of system and knowledge as to scientific road building.

The question of good roads has been fairly well discussed of late and we have learned more about road building during the past few years than we ever knew before, but we still have much to learn and still have much to do before we undertake on a large scale the construction of a system of good roads in this state.

We need first, the passage of model good road laws. Second: a competent man at the head of the highway department. Third: funds sufficient to carry on the work.

These things will come only through united effort, and united effort will come only through a clear understanding of the whole question by the people of this state. This understanding will come only through the study by, and education of, the whole people. Numerous bills are about to be introduced or presented to the legislature by the friends of good roads in different parts of the state; and,

Whereas, it is most important that the people of Oregon should give deep and thoughtful attention to the consideration, study and discussion of these

Now, Therefore, I, Oswald West, Governor of the State of Oregon, by virtue of the power and authority in me vested, do hereby proclaim the week beginning the fourth day of February, and ending the tenth day of February, as Good Roads Week, and I do hereby earnestly recommend to the people of this state that during this period the question of good roads legislation be given careful thought and study through public and private discussion and through the columns of the press, in order that knowledge pertaining thereto may be increased, public sentiment crystallized and effective legislation secured.

In Testimony Hereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, on this the twenty sixth day of January 1912.

Oswald West, Governor.

By the Governor:
Ben W. Olcott,
Secretary of State.

AGED RESIDENT DEAD

P. E. Vickroy of this city died Thursday night aged 85

Another of Jacksonville's aged citizens has gone to join the majority across the great divide: P. E. Vickroy who for a number of years has resided on Applegate road in the southwestern part of the city, died Thursday night, aged 85 years.

Mr. Vickroy lived alone and so far as known had no near relatives. Mr. Bostwick was taking care of him at the time of his death, heart disease aggravated by a severe cold was the cause of his death.

The funeral was held today at 2 P. M.

A vast amount of ill health is due to impaired digestion. When the stomach fails to perform its functions properly the whole system becomes deranged. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets will all you need. They will strengthen your digestion, invigorate your liver, and regulate your bowels, entirely doing away with that miserable feeling due to faulty digestion. Try it. Many others have been permanently cured—why not you? For sale by all dealers.

RULES OF CONTEST

Inaugurated by Superintendent Alderman for boys and girls of Oregon.

Before the first March winds blow the greatest series of tryouts ever held in the schools of Oregon will be under way. The boys and girls of the state are going to determine "Who is Who" in gardening, farming, carpentry, cooking and in raising chickens, ducks, and pigs. Enthusiasm for this statewide series of industrial contests is waxing warmer than it has ever been for contests along athletic lines.

The plan is for every county superintendent to enlist the support of his teachers in explaining the plan to the children and interesting them in the work, and to secure the cooperation of commercial clubs, bankers, and business men in obtaining prizes for their local or county fairs. These county or local premium lists may be made out independently of the state list, but in order that children competing at a local or county fair may also be in line for state prizes the articles on the state list, which are: field corn, pop corn, sweet corn, water melons, muskmelons, pumpkins, squashes, potatoes, cabbage, grain selections, bird houses, pieces of furniture, mechanical toys, labor saving device for home, bread, canned fruit, jelly, mending, darning, aprons, dresses, asters, sweet peas, chickens, ducks and pigs.

A bulletin of information and instruction, including the state prize list, will soon be sent out to the school children, one for every home. All the boys and girls now need to do is to go to work. If they want to compete in gardening they should at once secure a plot of ground, which they may have plowed. If boys expect to win prizes in woodwork they should begin practicing with their tools. If girls wish to carry off laurels in cooking and sewing they must begin early either at school or at home. If it is the poultry contest that lures most settings of eggs should be secured from breeders of pure strains of chickens or ducks. Or if hog raising seems most attractive, the competitor should secure a thoroughbred pig and start to feeding and caring for it. There is nothing to prevent a boy or girl from competing in all these lines.

ROAD FINANCED

Grants Pass, Ore., Jan. 29.—J. G. Riggs left Thursday for Chicago where he was called on important business matters connected with the Grants Pass and Rogue River railroad. H. W. Lampert, an eastern representative, wired Mr. Riggs that the railroad project was practically financed and the capitalists were ready to complete negotiations. Mr. Riggs is expected to return to this city within two weeks with the men who are interested in the proposition.

Upon recent investigation it was shown that the daily tonnage for this railroad will be much greater than was formerly estimated.
