IHC Tractors Turn Expenses Into Profit

RARM economy consists more of expensesaving than of profit-making. Heavier crops will undoubtedly be the rule some day, but at present the problem is to raise an average crop at the least expense in order to show the greatest profit.

The chief expenses of grain raising are seedbed preparation, harvesting, threshing and hauling the grain to market. A large part of each of these expenses can be turned into a profit by the purchase of an

IHC Kerosene-Gasoline Tractor

Plowing, disking, and harrowing are accom-plished in one-tenth of the time taken by a team. It is cheaper to use an I H C tractor than it is to hire teams and men to do the work. The expense of seed-bed preparation is reduced from one-half to two-thirds when an I H C tractor does the work.

An IHC tractor makes a wholesale operation of harvesting, threshing or hauling grain to market. During the time the crop is growing and after it is marketed you will find many other uses for your tractor, every one of them a time, money, or labor-saving operation.

I H C tractors are made in various styles, and in 12, 15, 20, 25 and 45-horse power sizes, for use on large and small farms. IHC general purpose engines are made in all styles and sizes from 1 to 50-horse power for use in shop, mill, and factory and for running all kinds of farm machines. The IHC local agent will give you catalogue and full information. See him, or, write Once all Property Owners divided the Taxation. Now the Man with Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics, Land had to pay All.

"This is what will happen to Us," said the Missouri Farmer in this Fa-"We shall Spend our Ten Thouble. sand Dollars for Farms. Some Day our Crops May Fail. If we do not Pay our Taxes, as Some do not Pay their Taxes now, our Farms will be reized by the State. Thus every year more Farms will be seized by the State and the Taxes grow higher for the rest.

State Needs Money.

"For the State must have Money.

"In a Few Years we should all lose our Land. The State would be the great Land Owner. We should Pay Rent to the State. Then the land in Oregon would become Poor for a Tenant never cares what he does to the Owner's Property. We should just Get Enough to Eat after Paying the Rent. For me, I am Done. I shall go back to Missouri, even if I have to brave Storms and Floods."

Now Capital is Timid. Capital is Nervous. And those 100 Farmers were each Scared that the State of Oregon was after their Wads. So they Fled.

And, Then They Fled.

The New Yorker would rather Work on Poor Soil than not own his Farm and Pay Rent to the State. The Kansan thought Grasshoppers were not so Real a Woe as Single Tax. The Maine Farmer bought more Dynamite and said that Stones were Nothing if Man could Own his Own Land. I can Improve My Farm, said the Man from Nebraska, but Then I shall Own it, even if I have an Occasional Sandstorm, Floods worried the Chap from Louisiana less than "aves that would Eat up Everything the Honest Farmer would Raise. The Oklahoman said he intended to Live in a Land where the Man who owned Property of Any Sort Paid Just the Same as the Man who Owned Land. No Oregon for Me, was his view. I shall Keep my own Ten Thousand Dollars.

There is a Moral.

Maybe Single Tax would only do this in a Fable. But the Farmers would act the same if Single Tax were Real and not a Fable.

There is a Moral to this Fable and the Moral is:

It is Better to have Everything laxed and Not Frighten the Farmer way than to have Single Tax and Frighten Away Everyone Who Wants to Cwn Land for Himself.

There is another Moral, too.

Thus would Oregon lose 100 honest mrmers and $1,000,000 in cold cash.
